Lynn G. Ozer is President, SBA Lending Department at Fulton Bank, N.A., a $26 billion bank headquartered in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Lynn manages all of the SBA lending which covers PA, NJ, MD, DE, VA, Washington D and 247 office locations. Prior to this position, Lynn managed the SBA Lending Departments at Bucks County Bank, CoreStates, Jefferson Bank, Hudson United Bank, Patriot Bank and Susquehanna Bank after beginning her career with a five-year stint at the SBA. Lynn graduated Magna Cum Laude from Temple University where she earned a BBA degree, majoring in accounting. Lynn served as the first female chairwoman of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Government Guaranteed Lenders (NAGGL), which is the national trade association for banks and non-banks that participate in the lending programs of the federal government. She is presently co-chair of the Technical Issues Committee and serves as an instructor for the association. She has been on the NAGGL board since 1988 formerly serving as the chair of the Region III Liaison Committee and the Membership Committee. She serves on the Small Business Board of The Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Excellence Awards Committee. Lynn is also a past recipient of SBA's Financial Services Advocate Award and the Philadelphia District's Crystal Award. She was the 2005 recipient of NAGGL's Distinguished Service Award and the 2008 Volunteer of the Year Award. In 2013 Lynn was recognized by the Philadelphia Business Journal as one of the "Women of Distinction". South Jersey Biz chose Lynn as one of twenty five "Women to Watch 2014". The Philadelphia Business Journal selected Lynn as one of the "15 Women to Watch in Banking 2016". In 2018 Lynn was recognized as NAGGL Instructor of the Year. She often speaks on topics of concern to small businesses at various civic groups such as local chambers of commerce, SCORE chapters, Rotary Clubs and various entrepreneurial forums. She is married and the mother of two children, ages 24 and 26.