

Charles Marino
Chief Executive Officer

Charles Marino is the Founder and CEO of Sentinel, a leading global security and intelligence advisory firm comprised of former US law enforcement and intelligence career executives.

He is a recognized expert on national security policy, programs, operations, and emerging threats. Charles regularly appears on major cable news networks to provide expert analysis on national security issues impacting the United States. He also currently serves as an Adjunct Professor of National Security at the University of South Carolina.

As a former Supervisory Special Agent in the United States Secret Service from 1997-2015, including an assignment as Senior Law Enforcement Advisor to former DHS Secretary Janet Napolitano from 2009-2011, Charles oversaw the creation and implementation of complex homeland security and law enforcement programs like the Southwest Border Law Enforcement Engagement Strategy, the See Something, Say Something national campaign, and the National Terrorism Advisory System (NTAS).

Charles is also the author of the 2024 bestselling book "Terrorists On The Border & In Our Country," outlining the repercussions of inept border & immigration policies on U.S. national security.

He is a graduate of the National Defense University, National War College, where he earned a Master of Science degree in National Security Strategy.