Solidarity for Asian American and Pacific Islander Communities

Share Tweet

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 2021

We join our members and peer organizations calling for support and action in response to the spike in high-profile attacks and murder of Asian Americans in our region. Anti-Asian violence has long been a reality for Asian American and Pacific Islander communities. Northern California Grantmakers affirms its commitment to addressing structural causes of harm against AAPI communities that are rooted in anti-Black racism and white supremacy.

We encourage support and action along with members of NCG's community. Please read the following statements that include resources and action steps:

What We're Reading: Vaccine Justice Edition

APRIL 8, 2021

The COVID-19 vaccine will help keep communities healthy and safe and holds promise to bring an end to the pandemic that has had the most severe impacts on Black, Latinx, Indigenous, AAPI, immigrant, and low-income people. Systemic racism created the conditions that put people of color at greater...

NCG Bids Farewell to Stellar Manager Daniel Lau

APRIL 5, 2021

NCG bids farewell to stellar manager Daniel Lau, who heads across town this month to join the staff of The Libra Foundation as the first initiative officer for the new Democracy Frontlines Fund where he is charged with investing in Black communities to build power and self-determination.

Why We Turn to Intersectionality to Confront Anti-Asian Violence

MARCH 19, 2021

This has been a hard week of swirling emotions since I learned six Asian women and two other people were shot in Atlanta amidst the rise of anti-Asian violence here and nationwide. The names identified so far are: Delaina Ashley Yaun, Paul Andre Michels, Xiaojie Tan, Daoyou Feng, Julie Park, Hyeon...

What We're Reading: Climate Justice Edition

MARCH 4, 2021

We're sharing climate justice issues, ranging from climate feminism to health impacts of climate change to accountability of philanthropy to BIPOC climate justice innovators. We hope these articles inspire you to delve in deeply about how you can take part in advancing racial, gender, and economic...
