Shannon Angielski is a principal at Van Ness Feldman LLP, a Washington D.C. based law firm that specializes in energy, environment and natural resource policy and law, and serves as the Executive Director of the Carbon Utilization Research Council (CURC). CURC is a coalition of producers, electric utilities that rely upon coal and natural gas for electricity production, gas distributors, equipment manufacturers and technology innovators, national associations, and state, university and technology research organizations (see www.curc.net). Members of CURC coalesce around the need for technology solutions to ensure the responsible use of our fossil energy resources in a balanced, low carbon generation portfolio. They serve this mission by evaluating technology development needs, developing policies and public-private programs to advance technology solutions, and by advocating for the advancement of those policies with policymakers, NGOs and other stakeholders. Advancing carbon capture, utilization and storage is a key component of the policy portfolio that CURC serves.

Shannon earned her M.S. in Environmental Science and Public Policy from Johns Hopkins University in 2000 and her B.A. in Political Science and International Affairs from the University of New Hampshire in 1994. She is a member of the National Coal Council, and serves on the board of the Washington Coal Club.
