

Chris Faraji

President

Chris is a proven, results-focused leader with solid expertise and vast experience in helping Federal agencies exceed their strategic and operational goals. As President of WellHive, he has fostered a strong entrepreneurial culture focused on delivering exceptional customer value. His capacity to build and lead organizations, combined with his strong client relationship management skills, has consistently produced superior results for the company. What drew Chris to WellHive is his shared mission for supporting Veterans and ensuring they receive the care they deserve. This passion remains central to his leadership, where he continues to champion innovative solutions that enhance access to high-quality healthcare for Veterans.

Before joining WellHive, Chris led Salesforce's business at the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, overseeing the Veteran Health and Benefits Administration Portfolio. In this role, he played a key part in supporting the VA's agency-wide digital transformation by providing modern and adaptable technology that best aligned with their goals. Specifically, this included the largest, most complex SaaS and PaaS Cloud Migrations to date within VA. Chris more than quadrupled the size of the VA business at Salesforce growing it to be their largest public sector account in the world. He also helped establish Mulesoft, a subsidiary of Salesforce, as one of the most widely implemented API technologies in VA.

Earlier in his career, Chris started two companies while in college, and worked for several technology organizations, steadily advancing up the corporate ladder. Chris is hyperfocused on expanding into new market sectors and capabilities and positively disrupting how government solutions are utilized. Chris holds a business degree from the University of Cincinnati and lives in Aldie, VA with his wife and two children.