As third-generation owner and CEO of Tucker Company Worldwide, Jeff leads the nation's oldest privately held freight brokerage. His vision built upon Tucker's nationally respected brand and directly shaped Tucker's highly unique specialties within brokerage: pharmaceuticals, extremely high value cargo, temperature-sensitive goods, permitted and over-dimensional/project cargo and cross-border USMCA freight. In 2022 and 2023, the company was named by the Philadelphia Inquirer as a Top Workplace in the Philadelphia region.

Jeff's national and international leadership positions include: Past Board Chair, Transportation Intermediaries Association (TIA); Past Committee Chair, TIA's "Carrier Selection Framework" which provides guidance on selection of safe motor carriers; current board member and Chair of the National Industrial Transportation League's Highway Transportation Committee; current Co-Chair of the Health & Personal Care Logistics Council's Service Provider Council; current Co-Chair of the Bio Supply Management Alliance's Transportation and Logistics Committee.

Jeff has testified before Congress on truck safety matters and was named by a USDOT FMCSA Administrator to the Motor Carrier Safety Advisory Committee's subcommittee on highway safety. He is a "Sentinel" for a think tank advising national emergency preparedness officials and has consulted with national security officials on freight security. Jeff was named by DC Velocity Magazine as a Rainmaker. He has appeared on CNBC, and his written commentaries have appeared in The Wall Street Journal, Journal of Commerce, Logistics Management, Transport Topics, National Defense Transportation Journal and many others.

Jeff holds a B.A from the University of Delaware and an MBA from Temple University's Fox School of Business. He plays an active role in his community. He is past Board Chair of the Fellowship House of South Camden, a charity serving underprivileged children. He is a member of Rotary International and is a Paul Harris Fellow. Jeff lives in Haddonfield, NJ, with his wife and four children. Jeff is an exercise enthusiast and enjoys traveling and spending time with family.
