

Denyse Airheart is the Director of Business Pathways at Mi Casa Resource Center. She oversees the strategic advancement of the Business Pathways Department, a department that supports entrepreneurs through all stages of business development helping them explore, launch, and grow their business through bilingual training, consulting, access to capital, and holistic support services. Denyse joined the Mi Casa familia in 2019 after relocating to Denver, Colorado with her family. She previously worked with the City of Maricopa in Arizona as the Director of Economic Development where she expanded the City's business attraction and retention efforts, provided site selection services, business resources to budding and expanding entrepreneurs and marketing and branding.