

Lance Larson is an Analyst in Environmental Policy with the Congressional Research Service (CRS). CRS serves the United States Congress with confidential, authoritative, objective, non-partisan, and timely policy research. Lance Larson has been with CRS since 2018 and covers issues associated with federal environmental remediation, the nuclear fuel cycle, and nuclear waste management and disposal. Lance earned his Ph.D. in environmental engineering from the Pennsylvania State University, University Park.