

Frank Wetegrove is a franchise owner for Camp Bow Wow. Him and his wife own and operate four locations in San Antonio, and one in Austin, Texas. Frank is also an army veteran with over three decades in the reserves and eight years of active duty. Five years ago, he retired as a Military Intelligence officer.

Frank earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Marketing from the University of Texas – Pan American. Additionally, he holds two master's degrees—one in Information Technology and another in Strategic Studies from the United States Army War College.

More importantly, Frank is a father of five children, and now a proud grandfather of four grandchildren.