

MATTHEW BRADY
 COMPLEX CASE COORDINATION DIRECTOR

Matt serves Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP) as the Complex Case Coordination Director. In this position, Matt oversees WWP’s Complex Case Coordination Program (C3). This national team serves Warriors with complex challenges which are multi-faceted and require urgent action. This integrated approach leverages both internal and external resources to address all components of the individual case, concurrently. He formed and cultivates relationships with the Department of Defense, Defense Health Agency, Department of Veteran Affairs, private healthcare organizations and other non profits in support of the program mission. The C3 Program advocates to assist many cases of homelessness, medical and mental health, PTSD, Substance Use Disorders, and suicidal Warriors; stabilizing and getting them the help they need.

Before joining WWP, Matt served 36 years in the U.S. Army. Matt spent his first four years of service in the South Dakota Army National Guard before joining the Active Duty ranks. While in service, Matt served as the Command Sergeant Major (CSM) for the Atlantic Regional Health Command, the Army’s largest medical region. Prior to that, he served as the CSM for the Warrior Transition Command, providing oversight of care and transition of wounded, ill and injured servicemembers located on all the Divisional installations including Walter Reed National Military Medical Center. As a career Army Medic, he served at every level of medical care and leadership from front line Medic to providing oversight of the Army’s largest Healthcare Region as a Command Sergeant Major. During Operation Desert Shield/Desert Storm, his Forward Treatment Squad provided care to the 2nd Brigade, 3rd Armor Division. During OIF, he served with the 62nd Medical Brigade, in charge of the Tactical Command Post and Medical Planner coordinating healthcare to forces and the reestablishment of civilian healthcare for the people of Iraq.

Matt graduated from the University of South Dakota in 1986 and completed his Masters in Healthcare Administration in 2011. He is married with a son and daughter.
