

Angela Billups, Ph.D.

Executive Director, Office of Acquisition and Logistics and Senior Procurement Executive

Dr. Angela Billups was appointed as the Executive Director, Office of Acquisition and Logistics at the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) on November 26, 2018. As the Executive Director of one of the largest acquisition and logistics programs in the Federal government, Dr. Billups manages and oversees Acquisition Management for enterprise focusing on the end-to-end acquisition, logistics, and supply chain lifecycles -- supporting all Administrations and VA Central Offices. She is an accomplished public servant with vision and insight delivering optimized results, while surrounded by constant change. She has led the way for sustained excellence transforming multi-site organizations while simultaneously building teams and driving consensus. She is a decisive decision-maker, daily demonstrating deliberate actions, strong leadership, accountability, communication, and collaboration. She continuously contributes to and spearhead efforts which increase customer focus, efficiencies, transparency, and accountability -- results driven with a clear understanding that real change involves improved administrative and technical environments. A proven leader, that strategically and continuously build coalitions which improve organizational performance, deliver better outcomes, and delivering exceptional results effectively and efficiently driving mission success.

She has held positions responsible for multi-billion-dollar acquisition mission areas leading efforts related to training and professional development; coordinating and ensuring implementation of strategies; policies; and systems -- focused on enterprise organizational systems and structures. She has served at 4 Cabinet Level Federal Departments (Defense, Health and Human Services, Education, and Veterans Affairs) as Senior Advisor for Secretaries, Deputies, and Assistant Secretaries supporting global missions. Over the years she has demonstrated expert knowledge modernizing and transforming the federal acquisition environment. She is routinely selected to lead highly visible initiatives, effectively led people and programs -- including complex organizational changes and consistently delivered quality results.

She performs in high-impact roles supporting the White House, Congress, Office of Management and Budget, Cabinet Level Departments, and Industry, known as a "Thought Leader for Acquisition" -- federal government and industry. Solid Professional Expert -- Broad Intellectual Perspective -- and Change Agent Focused on Transformation.