

ML Mackey, CEO

Beacon Interactive Systems

Ms. Mackey is the CEO of Beacon Interactive Systems, a nontraditional defense contractor that has successfully engaged with the DoD to bring commercial sector expertise to bear on national security needs.

Beacon's digital products transform operations at the edge, driving visibility, improving readiness, and addressing modernization needs across the DoD.

Ms. Mackey's advocacy efforts include serving as an Executive Committee member of the National Defense Industrial Association (NDIA) Board and as the Chair of the Small Business Division. Ms. Mackey is a past Chair of the National Small Business Association (NSBA), has served on the Small Business Administration's Invention, Innovation, and Entrepreneurship Advisory Committee, and the National Academies of Sciences Army Science & Technology Roundtable Committee.

Ms. Mackey is a graduate of Lehigh University where she received a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering.

