

Tom Salisbury serves as the Regional Administrator for Region VII of the U.S. Small Business Administration. In his role he is responsible for all agency activity in the region, which includes Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska.

Prior to joining the SBA, Salisbury was the small business liaison for U.S. Senator Roy Blunt of Missouri. Salisbury also worked in the private sector, spending 35 years in the financial services industry.

Salisbury is a Missouri native and resident of Kansas City, MO. He and his wife have two adult daughters.