

Richard Sicotte – Biography

I am Professor of Economics at the University of Vermont. I received my Ph.D. in economics from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1997. My fields of specialization are industrial organization and economic history. I have published several articles on ocean shipping conferences and an article specifically on the Shipping Act.