

Dr. Ashish Parikh
(Ah-sheesh Puh-Reek)

Dr. Parikh is responsible for the development and implementation of population health management strategies that support Summit Health's success in value-based care. His work focuses on the delivery of the highest quality of care, reduction in practice variation, evidence-based clinical care delivery, and health management at the population level across all Summit Health practices. Ashish went to the University of Miami for both undergraduate and medical education as part of the Honors Program in Medical Education. He completed residency in Internal Medicine at the Miriam Hospital, Brown University. He is a fellow of the American College of Physicians, is board certified in Internal Medicine, and continues to practice as a primary care internal medicine physician at the Summit Medical Group in New Jersey.