

Craig Burton

Executive Director, Association for Accessible Medicine Biosimilars Council

Craig Burton is Executive Director of the Association for Accessible Medicine's Biosimilars Council. Craig is responsible for building strategic partnerships with patient advocacy groups and advocating for patient-focused reforms that promote biosimilar adoption. Craig has more than 20 years of health policy experience, understanding issues from a legislative, regulatory, and business market dynamic perspective. Mr. Burton can speak to the challenges of reimbursement and formulary placement in the Medicare Parts B & D markets, the hurdles biosimilars face in development, and to potential solutions to help incentivize further biosimilar adoption.