

CHAD & NATASHA HUDSON BIO

Chad and Natasha Hudson are lifelong musicians with a love for the arts. They both lived in Nashville, Tennessee where they acquired major record deals, publishing deals, and production deals. After navigating the waters of the music industry for at least two decades, they both knew that the hustle was too shallow and they were ready to move on to something more solid and satisfying.

Chad and Natasha moved to Dripping Springs, Texas approximately 10 years ago to bring passion and knowledge of the music business to that town and raise their 5 children in a stable, family oriented environment. They hoped to spread the power of music and the arts to an eager and talented community. Chad, being born in Austin and raised in Dripping Springs, knew the Texas hill country was ready for that.

They taught music lessons out of their home for 2 years, building a clientele until they couldn't handle the amount of students without expanding. They renovated and moved their business to a 4,000 square foot building and hired a teaching staff of 12 experienced and charismatic musicians who currently instruct approximately 250 music lessons per week. The building is also home to a state of the art live music venue and beer & wine bar.

Hudson's On Mercer Street is THE place for nightlife and community events in Dripping Springs, TX. You'll hear live music 4 nights a week featuring local and regional acts, party bands, singer/songwriters and more.

As of September 2021, their current sales are hitting record highs as they see more and more people ready to get back to a lifestyle filled with encouragement, fellowship and live music!
