

Nick Tomboulides – Professional Summary

Professional Background

Executive Director, U.S. Term Limits 2013-Present
Policy Advisor, Heartland Institute 2016-Present
Social Media Specialist, Ford (2013)
Independent Consultant 2011-2013
Field Representative, Leadership Institute 2011-2012

Education

Bachelor of Arts in Economics (2011)
University of Connecticut

Professional Affiliations

Member, Assembly of State Legislatures
Advisory board member, MilLiberty Initiative

Writing and work featured in

USA Today, Orlando Sentinel, Detroit Free Press, Los Angeles Times, New York Times, Florida Today, Palm Beach Post, Tampa Times, Kansas City Star, Florida Daily, Ocala Star Banner, The Daily Signal, The Fulcrum

Family and Residency

Resides in Cocoa, FL with wife Hannah

Bio

Nick Tomboulides is one of America's leading experts on term limits. After serving as Florida Director of U.S. Term Limits (USTL), Nick became Executive Director of the organization in 2013. Under his leadership, USTL has expanded its grassroots network to a record high and won campaigns at a 98 percent clip. In 2017, Nick directed USTL's launch of the Term Limits Convention, a campaign of the states to obtain a congressional term limits amendment via the Article V convention.

He serves as editor of the Term Limits National Blog at www.termlimits.com, and his writing has been featured in the Daily Signal, USA Today, the Orlando Sentinel and other top publications. Nick is also a policy advisor for The Heartland Institute, a think tank based in Arlington Heights, IL.

Before entering the world of constitutional reform, Nick worked as a social media strategist for Fortune 500 companies and as a campus organizer for the Leadership Institute.

Nick is a graduate of the University of Connecticut with a degree in economics. He resides in Cocoa, FL with his wife Hannah.