

Heather M. Krause

Heather Krause is a Director in the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) Physical Infrastructure team. She is currently responsible for leading GAO's work on civil aviation issues, including commercial and general aviation safety, airport finance, commercial space, and unmanned aircraft systems, and on COVID assistance to the transportation sector. Her GAO career has also included leading work on crosscutting agency budget and government-wide regulatory issues and overseeing GAO's annual report on government-wide fragmentation, overlap, and duplication. She holds a M.A. in public policy from the University of Minnesota and a B.A. in political science from the University of Minnesota Duluth.