

Biography

Clement Delangue is co-founder and CEO of Hugging Face, a 100,000+ member community democratizing AI through open source and open science. Clement started his career in product at Moodstocks, a machine learning startup for computer vision (acquired by Google in 2016). He also co-founded several startups, including UniShared and VideoNot.es. He is passionate about building AI products.