

Sam Walsh – Short Bio

Sam Walsh recently served as General Counsel of the United States Department of Energy from August 2021 to January 2025. Earlier in his career Mr. Walsh worked in the energy practice of two different law firms in Washington DC, served as Deputy General Counsel for Energy Policy at DOE, and served as a law clerk at the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals. Mr. Walsh is a graduate of Harvard Law School and Yale College.