

Mike Fox is a legal fellow in the Cato Institute's Project on Criminal Justice. His areas of interest include overcriminalization, police accountability, criminal jury trials, and coercive plea bargaining. Before joining Cato, he served as a Colorado Public Defender and worked for the U.S. Senate Committee on Homeland Security & Governmental Affairs Subcommittee on Government Operations & Border Management. Fox received his BS in political science from Northeastern University and a law degree from Suffolk University Law School.