

Mariah Scott

President, Skyward, A Verizon company

As a founder, President or COO, Mariah has spearheaded the introduction of new products that transform the way business operates. She understands the power of technology to solve problems for people, and the creative process of working with a team to take an idea from concept to reality. She has taken businesses from creation thru exit, and built new markets in commercial drones, healthcare, transaction services, and media delivery, across North America, Europe and Asia.

As President of Skyward, she helps enterprises realize the enormous potential of drones. Starting with a small team and a big vision-- enabling a global aerial robotics network—she's led the company through startup to a successful acquisition by Verizon. Skyward software now runs drone programs for Fortune 500 companies as well as drone flight service startups, and leads the industry in integrating automated access to airspace. The team is active in developing the global standards needed to enable this new technology.

Her work at Skyward, Intel, WebMD, and other SaaS companies has focused on hands-on leadership spanning strategy, sales, marketing, brand, product and operations management, from funding through exit. She led the groundbreaking Intel Inside program, and twice received the Intel Achievement Award for new product introduction and leadership marketing. Frost & Sullivan recognized her work in healthcare as a product of the year.

Professional Experience

- More than 20 years experience leading global teams in technology, including commercial drones, healthcare IT, transaction services, and media delivery, across North America, Europe, and Asia
- Chief Operating Officer, ShiftWise
- Senior Vice President, WebMD Health Services
- Worldwide Director of Intel Inside Program
- Worldwide Director, Sales and Marketing, Intel Digital Health Group

Education and Certifications

- Part 107 Certified Remote Pilot
- MBA, Marketing and Strategy, Northwestern University – Kellogg School of Management
- Bachelor of Arts, Japanese, Carleton College

Associations & Recognition

- Ambassador Board Member, PDX Women in Tech
- Vice Chair, Board of Directors, St. Mary's Academy
- Chair, Board of Directors, German International School of Portland
- Intel Achievement Award (two time winner)
- Frost & Sullivan product of the year (healthcare)