

James Andrew Lewis
Center for Strategic and International Studies

James Andrew Lewis is a Senior Vice President and Program Director at CSIS where he writes on technology, security and innovation. Before joining CSIS, he worked at the Departments of State and Commerce as a Foreign Service Officer and as a member of the Senior Executive Service. His government experience included work on a range of politico-military and Asian security issues, as a negotiator on conventional arms transfers and advanced military technology, and in developing policies for satellite exports, encryption, and the internet. Lewis led the U.S. delegation to the Wassenaar Arrangement Experts Group on advanced civil and military technologies and was the Rapporteur for the UN's 2010, 2013, and 2015 Group of Government Experts on Information Security. He was also assigned to U.S. Southern Command for Operation Just Cause and the U.S. Central Command for Operation Desert Shield. Lewis received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.
