

Sam Cook is President and Owner of Superior Van & Mobility, the nation's largest family-owned mobility dealership group, serving individuals with disabilities, veterans, seniors, and their families across 18 locations in the South and Midwest.

With nearly three decades of leadership in the mobility industry, Sam and his wife Kathy have led their company's transition to focus exclusively on wheelchair-accessible vehicles and adaptive mobility solutions, helping thousands of Americans maintain independence, employment, and access to essential services.

Sam also served two terms as President of the National Mobility Equipment Dealers Association, where he worked closely with manufacturers, dealers, and policymakers to advance vehicle safety standards, accessibility, and consumer protections nationwide.
