

Marley Corbine [Core-BINE]

Parent and Tribal Member of the Lac Courte Oreilles Ojibwe Tribe

Biography

Marley Corbine is 25 years old and a tribal member of the Lac Courte Oreilles (LCO) Ojibwe tribe. She is a mother of three children, eight years old, four years old, and three months old. Her current job position is Deputy Clerk of Court for the Lac Courte Oreilles Tribal Court. She is a graduate from Lac Courte Oreilles University.

Marley will provide her personal story on how the Child Support Enforcement program helps deliver vital resources to her family from the non-custodial parent. Marley will share her unique situation where she formerly received child support payments from her daughter's father through the Tax Refund Offset program because her father was not regularly employed so this was the best method of payment for him. Marley received these payments via the state of North Dakota because the LCO tribe is not allowed to have direct access to FTI to run their own Tax Refund Offset program. Further, this program with North Dakota is now suspended because of the recent IRS policy change.
