

Linda Miller
President, Program Integrity Alliance
Washington, D.C.

Linda Miller is the president and co-founder of the Program Integrity Alliance (PIA), an independent and nonpartisan nonprofit organization focused exclusively on strengthening government integrity. Ms. Miller is a nationally recognized subject matter expert in government fraud. Ms. Miller previously served in executive roles in U.S. government, including as Deputy Executive Director of the Pandemic Response Accountability Committee (PRAC), a position to which she was appointed in May 2020. She also spent 10 years at the Government Accountability Office (GAO), where she led the development of GAO’s “Framework for Managing Fraud Risks in Federal Programs,” which describes leading practices to help federal managers proactively prevent fraud from occurring.

In addition, Ms. Miller is a board member of the Identity Theft Resource Center, a nonprofit that supports victims of identity theft, fraud, and scams and offers identity protection education. Ms. Miller has previously testified before the House Committee on Oversight and Accountability, Committee on Small Business, and Subcommittee on Oversight, House Committee on Ways and Means in 2023.
