

Biography: Andrew Sypher, VP of Field Operations, TPUSA

Andrew Sypher serves as the Vice President of Field Operations at Turning Point USA, where he oversees a nationwide team of nearly 200 staff responsible for supporting more than 4,500 high school and college chapters and 800,000+ student activists across the country — largest political grassroots operations in the country. A proud alumnus of Arizona State University, Andrew was recognized as an All-Arizona and All-USA Academic Scholar while earning his bachelor's degree in Political Science and Public Policy.

Born and raised in the Pacific Northwest, Andrew's leadership journey began early with a heavy emphasis in civic involvement and grassroots activism. Following a two-year ecclesiastical mission in São Paulo, Brazil, he moved to the Phoenix Valley in 2013. A lifelong conservative, Andrew has actively worked in Arizona's political environment and served in community-based organizations, earning numerous awards and recognitions for his commitment to public service.

Andrew began his tenure with Charlie Kirk and Turning Point USA as one of the first employees back in 2016 as a part-time Field Representative – Community College Specialist. Through hard work, strategic vision, and a relentless dedication to TPUSA's mission, he advanced to become the National Enterprise Director, and ultimately, to his current executive leadership role. Today, Andrew remains passionate about safeguarding America's future by investing in the next generation of leaders.
