

Michael D. Warner, P.E., CFM

Graduated in Civil Engineering with a Water Resources major from the University of Illinois. Has over 30 years of experience and worked for Illinois Office of Water Resources, DuPage County Stormwater Management and Lake County Stormwater Management Commission in Surface Water Planning, Engineering, Infrastructure construction and Natural Resource Protection. Is a Professional Engineer and Certified Floodplain Manager in Illinois. Previously on board of directors for the Indian Creek Watershed Project, a non-profit environmental stewardship organization. Current position is Executive Director with the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission. Has provided emergency services support during eight (and counting) flood-based disaster declarations in Illinois.