

Justin Chung

Legislative Attorney, Congressional Research Service

Justin C. Chung is a legislative attorney at the Congressional Research Service (CRS) whose portfolio includes various issues of federal tax law, bankruptcy law, federal court practice and procedure, and state property and tort law. Prior to joining CRS, Justin served as an attorney in the Civil Trials Section of the United States Department of Justice Tax Division, where he represented the United States in civil tax matters through all stages of trial level litigation. Justin received his B.A. in mathematical economic analysis from Rice University and his J.D. from The University of Texas School of Law. Justin is a member of the Texas Bar.