

Roger Harris is President of Padgett, a role he has held since 1992. Padgett is a national leader in providing tax and advisory services to the small business community for almost 60 years. They have served tens of thousands of small business clients with accounting, advisory, and tax preparation across their 200 offices spread around the country, helping small businesses navigate difficult tax situations. Roger has worked with Padgett for 50 years, ten of which he spent operating the largest Padgett franchise.

Throughout his career, Roger has advocated for common-sense policies for small businesses. In 1997, the Small Business Administration recognized Roger as the Small Business Advocate of the Year in the state of Georgia. From 2000 to 2004, he served on the Internal Revenue Service Advisory Council (IRSAC), serving as chairman for two years. Roger has testified before Congress numerous times on tax and small business issues to the Senate and House Small Business Committee, Senate Finance Committee, and the House Ways and Means Committee.

Roger has been quoted in the Wall Street Journal, Bloomberg Business News, and Forbes. He has also frequently appeared on Accounting Today's annual list of 100 Most Influential People in accounting.

Roger earned his degree in accounting from the J.M. School of Accounting at the University of Georgia.