

Dirk Auer is director of competition policy at the International Center for Law & Economics (ICLE), where he manages ICLE's work on competition and antitrust issues in the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe, and abroad.

Dirk joined ICLE as a senior fellow in October 2018 and was promoted to his current position in January 2022. In addition to his work with ICLE, Dirk also serves as an adjunct professor at the University of Liège, where he teaches courses on European competition law and the economics of competition law.

Before joining ICLE, he worked as a research fellow at the Liège Competition and Innovation Institute (LCII) in Liège, Belgium. He also worked in the competition practices of two international law firms. He also completed an LLM at the University of Chicago Law School in 2014.