Tim Fist

Tim Fist is the Director of Emerging Technology at the Institute for Progress (IFP), a nonpartisan and nonprofit organization in Washington, DC, which is focused on accelerating scientific, technological, and industrial progress. Tim is also a Senior Adjunct Fellow at the Center for a New American Security, where he previously worked as a Research Fellow. He has a background in engineering, having previously worked on AI chips, AI software, and in the aerospace industry.