Senior Executive Biography

Ted L. Radway, JD, CHC

Acting Assistant Secretary

Office of Accountability and Whistleblower Protection (OAWP)

As Acting Assistant Secretary, Mr. Radway serves Veterans and VA employees by driving organizational and individual accountability across VA. He leads all aspects of OAWP, including Investigations, Compliance and Oversight, Stakeholder Engagement, and Management and Operations. Mr. Radway previously served as the Executive Director for the Investigations Directorate (EDI), where he oversaw the intake, review, and investigation of whistleblower disclosures, allegations of misconduct against senior leaders, and allegations of whistleblower retaliation by VA supervisors. Mr. Radway originally joined VA as OAWP's Executive Director for the Compliance and Oversight Directorate, where he stood up the Directorate and led OAWP's teams that provide advice, reports, and recommendations to the Secretary on areas of accountability; conduct non-investigatory reviews; track and confirm VA's implementation of recommendations from OIG, OMI, and GAO; and provide trend analyses to VA leaders.

Prior to joining VA, as vice president of operations compliance at Healogics, Mr. Radway oversaw day-to-day compliance activities at more than 600 advanced wound care centers at hospitals nationwide, and helped stand up a new department that met the seven essential elements of an effective compliance program. As vice president of compliance at Kindred Healthcare, Mr. Radway led compliance activities at Kindred's largest division, with more than 40,000 employees nationwide and more than $2.4B in revenue. Prior to that, Mr. Radway prosecuted health care fraud cases with United States Attorney's Offices in D.C. and Miami, earning several special act awards and an award for investigative excellence from the Council of the Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency. As a senior counsel in the office of counsel to the inspector general at HHS OIG, Mr. Radway earned the Hubert Humphrey Award for Service to America and the HHS OIG Cooperative Achievement Award.
