

Scott McBride

A global security leader with over three decades of experience safeguarding people, property, and profitability in the retail industry.

As the Chief Global Asset Protection Officer and CSO at American Eagle Outfitters (AEO), Scott is responsible for the comprehensive protection of the company's assets across five continents. AEO is a leading lifestyle brand with over 2,500 owned, licensed, joint venture, and wholesale locations worldwide, and direct-to-consumer sales through e-commerce in 50 countries.

Scott's expertise spans strategic direction for cyber-physical security, digital fraud mitigation, business resiliency, and operational risk management, in addition to traditional asset protection responsibilities. He built a world-class asset protection function at AEO by fostering an engaged and inclusive work culture. Scott is deeply committed to the well-being of AEO's customers and associates, having spearheaded critical initiatives in health and safety, travel risk mitigation, and risk intelligence. His unwavering vision is to continuously enhance AEO's reputation as the safest place to work and shop.

Beyond his corporate leadership, Scott is a highly respected figure within the broader security and retail communities. He serves as Chair Emeritus and Member of the National Retail Federation's Loss Prevention/Asset Protection Council, an active council member for nearly two decades, driving collaboration and advancing the profession. He also contributes his executive expertise to The Loss Prevention Foundation as a Board Member, supporting the governance and integrity of the industry.

Collaboration is a core aspect of Scott's philosophy, influencing the industry in both the public and private sectors. Scott holds active seats on solution provider advisory boards, public-private partnership cohorts such as DSAC, OSAC, NCFTA, academic research committees with the Loss Prevention Research Council (LPRC), and member of the Asset Protection Leaders Council with Retail Industry Leaders Association (RILA).
