

Daniel Arbeeny – Managing Partner at CMF Partners LLC.

Daniel is a principal at CMF Partners, which is a boutique executive search firm, specializing in finance recruiting as well as consulting for start-ups and non-profits. He started his career in engineering and moved into finance where he worked at JP Morgan for 12 years and held roles in Fixed Income Derivatives, Economics, Research and Technology. Additionally, Daniel helped found Blackbird which was the first electronic trading system for interest rate derivatives. He has worked and lived in New York, London and Tokyo.

Daniel consults and volunteers at several non-profits and start-ups helping founders with operations, business development and fund-raising. He is especially proud of World Compassion Fellowship which holistically serves the global poor and persecuted through relief, medical care, development, and training. Daniel spent 17 years at the former Long Island College Hospital eventually becoming a longstanding community board member.

Daniel has a BS degree in Electrical Engineering from Pratt Institute and a MS degree in Electrical Engineering from Steven's Institute.
