ANTHROP\C

Brief biography | Jack Clark

Jack Clark is a co-founder of Anthropic, an AI safety and research company. He is also a co-chair of the AI Index at Stanford University, a member of the OECD's working group on the classification and definition of AI systems, and a member of the National AI Advisory Committee (NAIAC).

Jack was formerly the policy director of OpenAI, an AI research company. In his spare time he writes Import AI, a widely-read newsletter about artificial intelligence.