Rick Gilfillan (GIL-FILL-AN), MD, former CMMI Director and former CEO of Trinity Health.

Dr. Gilfillan most recently served as CEO of Trinity Health, the $15.9 billion Catholic health system that operates across 22 states. He was the first director of the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (CMMI). Prior to his appointment at CMMI, Gilfillan was president and CEO of Geisinger Health Plan and executive vice president of insurance operations for Geisinger Health System. Gilfillan began his career as a family medicine physician and later became a medical director and a chief medical officer. He earned his undergraduate and medical degrees from Georgetown University and an MBA degree from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. He can speak to the opportunities and operational challenges of health care price transparency.