

Ateev Mehrotra, MD, MPH

Dr. Mehrotra's research focuses on innovations in delivery such telemedicine have on quality, costs, and access to health care. He has examined a wide range of telemedicine applications including treatment of mental illness, opioid use disorder, acute respiratory illnesses, diabetes, and contraception. Dr. Mehrotra received his bachelor degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, his medical degree from the University of California, San Francisco and completed his residency in internal medicine and pediatrics at the Massachusetts General Hospital and Children's Hospital of Boston. His clinical work has been both as a primary care physician and as an adult and pediatric hospitalist. He also has received formal research training with a Masters of Public Health from the University of California, Berkeley and a Masters of Science in Epidemiology from the Harvard School of Public Health.