The Senate recedes.

Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit to the congressional defense committees a report describing all Department of Defense contracts with companies or business entities that are owned or operated by, or affiliated with, the Government of the People's Republic of China or the Chinese Communist Party.

Investment in supply chain security under Defense Production Act of 1950

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6018) that would amend section 303 of the Defense Production Act of 1950 to provide authority through the Defense Production Act for the federal government to rapidly adopt supply chain security measures if a national security need arises.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.
Headquarters activities of the Department of Defense matters
(sec. 901)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 901) that would repeal certain certifications, require a report on numbers of employees in the National Guard Headquarters, provide modest increases in the statutory caps on other headquarters personnel, and sunset the requirements of section 346 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would eliminate the repeal of certain certifications and modify the increases in the statutory caps on headquarters personnel with the intent of enhancing the opportunity for civilian perspective and advice to be considered in the balance on strategic decisions regarding matters of the armed forces.

The conferees are concerned about civilian-military relations and note a perceived unhealthy drift in decision-making on strategic defense issues away from civilian leaders. Therefore, the conferees urge the Secretary of Defense to utilize the relief to existing limitations on civilian personnel supporting the Office of the Secretary of Defense in such a manner as to optimize enhancement of civilian control of the military. For example, the conferees note that section 922 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) assigned additional authority to the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low-Intensity Conflict (ASD SO/LIC). As such, the conferees expect the additional authority and relief of limitations on civilian personnel will enhance civilian oversight of U.S. Special Operations Command through its ‘service secretary-like’ role.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense, not later than January 1, 2020, to submit to the armed services committees a report setting forth:

1) the total number of members of the Armed Forces and civilian employees of the Department of Defense assigned to support the Office of the Chief of the National Guard Bureau and the National Guard Joint Staff;
2) a description of the headquarters staff of each geographic combatant command, as well as each sub-unified command and service component command under the geographic combatant command, as of the following dates: October 1, 2014 and October 1, 2019. The description of the headquarters staffs of the geographic combatant commands shall include the number of military and civilian personnel who are authorized, and the numbers assigned or detailed, to duty in, functions of, or direct support to the headquarters element, including a breakout of personnel by functional area as defined in Department of Defense Instruction 5100.73.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense, not later than January 1, 2021, to submit to the congressional defense committees a report setting forth the following:

a) A recommendation for the total number of members and employees required for the Office of the Chief of the National Guard Bureau and the National Guard Joint Staff to execute the missions and functions of the National Guard Bureau and the National Guard Joint Staff.

b) A recommendation for the number of military and civilian personnel who are required in the headquarters element to execute the missions and functions of each geographic combatant command.

Clarifying the roles and responsibilities of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment and the Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering (sec. 902)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 5902) that would allocate the responsibilities of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics, a position that was eliminated in the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 2017, between the two successor entities.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 861(j)).

The Senate recedes with amendments that include directing the Secretary of Defense to issue guidance and a framework for independent technical risk assessments (ITRAs), clarifying prototyping responsibilities for the Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering, updating the Executive Schedule level for the Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering, and adding prototyping responsibilities for the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment.

The conferees note the benefit of having specific guidance detailing the conditions in which the Department would approve ITRAs conducted by independent organizations within the military departments. The conferees therefore direct the Secretary of Defense to issue the required ITRA guidance and framework no later than March 1, 2020, and to provide a briefing to congressional defense committees at that time.

The conferees also direct the Secretary of Defense to further refine and elaborate the definitions of prototyping to ensure that the Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering and the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment have clearly defined roles and responsibilities, paying particular attention to the activities executed under budget activity 4, and software activities, which are likely to be difficult to determine.

Return to Chief Information Officer of the Department of Defense of responsibility for business systems and related matters (sec. 903)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 903) that would return the responsibilities for business systems from the Chief Management Officer back to the Chief Information Officer and would realign the Chief Data Officer to report to the Chief Information Officer instead of the Chief Management Officer.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Assessments of responsibilities and authorities of the Chief Management Officer of the Department of Defense (sec. 904)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 5901) that would direct the Secretary of Defense to determine the manner in which the Chief Management Officer directs the business-related activities of the military departments and determine the responsibilities and authorities, if any, of the Chief Management Officer for the Defense Agencies and Department of Defense Field Activities. The provision would further direct the Secretary of Defense, in light of these determinations, to assign the responsibilities and authorities of the Chief Management Officer and submit a plan to Congress for carrying out these requirements.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments that would require a Secretary of Defense and an independent assessment of the Chief Management Officer position, and associated reports on those assessments with recommendations regarding the roles and responsibilities of the Chief Management Officer.

The conferees note the Department has faced significant structural challenges in implementing the Chief Management Officer position since its inception. Accordingly, it is the conferees’ intention to change the position from senior executive schedule II to III and, pending the assessment directed by this section, to disestablish the Chief Management Officer position altogether. The conferees therefore direct the Secretary to ensure the assessment provided for in this section is sufficiently comprehensive to allow for the reassignment of roles and responsibilities, as well as the authorities that would be necessary for orderly transition of such activities should the conferees decide to do so.

Senior Military Advisor for Cyber Policy and Deputy Principal Cyber Advisor (sec. 905)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 904) that would require the designation of a general or flag officer of the Armed Forces to serve within the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy as the Senior Military Advisor for Cyber Policy and, concurrently, as the Deputy Principal Cyber Advisor.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Exclusion from limitations on personnel in the Office of the Secretary of Defense and Department of Defense headquarters of fellows appointed under the John S. McCain Defense Fellows Program (sec. 906)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 921) that would amend section 932(f)(3) of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) to stipulate that an individual appointed to a fellowship under this section shall not count against the limitation on the number of Office of the Secretary of Defense personnel in section 143 of title 10, United States Code, or any similar limitation in law on the number of personnel in headquarters of the Department of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.
Codification of Assistant Secretaries for Energy, Installations, and Environment of the Army, Navy, and Air Force (sec. 911)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 911) that would amend sections 3016(a), 5016(a), and 8016(a) of title 10, United States Code, to require that each military department maintain an assistant secretary for energy, installations, and environment.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 911).

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

SUBTITLE C—OTHER DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE ORGANIZATION AND MANAGEMENT MATTERS

Prohibition on ownership or trading of stocks in certain companies by certain officials of the Department of Defense (sec. 921)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1034) that would prohibit Department of Defense officials who participated personally and substantially in an acquisition valued in excess of $10.0 million who occupy a position on the Executive Schedule, are a member of the Senior Executive Service, a General or Flag Officer, or who served as a program manager, deputy program manager, procuring contracting officer, administrative contracting officer, source selection authority, member of a source selection evaluation board, or chief of a financial or technical evaluation team for a contract in excess of $10.0 million, from owning or trading a publicly traded stock of a company that, during the preceding calendar year, received more than $1.0 billion in revenue from the Department of Defense, including through contracts with the Department.

Further, the provision would direct that no officer or employee of the Department of Defense may own or trade a publicly traded stock of a company that is a contractor or subcontractor of the Department, if the Standards of Conduct Office of the Office of the General Counsel of the Department of Defense determines that the value of the stock may be directly or indirectly influenced by any official act of that officer or employee.

Any official who knowingly fails to comply with these requirements would be subject to administrative action by the Secretary of Defense. The definition of publicly traded stock would not include a widely-held investment fund, for purposes of this provision.
The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would prohibit an individual serving in a key acquisition position in the Department of Defense who is: (1) A civilian officer or employee in a Senior Executive Service, Senior-Level, or Scientific or Professional position; or (2) A member of the Armed Forces in a grade above O-6, from owning or purchasing publicly traded stock of a company that is one of the ten entities awarded the most amount of contract funds by the Department of Defense in a fiscal year during the five preceding fiscal years. This same prohibition would apply to any civilian appointed to a position in the Department of Defense by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The prohibition would not apply if the aggregate market value of the stock holdings ascribed to the individual officer, employee, member of the Armed Forces, or appointee does not exceed the de minimis threshold established in the Code of Federal Regulations, or if the stock is purchased and owned as part of an Excepted Investment Fund or mutual fund.

Limitation on consolidation of Defense Media Activity (sec. 922)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 912) that would prohibit funds authorized or appropriated for the Department of Defense to be used to consolidate the Defense Media Activity until 180 days after the Secretary of Defense submits a report that includes any plans to consolidate the Defense Media Activity.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would remove the funding limitation, direct the Secretary of Defense not to take any actions to consolidate the Defense Media Activity until 60 days after submitting the required report, and change the definition of consolidation.

Report on resources to implement the civilian casualty policy of the Department of Defense (sec. 923)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 922) that would require, not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense to submit to the congressional defense committee a report on the resources necessary to fulfill the requirements of section 936 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) over the future years defense plan.

The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes.
SUBTITLE D—UNITED STATES SPACE FORCE

United States Space Force Act (secs. 951-961)

The Senate bill contained a series of provisions (sec. 1601-1608) that would establish the United States Space Force (USSF) within the Department of the Air Force and make changes to the organization of, authorities of, and acquisition associated with space forces assigned to the Department of Defense (DOD).

The House amendment contained a similar series of provisions (sec. 921-925) that would establish a U.S. Space Corps within the Department of the Air Force.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would enact the United States Space Force Act. The amendment would modify title 10, United States Code, to establish the United States Space Force as an Armed Force within the Department of the Air Force. The amendment would make multiple technical and conforming changes necessary to fully establish the United States Space Force in title 10, United States Code.

The Space Force would include military personnel of the Air Force Space Command and other military personnel of the Air Force as assigned to the Space Force by the Secretary of the Air Force. The amendment would prohibit the authorization of additional military billets. The conferees expect that the Space Force would be supported by civilian personnel within the Department of the Air Force and by Air Force Reserve elements, as determined by the Secretary of the Air Force. The conferees direct the Secretary of the Air Force to provide to the congressional defense committees a total force management plan in support of the Space Force. The report shall be delivered not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act.

The amendment would designate the commander of the Space Force as the Chief of Space Operations (CSO), appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. The CSO’s rank would be that of general with a 4-year term of command. The CSO could be the incumbent Commander, Air Force Space Command, without further appointment. The CSO would report directly to the Secretary of the Air Force upon enactment of this Act. After 1 year, the CSO would be a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The amendment would provide the Secretary of Defense with the temporary authority to establish a dual-hatted arrangement wherein the CSO, for the first year after enactment, would also serve as the Commander, U.S. Space Command (SPACECOM).

The conferees expect the Space Force and its supporting elements to be the exclusive source of personnel of the Department of the Air Force to be assigned, by the CSO, to the National Reconnaissance Office (NRO), unless otherwise specified by the Secretary of the Air Force.

The amendment would establish the position of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (ASD) for Space Policy within the Office of the Secretary of Defense. The amendment would require the Secretary of Defense to seek to enter into an agreement with a Federally Funded Research and Development Center (FFRDC) to develop recommendations on the appropriate elements of the Office of the ASD for Space Policy, including, in particular, whether to include space capabilities and programs currently assigned to the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence or in the Military Intelligence Program. The Secretary would submit to the congressional defense committees such recommendations, together with an assessment of those recommendations, not later than 180 after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The amendment would rename the Principal Assistant to the Secretary of the Air Force for Space as the Assistant Secretary for Space Acquisition and Integration (ASAF/SP), who would report directly to the Secretary of the Air Force and serve as the senior architect for space systems and programs across the Department of Defense, providing advice to the service acquisition executive (SAE) of the Air Force (the existing Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Acquisition). The ASAF/SP would oversee and direct the Space Rapid Capabilities Office, the Space and Missile Systems Center, and the Space Development Agency, providing fiscal and strategic guidance to the organizations. Effective October 1, 2022, the ASAF/SP would also become the SAE for Space Systems and Programs, which would include all space acquisition activities within the Air Force. All space acquisition projects currently managed by the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Acquisition would be transitioned to the ASAF/SP in the role of SAE for Space Systems and Programs, therefore providing for two SAEs reporting to the Secretary of the Air Force. The ASAF/SP would require confirmation by the Senate for this additional role.

The conferees note that the Deputy Secretary of Defense did not submit to the congressional defense committees the plan required by section 1601(b) of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115–232). Therefore, the conferees direct the Secretary of the Air Force to provide to the congressional defense committees a report on whether and, if so, how to implement an alternative acquisition system, due not later than March 31, 2020. The report should include an assessment of the feasibility of a new acquisition system specifically tailored for space systems and programs, including with respect to procuring space vehicles, ground segments relating to such vehicles, and satellite terminals. The plan shall include recommendations with respect to whether the alternative acquisition system described in the plan should use the Joint Capabilities Integration and Development System process or instead use a new requirements process developed in a manner that ensures that requirements for a program are synchronized across the space vehicles and ground segments. It should also consider how such a system can achieve faster acquisition and more rapid fielding of critical systems, including by using new commercial capability. The conferees also direct the Secretary to submit, not later than 120 days after the enactment of this Act, to the congressional defense committees a report with recommendations on the integration of acquisition authority for the NRO into acquisition authority of the Air Force for space systems and programs.

The amendment would also establish a Space Force Acquisition Council (SAC) within the Office of the Secretary of the Air Force that would oversee, direct, and manage Air Force acquisitions for space in order to ensure integration across the national security space enterprise. The SAC would meet not less frequently than monthly. The amendment would establish the ASAF/SP as the chair of Council. The Under Secretary of the Air Force, the Director of the NRO, the CSO, the ASD for Space Policy and the Commander, SPACECOM, would also be members of the Council. The amendment would require the SAC to submit quarterly reports to the congressional defense committees through the first calendar year quarter of 2025 on the activities of the Council.

The conferees direct the Secretary of the Air Force and Secretary of Defense to submit the following reports and briefings to the congressional defense committees on the establishment of the United States Space Force:

1. A report and accompanying briefing on a comprehensive plan for the organizational structure of the Space Force, to be submitted by the Secretary of the Air Force not later than February 1, 2020. The report should include the following elements:

(a) A detailed description of the structure and organizational elements required for the Space Force to perform its mission;

(b) A detailed description of the organization and staff required to support the CSO;

(c) A detailed explanation of the manner in which the Space Force is expected to affect the composition and function of current space elements of the Armed Forces;

(d) A description of the manner in which the Space
Force will be organized, trained, and equipped; and
(e) A description of the manner in which the Space Force will coordinate with SPACECOM and other space elements of the Armed Forces;

(2) A report and accompanying briefing on the anticipated funding requirements for the establishment of the Space Force and for its operations and activities from fiscal year 2021 through fiscal year 2025, to be submitted by the Secretary of Defense not later than February 1, 2020. The report should include the budget activity, line number, line item, line item title, and a description of the requirements specific to the Space Force for each account of the following:

(a) Procurement accounts;
(b) Research, development, test, and evaluation accounts;
(c) Operation and maintenance accounts; and
(d) Military personnel accounts.

The report should also include, for each project under military construction accounts, the country, location, project title, and project amount by fiscal year, and, for any expenditures and proposed appropriations not included, an explanation with a level of detail at least equivalent to the level of detail provided in the future year’s defense program submitted to Congress. The report may be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex;

(3) A report setting forth a comprehensive legislative proposal for amendments to the laws under the jurisdiction of the congressional defense committees to fully integrate the Space Force as an Armed Force, and the regular and reserve military and the civilian personnel of the Space Force, into current law, to be submitted by the Secretary of Defense not later than 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act;

(4) A plan to ensure the quality of the military and civilian personnel of the Space Force, to include:

(a) Mechanisms to define career professional milestones and manage the career progression of members and civilian employees of the Space Force throughout their careers;
(b) Identification and establishment of space-related career fields;
(c) Pay and incentive structures;
(d) The management and oversight of the space cadre;
(e) Training relating to planning and executing warfighting missions and operations in space;
(f) Conducting periodic cadre-wide professional assessments to determine how the cadre is developing as a group;
(g) Establishing a centralized method to control personnel assignments and distribution;
(h) The identification of future space-related career fields that the Secretary determines appropriate, including a space acquisition career field; and
(i) Identification of overlap among the operations and acquisition career fields to identify opportunities for cross-functional careers.
The Secretary should submit to the congressional defense committees a report on such plan not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.
The conferees also direct the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Director of National Intelligence, to submit to the congressional defense committees a report containing the results of a review on processes designed to achieve more effective integration of capabilities among the NRO, National Security Agency, National Geospatial Intelligence Agency (NGA), and SPACECOM for joint operations. This report should be submitted not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act.
Finally, this amendment would limit the total amount of funds to be obligated and expended in fiscal year 2020 for the establishment of the Space Force to the amount requested for the Space Force in the President’s budget request for fiscal year 2020. The amendment would require the Secretary of the Air Force to implement the establishment of the United States Space Force not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this Act. The amendment would also require the Secretary and the CSO to jointly provide to the congressional defense committees briefings on the status of the current missions, operations and activities, manpower requirements, budget and funding requirements, and implementation not later than 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act and every 60 days thereafter until March 31, 2023.
The conferees note that nothing in this provision is intended to be construed as mandating any changes to the mission or operations of the NRO or NGA.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Repeal of conditional designation of Explosive Ordnance Disposal Corps as a basic branch of the Army

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 912) that would repeal section 582 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115–91), which established the conditional designation of explosive ordnance disposal as a basic branch of the Army.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
Modernization of certain forms and surveys

The Senate recedes.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 913) that would require the Secretary of Defense to conduct a study to identify each form and survey that contains a term or classification that the Secretary determines may be considered racially or ethnically insensitive and provide a plan to modernize those forms.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide an interim briefing, no later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act, to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives, regarding efforts to date to review and identify forms and surveys under the purview of the Department of Defense or its components, that contain a term or classification that may be considered racially or ethnically insensitive. Additionally, no later than a year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the conferees direct the Secretary to provide the committees a report setting forth the Department's comprehensive plan to modernize the forms identified, and the progress to date in executing such plan.

TITLE X—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBTITLE A—FINANCIAL MATTERS

General transfer authority (sec. 1001)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1001) that would allow the Secretary of Defense, with certain limitations, to make transfers between amounts authorized for fiscal year 2020 in division A of this Act. The section would limit the total amount transferred under this authority to $4.0 billion. This section would also require prompt notification to Congress of each transfer made.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1001) that would allow the Secretary of Defense to transfer up to $1.0 billion of fiscal year 2020 funds authorized in division A of this Act. It would also prohibit transfers to the Drug Interdiction and Counter Drug Activities, Defense-wide account and require the Secretary of Defense to certify the transfer was made to higher priority items based on unforeseen military requirements.
The House recedes.

Defense Business Audit Remediation Plan (sec. 1002)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1002) that would amend the annual reporting and semiannual briefing requirements contained in section 240b of title 10, United States Code, to include a current accounting of the defense business systems of the Department of Defense that will be introduced, replaced, updated, modified, or retired in connection with the audit of the full financial statements of the Department, including a comprehensive roadmap displaying in-service, retirement, and other pertinent dates for affected defense business systems as well as current cost-to-complete estimates for each effort.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would modify the reporting requirements.

Financial improvement and audit remediation plan (sec. 1003)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1003) that would amend section 240b of title 10, United States Code, by updating the elements of annual reports, semiannual briefs, and audit remediation services of financial improvements and audit remediation plans.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Reporting requirements relating to Department of Defense audits (sec. 1004)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1004) that would require an annual report ranking each of the military departments and Defense Agencies in order of how advanced they are in achieving auditable financial statements as required by law. This report would include, for the bottom quartile of departments and agencies ranked in the report, an additional report describing the material weaknesses of the reporting entity, underlying causes of the material weaknesses, and a plan for remediation. The provision would also require a report presenting a plan for achieving an unmodified audit opinion on the Department of Defense-wide consolidated audit within 5 years.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would remove the limitation on use of funds and would modify the reporting requirement.

Inclusion of certain military construction projects in annual reports on unfunded priorities of the Armed Forces and the combatant commands (sec. 1005)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1003) that would amend section 222a of title 10, United States Code, to require the military services and combatant commands to submit separate lists of unfunded priorities for military construction. This provision would require the lists to be in priority order.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Prohibition on delegation of responsibility for submittal to Congress of Out-Year Unconstrained Total Munition Requirements and Out-Year Inventory numbers (sec. 1006)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1004) that would amend section 222a of U.S.C 10 to prohibit the chief of staff of each of the Services from delegating the reporting requirement outside the service concerned.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Annual budget justification display for service-common and other support and enabling capabilities for special operations forces (sec. 1007)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1005) that would amend chapter 9 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretary of Defense to include in the budget materials submitted to Congress under section 1105 of title 31, United States Code, for fiscal year 2021 and any subsequent fiscal year, a consolidated budget justification display showing service-common and other support and enabling capabilities for special operations forces requested by a military service or Defense Agency.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Element in annual reports on the Financial Improvement and Audit Remediation Plan on activities with respect to classified programs (sec. 1008)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1005) that would amend section 240b(b)(1) of title 10, United States Code, to include audit results and activities for classified programs in the Financial Improvement and Audit Remediation Plan. The plan shall remain unclassified and include a classified annex, if required.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Plan of the Department of Defense for financial management information (sec. 1009)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1006) that would require the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) to track the costs of the audit corrective action plans.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would modify the reporting requirements.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, to submit to the congressional defense committees a report containing the following Department-Wide audit metrics:

1. Total number of open audit notices of findings and recommendations (NFRs) for the most recent fiscal year and the preceding two fiscal years where applicable;
2. Number of repeat or reissued NFRs from the most recent fiscal year;
3. Number of NFRs that were previously forecasted to be closed in the most recently completed fiscal year that remain open;
4. Number of closed NFRs in the current fiscal year and prior fiscal years;
5. Number of material weaknesses that were validated by external auditors as fully resolved or downgraded in the current fiscal year over prior fiscal years;
6. Breakdown by fiscal years in which open NFRs are forecasted to be closed; and
7. Explanations for unfavorable trends in these categories.

Update of authorities and renaming of Department of Defense Acquisition Workforce Development Fund (sec. 1010)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1007) that would amend section 1705 of title 10, United States Code, to rename the Defense Acquisition Workforce Development Fund to the Defense Acquisition Workforce Development Account in recognition that it is funded by appropriations.
    The House amendment contained no similar provision.
    The House recedes.

Transparency of accounting firms used to support Department of Defense audit (sec. 1011)

    The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1008) that would require audit firms to report fully adjudicated disciplinary proceedings to the Department of Defense, ensure the details of such disciplinary proceedings are kept confidential, and would provide a definition of “associated person”.
    The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
    The Senate recedes with an amendment that would eliminate the insertion of “fully adjudicated” and the definition of associated persons.
    The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing, in conjunction with the Financial Improvement and Audit Remediation Plan, on the implementation of section 1006 of John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 no later than June 30, 2020.

Modification of required elements of annual reports on emergency and extraordinary expenses of the Department of Defense (sec. )

    The Senate bill contained a provision (sec.1002) that would amend section 127 of title 10, United States Code, to modify the annual reporting requirement on emergency and extraordinary expenses of the Department of Defense.
    The House amendment contained no similar provision.
    The House recedes with a technical amendment.

SUBTITLE B—COUNTERDRUG ACTIVITIES

Modification of authority to support a unified counterdrug and counterterrorism campaign in Colombia (sec. 1021)

The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would modify the organizations with respect to which assistance may be provided under this authority.

Extension of authority for joint task forces to provide support to law enforcement agencies conducting counter-terrorism activities (sec. 1022)

The Senate recedes.

Sense of Congress regarding Department of Defense counterdrug activities in the transit zone and Caribbean basin (sec. 1023)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1014) that would express the Sense of Congress that counterdrug activities in the transit zone and Caribbean basin are critical to national security. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Assessment of impact of proposed border wall on volume of illegal narcotics (sec. 1024)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1015) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of Homeland Security, to conduct an assessment of the impact that any planned or proposed border wall construction would have on the volume of illegal narcotics entering the United States. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

SUBTITLE C—NAVAL VESSELS

Modification of authority to purchase vessels using funds in National Defense Sealift Fund (sec. 1031)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1016) that would amend section 2218(f)(3) of title 10, United States Code, in subparagraph (E) by striking "10 new sealift vessels" and inserting "10 new sealift vessels, auxiliary vessels, or a combination of such vessels".

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Use of National Defense Sealift Fund for procurement of two used vessels (sec. 1032)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1022) that would require the Secretary of the Navy to seek to enter into a contract for two used vessels for mobilization purposes.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Transportation by sea of supplies for the Armed Forces and Defense Agencies (sec. 1033)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1021) that would modify section 2631 of title 10, United States Code, to expand application of cargo transported by the Department of Defense to include Defense Agencies. Additionally, this provision would require additional latitude in the transportation of fuel products to better expand opportunities for U.S. flagged resources.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Senior Technical Authority for each naval vessel class (sec. 1034)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1017) that would require the designation of a Senior Technical Authority (STA) for each class of naval vessels.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would remove the prohibition on delegation of the authority to designate STAs and adjust STA tenure requirements.

The conferees' intent is that STAs are primarily or entirely employees of the Naval Sea Systems Command engineering directorate (code 05) with the STA designation and associated duties as primary or collateral responsibilities.

Permanent authority for sustaining operational readiness of littoral combat ships on extended deployment (sec. 1035)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1018) that would amend section 8680 of title 10, United States Code, to provide the Secretary of the Navy with additional flexibility to maintain Littoral Combat Ships (LCSs) by allowing government or contractor personnel to conduct maintenance on deployed LCS vessels regardless of ship location.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would specify allowable maintenance activities.

The conferees note the two classes of LCS have significantly different maintenance requirements and sustainment models as compared to other classes of Navy surface ships.

Accordingly, the conferees direct the Secretary of the Navy to submit to the congressional defense committees, no later than March 1, 2020, comprehensive LCS class maintenance plans for each LCS class. Each such plan shall contain the following elements for such class: (1) An assessment of the implications of extended LCS deployments on material readiness and operational availability; (2) A comprehensive sustainment strategy necessary to support the total number of LCSs, including maintenance requirements, sustainment concepts, and estimated life cycle costs; (3) A description of the permanent and temporary facilities required to support LCSs operating on extended deployments at overseas locations; (4) A description of all contracting strategies for LCS ship repair and maintenance, including short- and long-term; (5) A summary of projected LCS maintenance costs, by fiscal year, for fiscal years 2020 through 2025 and the extent to which actual costs have deviated from prior estimates; and (6) Other related matters the Secretary deems appropriate.

Formal training for shipboard system programs of record (sec. 1036)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1023) that would require the Secretary of the Navy to ensure there is a formal schoolhouse for all shipboard systems that are current programs of record in the fleet.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require formal training for such systems, but not require the training occur at a schoolhouse.

Report on shipbuilder training and the defense industrial base (sec. 1037)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1024) that would require the Secretary of the Defense to submit a report on how the Navy plans to manage the need to grow the shipbuilding workforce as it builds to a 355-ship Navy.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit the report in coordination with the Secretary of Labor.

Use of competitive procedures for CVN-80 and CVN-81 dual aircraft carrier contract (sec. 1038)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1025) that would require to the extent practicable and unless otherwise required by law, the Secretary of the Navy to ensure that competitive procedures are used with respect to any task order or delivery order issued under a dual aircraft carrier contract relating to the CVN-80 and CVN-81.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Report on expanding naval vessel maintenance (sec. 1039)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1026) that would require the Secretary of the Navy to submit to the congressional defense committees a report on allowing maintenance to be performed on naval vessels at shipyards other than shipyards in the vessels’ homeports.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the report to include a description of the ability of non-homeport firms to maintain surge capacity when homeport shipyards lack the capacity or capability to meet homeport requirements and make other technical changes.

SUBTITLE D—COUNTERTERRORISM

Modification of support of special operations to combat terrorism (sec. 1041)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1037) that would amend section 127e of title 10, United States Code, to modify the notification required pursuant to this authority.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.
Extension of prohibition on use of funds for transfer or release of individuals detained at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to certain countries (sec. 1042)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1023) that would extend until December 31, 2020, the prohibition on the use of funds provided to the Department of Defense to transfer or release individuals detained at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to Libya, Somalia, Syria, and Yemen.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1032) that would prohibit the use of funding authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for the Department of Defense during the period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act and ending on December 31, 2020, to transfer, release, or assist in the transfer or release of any individual detained at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to Libya, Somalia, Syria, Yemen, Cuba, Iran, Russia, North Korea, Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador, or Venezuela.

The House recedes.

Extension of prohibition on use of funds for transfer or release of individuals detained at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to the United States (sec. 1043)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1021) that would extend until December 31, 2020, the prohibition on the use of funds provided to the Department of Defense to transfer or release individuals detained at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to the United States.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Extension of prohibition on use of funds to construct or modify facilities in the United States to house detainees transferred from United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba (sec. 1044)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1022) that would extend until December 31, 2020, the prohibition on the use of funds provided to the Department of Defense to construct or modify facilities in the United States to house detainees transferred from United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
Extension of prohibition on use of funds to close or relinquish control of United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba (sec. 1045)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1024) that would extend through fiscal year 2020, the prohibition on the use of funds provided to close or abandon United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba; to relinquish control of Guantanamo Bay to the Republic of Cuba; or to implement a material modification to the Treaty between the United States of America and Cuba signed at Washington, D.C., on May 29, 1934, which modification would constructively close United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Chief Medical Officer at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba (sec. 1046)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1026) that would require the establishment of a Chief Medical Officer (CMO) at the United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to conduct oversight of medical care provided to individuals detained at Guantanamo Bay, and to ensure that such medical care meets the defined standard of care. The CMO would report directly to the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs and hold a grade not below that of colonel, or captain in the Navy. The CMO would make medical determinations, including: (1) Decisions regarding assessment, diagnosis, and treatment of detainees; and (2) Medical accommodations to detainee living conditions and operating procedures for detention facilities. In the event the commander of Joint Task Force-Guantanamo declined to follow a determination of the CMO, the provision would require the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict and the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs to resolve the matter jointly, within 7 days of receipt of the notification of such declination. Additionally, the provision would authorize the CMO to secure access to any individual, information, or assistance that the CMO considered necessary to carry out the duties of the position.

The Senate bill also contained a provision (sec. 1025) that would authorize the temporary transfer of individuals detained at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, to the United States for emergency or critical medical treatment not available at Guantanamo.
The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1034) that would express the sense of Congress that the increasing age of detainees at the United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, poses challenges for the provision of medical care, and that the United States has an ongoing obligation to provide medical care that meets appropriate standards of care to the detainees at Guantanamo. This provision would also express the sense of Congress that the Secretary of Defense should take into account the standards of care provided at other relevant facilities, including those administered by the Federal Bureau of Prisons, when determining the policies regarding medical care for detainees at Guantanamo.

The House recedes to Senate section 1026, with technical and clarifying amendments.

The Senate recedes to Senate section 1025.
The House recedes to House section 1034.

Independent assessment on gender and countering violent extremism (sec. 1047)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1035) that would require the Secretary of Defense to enter into contract with a nonprofit entity or federally funded research and development center independent of the Department of Defense to conduct research and analysis on the intersection of gender and violent extremism and terrorism and provide a report to the congressional defense committees on the result of such assessment.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

SUBTITLE E—MISCELLANEOUS AUTHORITIES AND LIMITATIONS

Scheduling of Department of Defense executive aircraft controlled by Secretaries of military departments (sec. 1051)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1041) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure there is coordination in scheduling executive airlift across the entire Department of Defense.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Explosive ordnance defense disposal program (sec. 1052)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1042) that would amend section 2284 of title 10, United States Code, to make technical changes regarding the responsibilities of the executive agent for the explosive ordnance disposal training and technology program. The provision would also eliminate the requirement to designate a combat support agency to manage a Defense-wide program element for certain explosive ordnance disposal activities.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Technical correction and extension of reporting requirement regarding enhancement of information sharing and coordination of military training between Department of Homeland Security and Department of Defense (sec. 1053)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1012) that would provide a technical correction to and extend until December 31, 2022, a report required by section 1014 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328).

The Senate bill no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Notification on the provision of defense sensitive support (sec. 1054)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1043) that would modify section 1055 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) to provide additional Defense Sensitive Support reporting requirements.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Revision to authorities relating to mail service for members of the Armed Forces and Department of Defense civilians overseas (sec. 1055)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1081) that would amend section 3401 of title 39, United States Code, to clarify that Active-Duty servicemembers and Department of Defense civilian employees providing support to military operations are authorized to mail personal correspondence at no cost when deployed for a contingency operation in an area designated by the President. The provision also would extend the free mail program to all hospitalized servicemembers wounded in a designated area. Finally, the provision would allow certain mail between military post offices or from a military post office to a point of entry into the United States to be transported by surface shipment.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Access to and use of military post offices by United States citizens employed overseas by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization who perform functions in support of military operations of the Armed Forces (sec. 1056)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1082) that would modify section 406 of title 39, United States Code, to permit the Secretary of Defense to authorize the use of military post offices in locations outside the United States by citizens of the United States who are employed by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and who perform functions in support of the Armed Forces.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Expenditure of funds for Department of Defense intelligence and counterintelligence activities (sec. 1057)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1047) that would authorize the expenditure of no more than 5 percent of Military Intelligence Program funds for Department of Defense recurring or anticipated intelligence and counterintelligence activities for each of the fiscal years 2020 through 2025. Further, this section would require the Secretary of Defense to provide a report of the expenditures covered by this authorization for each of the fiscal years 2020 through 2025. This section would provide additional authorization in response to section 1041 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91), which required the Secretary of Defense to clarify use of emergency and extraordinary expenses for intelligence and counterintelligence activities that were determined not to be of an emergent or extraordinary nature.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Limitation on use of funds for the inactivation of Army watercraft units (sec. 1058)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1045) that would prohibit any funds authorized or appropriated by this Act to be used for the inactivation of any Army watercraft unit until the Secretary of Defense submits to Congress a certification on the Army Watercraft Requirements Review and a federally funded research and development center has reviewed and validated the Army’s ability to meet watercraft requirements of the combatant commanders.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Independent public accountant audit of financial systems of the Department of Defense

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1007) that would direct the Secretary of Defense to ensure financial systems of the Department of Defense are reviewed by an independent public accountant to validate the financial system will meet applicable Federal requirements.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees are encouraged by the Department of Defense’s completion of the first audit in 2018. In order to improve the Department of Defense’s ability to continue audit compliance, the Secretary of Defense shall ensure that each major implementation of, or modification to, a financial system of the Department of Defense meets all applicable Federal statutes, regulations, and policies with regards to auditability.

Modification of authority to provide support to other agencies for counterdrug activities and activities to counter transnational organized crime

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1011) that would modify the types of support authorized by section 284 of title 10, United States Code as well as include additional congressional notification requirements.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Repeal of Secretary of Defense review of curricula and program structures of National Guard counterdrug schools

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1013) that would repeal the Secretary of Defense’s review of National Guard counterdrug school curricula and program structures.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees note the importance of the National Guard counterdrug schools in the development, training, and maintenance of skills for Federal, State, local, and foreign government officials to combat illicit trafficking. The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to the House and Senate Armed Services Committees no later than 90 days after enactment of this Act on the Department of Defense review of the curricula and program structures of the National Guard counterdrug schools. The briefing shall include the following:

1. An overview of the National Guard counterdrug schools.
2. An overview of the Department’s guidance related to the National Guard counterdrug program.
3. An explanation of the Department’s guidance specifically related to the curricula and program structures of the National Guard counterdrug schools.
4. A description of the Department’s goals, objectives, and effect-based measures of performance related to the National Guard counterdrug schools.
5. An initial evaluation of the establishment of the National Guard Bureau counterdrug schools executive steering committees, the committees’ progress toward implementing guidance, and the structure to incorporate feedback regarding such guidance from the States.
6. An initial evaluation of curricula requirements identified by State counterdrug coordinators.
7. An initial evaluation of the National Guard counterdrug schools activity plans received from States.
8. A cost analysis of the metrics used to explain how any savings and efficiencies will be achieved by any changes made, including an analysis of the elimination of contracted positions.
9. Any other matters the Secretary considers appropriate.

Clarification of authority of military commissions under chapter 47A of title 10, United States Code, to punish contempt

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1031) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 47A of title 10, United States Code, to permit a judge of the United States Court of Military Commission Review or a military judge detailed to a military commission to punish contempt. The provision also would provide that the punishment for contempt may not exceed confinement for 30 days, a fine of $1,000, or both and would establish the conditions under which punishment for contempt is reviewable.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Prohibition on use of funds for transfer to and detention of additional individuals, including United States citizens, at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1033) that would prohibit the use of funding authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for the Department of Defense during the period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act and ending on December 31, 2020, to detain any additional individuals including United States citizens, under the law of war or pursuant to military commission proceedings, at the detention facility at the United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The provision also would require a plan identifying a disposition other than continued law of war detention at United States Naval Station, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for each individual currently detained at Guantanamo.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Enhancement of authorities on forfeiture of Federal benefits by the National Guard

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1037) that would amend section 108 of title 32, United States Code, to provide that the availability of Federal funds provided to the National Guard of individual States is contingent upon compliance with Federal law and policy applicable to the National Guard. The provision would also authorize the President to withdraw Federal recognition of National Guard units and members for failure to comply with Federal law and policy and would authorize the President to bar units and individuals from receiving Federal funds if the unit or individuals fail to comply with Federal law and policy.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Public availability of military commission proceedings

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1038) that would amend title 10, United States Code, to provide that, as to any proceeding of a military commission that is made open to the public, the military commission judge may order that the proceedings be made available to be watched remotely by the public through the internet.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Limitation on placement by the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness of work with federally funded research and development centers

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1039) that would amend and prohibit the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness from placing any work with a federally funded research and development center (FFRDC) until a report containing a list of all studies, reports, and other analyses being undertaken for the Under Secretary is submitted to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Modification and technical correction of authority for deployment of members of the Armed Forces to the southern land border of the United States

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1044) that would modify the authority under section 1059 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92) by requiring a certification and notification requirement prior to the provision of assistance to the United States Custom and Border Protection at the U.S. southern land border. Additionally, this section would amend and add reporting requirements, require that the support be on a reimbursable basis, and terminate the authority on September 30, 2023.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Use of funds for defense of the Armed Forces and United States citizens against attack by foreign hostile forces

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1045) that would allow funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act to be used to ensure the ability of the Armed Forces to defend themselves, and the United States, against attack.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The Senate recedes.
Prohibition on use of funds for construction of a wall, fence, or other physical barrier along the southern border of the United States

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1046) that would prohibit the obligation, expense, or use of funds, that have been authorized to be appropriated for national defense in fiscal years 2015 through 2020, to design or carry out a project to construct, replace, or modify a wall, fence or other physical barrier along the international border between the United States and Mexico.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Limitation on use of funds to house children separated from parents

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1044) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act to house a child separated from a parent, unless the Department of Homeland Security demonstrated in a hearing that the parent or legal guardian was unfit or presented a danger to the child.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1048) that would prohibit amounts made available to the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2020 from being used to house children separated from their parent or legal guardian by Customs and Border Protection near a port of entry or within 100 miles of the border of the United States, unless a state court, an official with the state or county child welfare agency, or a Custom and Border Protection chief patrol agent or the area port director determines that the separation is in the best interest of the child because the child is in danger of abuse or neglect.

The conference agreement does not include either provision.

Limitation on use of funds for providing housing for unaccompanied alien children

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1049) that would require the Department of Defense to submit a congressional certification that any housing provided to unaccompanied alien children meets the standards of the Department of Health and Human Services, including those provided in the Flores settlement agreement.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
Transfer of certain items included in categories I, II, and III of the United States Munitions List to the Commerce Control List

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1050) that would prohibit the President from removing from the United States Munitions List any item that was included in category I, II, or III of the United States Munitions List, as in effect on August 31, 2017.

Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Limitation on use of funds for reimbursement of expenses at certain properties

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1050A) that would prohibit the obligation or expenditure of funds made available for the Department of Defense at a list of properties or to an entity with an ownership interest in such properties.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Limitation on use of funds for exhibition of parade of military forces and hardware for review by the President

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1050B) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized by this Act or otherwise appropriated for Fiscal Year 2020 for the Department of Defense from being obligated or expended for any exhibition or parade of military forces and hardware, with the exception of ceremonial honors and customary ceremonial duties, for review by the President outside authorized military operations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Prohibition on use of DOD equipment, personnel, and facilities for ICE detention

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1050C) that would prohibit the use of facilities, equipment, or personnel of the Department of Defense to house or to construct housing for foreign nationals in the custody of U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on joint force plan for implementation of strategies of the Department of Defense for the Arctic
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1054) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with Secretaries of the military departments, to submit a joint force plan for implementing the Department of Defense’s December 2016 Report to Congress on the Strategy to Protect United States National Security Interests in the Arctic Region and the updated Arctic strategy to improve and enhance joint operations, which was mandated in the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees note the increasing involvement of near-peer competitors in the Arctic region and direct the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with Secretaries of the military departments, to submit a plan for implementing the June 2019 Department of Defense Arctic Strategy.

Report on use of Northern Tier bases in implementation of Arctic strategy of the United States

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1055) that would direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the use of bases in the northern latitudes, including Northern Tier bases, for implementing the recommendations in the December 2016 “Report to Congress on Strategy to Protect United States National Security Interests in the Arctic Region” and the updated Arctic strategy required to be submitted to the congressional defense committees under section 1071 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the use of bases in the northern latitudes, including Northern Tier bases, for implementing the recommendations in the June 2019 Department of Defense Arctic Strategy no later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act.

Comptroller General of the United States report on post-government employment of former Department of Defense officials

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1060) that would require the Comptroller General of the United States to update a prior report on the post-government employment of former Department of Defense officials.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

The conferees direct the Comptroller General of the United States to initiate a review, not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, updating the information and findings set forth in the Government Accountability Office report entitled "Defense Contracting: Post-Government Employment of Former DOD Officials Needs Greater Transparency" (GAO-08-485), and to provide an interim briefing on the status of the review to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives not later than December 31, 2020, with a report to follow by a date agreed upon with the committees.

Elimination of requirement to submit reports to Congress in paper format

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1062) that would enable the Department of Defense to provide reports required by the Congress in an electronic format rather than a paper format. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to deliver to the Committee on Armed Services of the House of Representatives reports required by Congress in electronic format only. This practice will begin on a date mutually agreed upon by the Secretary and the committee. This change does not apply to the Committee on Armed Services of the Senate. By eliminating the requirement of the delivery of congressional reports in paper format, the conferees believe the Department of Defense will be able to streamline the reporting process both within the Department and in delivery of its reports to the Congress. This process would only apply to unclassified reports.

Additionally, the conferees note that the Department is required by section 122a of title 10, United States Code, to ensure that reports are made available to the public, to the maximum extent practicable, by posting the reports on a publicly accessible website. The Committee on Armed Services of the Senate continues to explore means of reducing the administrative burden to the Department associated with generating and delivering hard copy paper reports to the U.S. Senate, however success in this endeavor is contingent on the Department’s compliance with section 122a of title 10, United States Code.

Sense of Congress regarding modular airborne fire fighting system
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1075) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees regarding plans of the Secretary to fund long-term sustainment and operation and maintenance of MAFFS capabilities, including plans for the National Guard Bureau to submit program objective memoranda for funding for lifetime costs to the Department of Defense to be included in future Department of Defense Budget Requests, including the feasibility of establishing a dedicated program-of-record.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on policies relating to small farms

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1077) that would require the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) and the Defense Commissary Agency (DeCA) to submit to the congressional defense committees a report on policies relating to small farms.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the DLA and DeCA to submit a report on the programs, policies, and practices of the DLA and DeCA relating to small farms, farms owned by new and beginning farmers, and farmers who are veterans or minorities not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act to the congressional defense committees. The report should include a description of opportunities and barriers to expanding the use of such programs, policies, or practices.

Report on financial costs of overseas United States military posture and operations

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1079) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the financial costs of U.S. military posture and operations overseas.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees note that the Department of Defense currently provides an annual budget exhibit that describes the country-by-country costs of maintaining overseas posture, which estimated worldwide posture costs of just over $24.0 billion in fiscal year 2019. However, the exhibit excludes considerable costs such as those borne in overseas contingency accounts and does not account for host nation contributions, either cash or in-kind, or contributions from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Therefore, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a comprehensive report with the budget submission, or not later than February 15, 2020, to the congressional defense committees on the actual costs of maintaining the overseas posture and presence of the U.S. Armed Forces in fiscal year 2019. The report should address the financial costs incurred by the United States, as well as financial and in-kind contributions made by host-countries and multilateral organizations like NATO, related to overseas enduring and contingency infrastructure and the presence of permanent and rotational U.S. Armed Forces.

Additionally, the conferees direct the Comptroller General of the United States to review the Department’s report to determine whether it accurately captures the full costs of overseas posture and host nation contributions and to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 180 days after the Department’s report is submitted to the committees.

Public availability of Chief Management Office annual budget reports

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1080B) that would amend section 132a(c)(1)(B) of title 10, United States Code, to require that the Chief Management Officer’s reports on Defense Agency and Department of Defense Field Activity proposed budgets for enterprise business operations be made publicly available on an internet website in a searchable format.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Plan to increase and expand cold weather training

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1080D) that would require the Secretary of the Army to conduct an assessment of cold weather training requirements in light of increased operations and vulnerability to great power competition in the Arctic; and develop a plan to increase and expand cold weather training opportunities.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees directed the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019. The conferees note that the Department has not provided this report to the committees and direct the Secretary to expedite completion and submission of the report by not later than January 31, 2020.

Comptroller General review of Department of Defense support for the Department of Homeland Security operations on the southwest border of the United States

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1080E) that would require the Comptroller General of the United States to conduct a review and provide a report and a briefing on ongoing and future Department of Defense support for Department of Homeland Security border security operations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Disposal of IPv4 addresses

Prohibition on denial of Department of Veterans Affairs home loans for veterans who legally work in the marijuana industry

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1093) that would prohibit the Secretary of Veterans Affairs from using as a factor in determining whether to guarantee, issue, or make a housing loan the fact that an individual’s income is derived from working in the marijuana industry.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Inclusion on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall of the names of the lost crew members of the U.S.S. Frank E. Evans killed on June 3, 1969

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1094) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior, the American Battlefield Monuments Commission, and other applicable authorities, to authorize the inclusion on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall in the District of Columbia, of the names of the 74 crew members of the U.S.S. Frank E. Evans, killed on June 3, 1969.

The House amendment also contained a similar provision (sec. 1099O).

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees honor the service of the 74 crew members of the U.S.S. Frank E. Evans, who made the ultimate sacrifice on June 3, 1969, and express their respect and regard for the family members of the crew, and their unflagging dedication to sustaining the memory of their Fallen loved ones.

The conferees note that there is an established process for adding the names of servicemembers to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall. The conferees believe this process should be followed to preserve the integrity of the Wall.

Report on executive helicopter flights in the National Capital Region

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1097) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a publicly available report on the number of helicopter trips used for executive transport by service branch in the national capital region for a period of 90 days after enactment of this Act.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees, not later than 90 days after enactment of this Act, which shall be made publicly available, and shall detail the number of helicopter missions used for executive transport in the National Capital Region. The report shall also include a consolidated listing of all such flights executed from the date of enactment through 90 calendar days thereafter and a list of the number of helicopters utilized by each service branch.

Review of foreign currency exchange rates and analysis of Foreign Currency Fluctuations Appropriation

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099A) that would require the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) to review exchange rates to determine whether cost savings opportunities exist in disbursements pursuant to contracts in foreign currencies.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
The conferees recognize the difficulty in predicting exchange rate fluctuations and urge the Department to continue investigating methodologies to decrease the magnitude of fluctuations in the Foreign Currency Fluctuations, Defense account.

Contracts by the President or Vice President

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099B) that would amend the federal criminal code (18 U.S.C. 431) to prohibit the President, Vice President, and members of the President’s Cabinet, or anyone acting on their behalf or for their benefit, from holding or entering into a contract or agreement with the United States or any agency of the United States. Violations would be subject to a fine. Any contract in violation of the provision would be void automatically, and any monies advanced by the United States or its agency pursuant to such a contract or agreement would be subject to immediate repayment to the government. Absent immediate repayment, the law would provide that suit should be brought immediately for the recovery of the advanced monies.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Interoperability of communications between military installations and adjacent jurisdictions

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099E) that would require the Department of Defense Fire and Emergency Services Working Group to submit a report on military installations that provide emergency services to areas outside their installations and the interoperability of military installations and adjacent civilian agencies.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Department of Defense Fire and Emergency Services Working Group, not later than 12 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on military installations that provide emergency services to areas outside their installations and the interoperability of military installations and adjacent civilian agencies.

Chinese language and culture studies within the Defense Language and National Security Education Office
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099G) that would increase the funds authorized for the Defense Human Resources Activity by $13,404,000 for use by the Defense Language and National Security Education Office to provide support for studies related to Chinese language and culture.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Modification of prohibition on availability of funds for Chinese language programs at certain institutions of higher education

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099H) that would modify section 1091(b) of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) to require the Secretary of Defense to develop a transition plan for each institution of higher education subject to the limitation under paragraph (1) of such section.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees note that they appreciate the Department of Defense's effort to ensure that institutions of higher education, which no longer host a Confucius Institute, may regain eligibility to receive funds from the Department for Chinese language instruction.

Lessons learned and best practices on progress of gender integration implementation in the Armed Forces

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099I) that would require the Secretary of Defense to direct each component of the Armed Force to share lessons learned and best practices on the progress of their gender integration implementation plans.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Strategies for recruitment and retention of women in the Armed Forces

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099J) that would direct the Secretary of each military department to examine successful strategies used by foreign military services to recruit and retain women and consider implementing those best practices in the United States Armed Forces.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
The conferees note that many of the United States’ closest allies have long been successful in recruiting and retaining women into their militaries. The Secretary of Defense is encouraged to examine the techniques used by these countries and, where possible, implement them in the United States military.

Honoring last surviving Medal of Honor recipient of Second World War

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099L) that would allow the last surviving Medal of Honor recipient of World War II to lie in honor in the rotunda of the U.S. Capitol upon death if elected by the individual or next of kin.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sense of Congress regarding Army Contracting Command-New Jersey

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099P) that would express the sense of Congress about the vital role played by Army Contracting Command-New Jersey.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Review and report on experimentation with ticks and insects

The House bill contained a provision (sec. 1099Q) that required the Department of Defense to review whether the Department experimented with ticks and other insects regarding use as a biological weapon between the years of 1950 and 1975.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees note the Department’s prioritization of addressing tick-borne illnesses as a threat to military forces and their dependents. The conferees support the Department’s research efforts to prevent the occurrence, diagnoses, and treatment of tick-borne illnesses, including through the Tick-Borne Disease Research Program established in Fiscal Year 2016.
The conferees note the importance of continued compliance with the Biological Weapons Convention which bans the development, production, and stockpiling of biological weapons of mass destruction.

Pilot program to provide broadband access to military families and medical facilities on remote and isolated bases

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099R) that would direct the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Federal Communication Commission, to conduct a pilot program under which the Secretary would enter into agreements with broadband internet providers to extend residential broadband internet access to families on military installations located in unserved rural areas in the United States.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sense of Congress regarding military working dogs and soldier handlers

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099S) that would provide the sense of Congress on the importance of tactical explosive detection dogs and their soldier handlers in combat.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees recognize the service of military working dogs and soldier handlers from the tactical explosive detection program and honor the sacrifices made by them in combat. The conferees also acknowledge that not all tactical explosive detection dogs were adopted by their former soldier handlers and encourage the Army and other government agencies, including law enforcement agencies, with such dogs to prioritize adoption to their former handlers. Lastly, the conferees recognize the efforts of Congressman Walter B. Jones to promote military working dogs as unsung heroes on the battlefield and in helping wounded warriors recover from physical and mental injuries.

Funding limitation for the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099U) that would amend section 810(a)(1) of the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor Act (Public Law 106–554; 114 Stat. 2763A–303) by striking ‘‘$12,000,000’’ and inserting ‘‘$14,000,000’’.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Inspection of facilities used to house, detain, screen, and review migrants and refugees

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099V) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Comptroller General of the United States and the Secretary of Health and Human Services, to establish a process to conduct surprise inspections at Government-owned or Department of Defense-owned installations where migrants are housed, detained, screened, or reviewed.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sense of Congress regarding the 2001 Authorization for Use of Military Force

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099W) that would express the sense of Congress that the 2001 Authorization for Use of Military Force (Public Law 107-40; 50 U.S.C. 1541 note) enacted by Congress to authorize the use of force against those responsible for the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, has been cited 41 times as the legal basis for the use of force in 19 countries, well beyond the scope that Congress initially intended. Further, the provision would convey the sense of Congress that any new authorization for the use of force should include: (1) A sunset clause and timeframe within which Congress should revisit the authority provided; (2) A clear and specific expression of mission objectives, targets, and geographic scope; and (3) Reporting requirements to increase transparency and ensure proper Congressional oversight.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Prohibition on export of air to ground munitions, related components and parts of such munitions, and related services to Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099X) that would prohibit, for the one-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, the President from issuing any license, and require the President to suspend any license or other approval for the export to the Government of Saudi Arabia or the Government of the United Arab Emirates any air to ground munitions, components, or related services.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
Reporting regarding cancelled appropriations

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6002) that would require the Comptroller General of the United States to provide a report to the congressional defense committees on cancelled appropriations across the federal government.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees note the importance of understanding why appropriations are cancelled and therefore direct the Comptroller General of the United States to conduct a review of cancelled federal appropriations and to provide a briefing to the congressional defense committees and the Budget Committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives no later than March 1, 2020, with a report to follow by a date agreed at the time of the briefing.

The review shall include:

1. An assessment of the amount of appropriations across federal agencies cancelled under section 1552 of title 31, United States Code, during each of the fiscal years 2009 through 2018;
2. Identifying information about each cancelled appropriation, including its type and period of availability;
3. The percentage of each fiscal year’s total appropriations canceled broken down by agency;
4. An assessment of the extent to which cancelled appropriations differed significantly across agencies or over time, the extent to which cancelled appropriations are correlated with obligation rates, and the extent to which cancelled appropriations are correlated with the length of continuing resolutions in the original year of the appropriation.

Inclusion of progress of the Department of Defense in achieving auditable financial statements in annual reports on the Financial Improvement and Audit Remediation Plan

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6003) that would amend section 240b(b)(1)(B) of title 10, United States Code, by requiring that a ranking of each military department and Defense Agency be included in the annual report in order of its current progress in achieving auditable financial statements. The provision further requires that additional information be provided for each military department or Defense Agency ranked in the bottom quartile.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.
Silver Star Service Banner Day

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6005) that would amend Chapter 1 of title 36, United States Code, to designate May 1 as Silver Star Service Banner Day.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Comptroller General of the United States report on the effects of continuing resolutions on readiness and planning of the Department of Defense

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6011) that would require the Comptroller General of the United States to provide a report to the congressional defense committees on the effects of continuing resolutions on the readiness and financial efficiency of the Department of Defense.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.
The conferees note that the Department of Defense has spent more than 1,000 days under continuing resolutions over the past 10 years. Despite strong anecdotal evidence of negative readiness effects and significant financial waste created by continuing resolutions, a comprehensive tally of their costs, direct and indirect, has not yet been performed. Therefore, the conferees direct the Comptroller General of the United States to deliver a briefing to the congressional defense committees and the Budget Committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives no later than March 1, 2020, with a report to follow by a date agreed at the time of the briefing.
The report shall examine (1) the extent to which continuing resolutions impact Department of Defense purchasing power; (2) the extent to which preparing for and operating under continuing resolutions negatively affect the efficient usage of personnel time, including that of Senior Executive Service personnel and general and flag officers; (3) the extent to which continuing resolutions negatively affect the Department’s ability to hire; (4) the extent to which the Department has requested and received anomalies for continuing resolutions since 2010; (5) the extent to which continuing resolutions have delayed acquisition programs; (5) the extent to which the Department has experienced funding misalignments between appropriations accounts due to continuing resolutions.

Sense of Congress on the naming of a naval vessel in honor of Senior Chief Petty Officer Shannon Kent
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6016) that would express the sense of the Congress on the naming of a naval vessel in honor of Senior Chief Petty Officer Shannon Kent. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes.

TITLE XI—CIVILIAN PERSONNEL MATTERS

SUBTITLE A—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency personnel management authority (sec. 1101)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1102) that would increase the number of personnel eligible to be hired under the personnel management authority to attract experts in science and engineering under section 1599h of title 10, United States Code, in the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) by 30, bringing the total for DARPA from 100 to 130, and decreasing the number of such positions available to the laboratories of the military departments by 30, from 40 to 10.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1101) that would increase the number of these positions available to DARPA by 40, bringing its total to 140, with no decrease in the number of positions available to the laboratories.

The Senate recedes.

Report on the probationary period for Department of Defense employees (sec. 1102)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1102) that would amend section 1599e of title 10, United States Code, to change the probationary period for Department of Defense civilian employees from 2 years to 1 year.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense to conduct an independent review of the probationary periods applicable to Department of Defense employees. The amendment would also require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report detailing the results of the review to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives, the Committee on Oversight and Reform of the House of Representatives, and the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs of the Senate.
Civilian personnel management (sec. 1103)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1103) that would amend section 129 of title 10, United States Code, to clarify that civilian personnel of the Department of Defense may not be managed on the basis of man-years, end strength, or full-time equivalent positions, or maximum number of employees, and instead will be managed based on the total force management policies and procedures established under section 129a of title 10, United States Code, the workload required to carry out the functions and activities of the Department, and the funds made available to the Department for each fiscal year.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would prohibit the Secretary of Defense from managing Department of Defense civilian personnel primarily on the basis of man-years or end strength.

One-year extension of temporary authority to grant allowances, benefits, and gratuities to civilian personnel on official duty in a combat zone (sec. 1104)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1103) that would extend by 1 year the discretionary authority of the head of a Federal agency to provide allowances, benefits, and gratuities comparable to those provided to members of the Foreign Service to the agency’s civilian employees on official duty in a combat zone.

The House bill contained an identical provision (sec.1104).

The conference agreement contains this provision.

One-year extension of authority to waive annual limitation on premium pay and aggregate limitation on pay for Federal civilian employees working overseas (sec. 1105)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1104) that would amend section 1101 of the Duncan Hunter National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2009 (Public Law 110-417), as most recently amended by section 1104 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232), to extend through 2020 the authority of heads of executive agencies to waive limitations on the aggregate of basic and premium pay of employees who perform work in an overseas location that is in the area of responsibility of the commander of U.S. Central Command (CENTCOM), or a location that was formerly in CENTCOM but is now in the area of responsibility
Performance of civilian functions by military personnel (sec. 1106)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1106) that would amend section 129a of title 10, United States Code, to ensure that before the Secretary of a military department directs military personnel to perform the functions of civilian personnel, the military department concerned is in compliance with section 129 of title 10, United States Code.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Extension of direct hire authority for domestic industrial base facilities and Major Range and Test Facilities Base (sec. 1107)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1107) that would amend section 1125 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) to extend the authority of the Secretary of Defense to use direct hire procedures for civilian personnel at domestic defense industrial base facilities and the Major Range and Test Facilities Base until 2025.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees note Section 1111 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) repealed the authority of the Secretaries of the military departments to waive the restriction on the appointment of retired members of the Armed Forces to positions in the civil service in the Department of Defense within 180 days of a servicemember’s retirement based on a state of national emergency.

The conferees remain supportive of this change and note the relevant statute provides a straightforward process to the Secretaries of the military departments in the event that they wish to hire retired servicemembers within the 180-day post-retirement timeframe. The conferees urge the Department of Defense to make full use of the existing, and longstanding, process for hiring recently retired servicemembers, consistent with applicable law, policy, and merit principles.
Authority to provide additional allowances and benefits for certain Defense Clandestine Service employees (sec. 1108)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1108) that would authorize the provision of additional allowances and benefits for certain Defense Intelligence Agency, Defense Clandestine Service employees located in the United States, limited to 125 covered employees per year for locations with living costs determined by the Secretary of Defense to be equal to or higher than the District of Columbia.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Modification of direct hire authorities for the Department of Defense (sec. 1109)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1111) that would amend section 9905 of title 5, United States Code, by consolidating direct hiring authorities for the following positions:

1. scientific, technical, engineering, mathematics positions within the defense acquisition workforce;
2. scientific, technical, engineering, mathematics positions working outside a scientific and technology reinvention laboratory;
3. medical or health professional positions;
4. childcare services positions;
5. financial management, accounting, auditing, actuarial, cost estimation, operational research, or business or business administration positions; and

The consolidation of these direct hiring authorities would sunset on September 30, 2025. In addition, this provision would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Director of the Office of Personnel Management, to contract with a federally funded research and development center and submit a report to Congress by February 1, 2021, on improving competitive hiring at the Department of Defense.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would remove the requirement for the Department of Defense to contract with a Federally Funded Research and Development Center to complete the required report.
Designating certain FEHBP and FEGLI services provided by Federal employees as excepted services under the Anti-Deficiency Act (sec. 1110)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1113) that would amend sections 8905 and 8702 of title 5, United States Code, to designate certain Federal Employees Health Benefits Program (FEHBP) and Federal Employees Group Life Insurance (FEGLI) Program services provided by Federal employees as excepted services under the Anti-Deficiency Act.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Continuing supplemental dental and vision benefits and long-term care insurance coverage during a Government shutdown (sec. 1111)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1114) that would amend sections 8956, 8986, and 9003 of title 5, United States Code, to authorize continuing coverage of supplemental dental and vision benefits and long-term care insurance during a government shutdown.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Limitation on transfer of Office of Personnel Management (sec. 1112)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1116) that would prohibit the President or his designee from transferring, transitioning, merging, or consolidating any functions, responsibilities, information technology systems, staff, resources, or records of the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) with the General Services Administration, the Office of Management and Budget, or the Executive Office of the President.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would direct OPM to contract with the National Academy of Public Administration (NAPA) for the conduct of a comprehensive study and report on the full panoply of OPM missions and functions; the challenges associated with the Office's execution of same; and options and recommended courses of action for addressing those challenges. Not later than 180 days subsequent to its receipt of the NAPA report, OPM would be required to submit to the appropriate Committees of Congress its views on the report, any recommendations for change in the structure, functions, responsibilities, and authorities of OPM, a business case analysis setting forth the operational efficiencies and cost savings associated with any such change, and a proposal for legislative or administrative actions required to effect the change proposed. The amendment would preclude the assignment, transfer, transition, merger, or consolidation of any function, responsibility, authority, service, system, or program assigned in law to OPM, to or with the General Services Administration, the Office of Management and Budget, or the Executive Office of the President, until on or after the date that is 180 days after the date on which OPM submits its views on the NAPA report to Congress, and subject to the enactment of any legislation required.

Assessment of Accelerated Promotion Program suspension (sec. 1113)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1118) that would require the Secretary of the Navy to enter into an agreement with a federally funded research and development center to conduct an assessment of the impacts resulting from the Navy’s suspension in 2016 of the Accelerated Promotion Program.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Reimbursement for Federal, State, and local income taxes incurred during travel, transportation, and relocation (sec. 1114)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1105) that would amend section 5724b of title 5, United States Code, to authorize Federal agencies to reimburse individuals associated with the Federal civil service for all taxes incurred as a result of travel, transportation, or relocation expenses reimbursed, or furnished in-kind, by the agency concerned.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1119).

The House recedes with an amendment that would authorize the Federal agencies to reimburse individuals for taxes incurred on or after January 1, 2018.

Clarification of limitation on expedited hiring authority for post-secondary students (sec. 1115)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1120) that would amend section 3116(d) of title 5, United States Code, to limit the total number of students eligible to be appointed under the expedited hiring authority for post-secondary students to no more than 15 percent of the number of students that the agency head appointed during the previous fiscal year at the GS-11 level or below.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Modification of temporary assignments of Department of Defense employees to a private-sector organization (sec. 1116)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1101) that would amend section 1599g (e)(2)(A) of title 10, United State Code, to allow the Department of Defense to temporarily transfer or reassign other personnel within the Department to perform the normal duties and functions of employees who are participating in a public-private talent exchange.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Extension of authority for part-time reemployment (sec. 1117)

The conference agreement includes a provision that would extend, for 5 years, the authority of federal agencies to reemploy retired federal civilian employees under limited conditions, without offset of annuity against salary, for certain specified purposes.

SUBTITLE B—FAIR CHANCE ACT

Short title (sec. 1121-1124)

The House amendment contained several provisions (sec. 1131 through sec. 1134) that would prohibit Federal agencies and contractors from making inquiries regarding a job applicants’ criminal history before extending a conditional offer of employment.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

SUBTITLE C—ATC HIRING REFORM

ATC Hiring Reform (secs. 1131-1135)

The conference agreement includes several provisions
(secs. 1131-1135) that would require the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to give hiring preference to veterans and graduates of FAA Certified Collegiate Training Initiative (CTI) schools and remove the 10 percent limitation between the hiring pools created by the FAA Extension Safety and Security Act of 2016.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Prohibited personnel practices

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1109) that would amend section 2302 of title 5, United States Code, to prohibit Federal employees from discriminating for or against interns or applicants for internships on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or handicapping condition.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Enhancement of antidiscrimination protections for Federal employees

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1110) that would amend section 2301 of title 5, United States Code, to require Federal agencies to display publicly any findings of discrimination or retaliation within the agency concerned. The provision would modify congressional reporting requirements related to Federal employee antidiscrimination and retaliation by authorizing electronic submittal of reports and requiring a report of disciplinary actions initiated against Federal employees as a result of a violation of applicable antidiscrimination or retaliation policies. The provision would also require each Federal agency to establish a discrimination complaint tracking system. The provision would also require notations in employee personnel records of any adverse action taken as a result of an act of discrimination or retaliation. The provision would also require each Federal agency to establish an impartial Equal Employment Opportunity Program that is independent of the agency’s Human Capital or General Counsel and reports directly to the head of the agency. The provision would also require the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to refer any findings of discrimination or retaliation within a Federal agency to the Office of Special Counsel within 30 days.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Permitted disclosures by whistleblowers
The House amendment contained a provision that would amend section 2302(b)(8)(B) of title 5, United States Code, to permit whistleblowers to report fraud, waste, or abuse to the Inspector General of an agency, a supervisor in the employee's direct chain of command, or to an employee designated to receive such disclosures.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

_interim stay authority to protect whistleblowers_

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1115) that would authorize the General Counsel of the Merit Systems Protection Board to order a 45-day stay of any personnel action, given grounds to believe the action is a prohibited personnel practice (including agency reprisal against a whistleblower). The General Counsel could take such action during the period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act and ending on the first day thereafter that an individual is confirmed by the Senate as a member of the Board. Further, under circumstances in which the Board lacks the number of properly appointed members required to comprise a quorum, any remaining member of the Board would be authorized to execute certain Board functions.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

_review of standard occupational classification system_

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1117) that would require the Director of the Office of Management and Budget to categorize public safety telecommunicators as a protective service occupation under the Standard Occupational Classification System.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

TITLE XII—MATTERS RELATING TO FOREIGN NATIONS

SUBTITLE A—ASSISTANCE AND TRAINING

Modification of authority to build capacity of foreign security forces (sec. 1201)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1201) that would modify section 333 of title 10, United States Code, to clarify the eligibility of support for international coalition operations as well as modify the congressional notification requirements for support provided pursuant to such section.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Modification and extension of cross servicing agreements for loan of personnel protection and personnel survivability equipment in coalition operations (sec. 1202)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1202) that would extend the authority for cross-servicing agreements for loan of personnel protection and survivability equipment in coalition operations in Afghanistan through 2024.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1202) that would extend section 1207 of the Carl Levin and Howard P. "Buck" McKeon National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015 (Public Law 113-291) through December 31, 2024. This authority allows the Secretary of Defense, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, to loan personnel protection and personnel survivability equipment to military forces of other nations for their use in coalition operations with the United States as part of a contingency operation or a peacekeeping operation under the United Nations Charter or another international agreement.

The Senate recedes.

Modifications of authorities relating to acquisition and cross-servicing agreements (sec. 1203)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1282) that would amend section 2342 of title 10, United States Code relating to acquisition and cross-servicing agreements (ACSA). Specifically, the provision would include new requirements for reimbursement for cost of logistic support, supplies, and services pursuant to such section. The provision would also add new requirements for designation of a non-NATO country under such section by the Secretary of Defense as well as add new oversight and monitoring responsibilities to the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy and to the Director of the Defense Security Cooperation Agency. The provision would also require the Secretary to prescribe regulations regarding ACSA and direct the Comptroller General of the United States to conduct a review of the implementation by the Secretary of such regulations.
Lastly, the provision would modify the annual reporting requirements required under such section.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that clarifies the requirements in section 2342 of title 10, United States Code for designation of a non-NATO country under such section by the Secretary of Defense. Further, the amendment adds a requirement for the Secretary to designate an existing senior civilian or military official with primary responsibility for oversight and management of ACSA. Lastly, the provision clarifies the annual reporting requirements required under such section.

Modification of quarterly report on obligation and expenditure of funds for security cooperation programs and activities (sec. 1204)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1204) that would amend section 381(b) of title 10, United States Code, to change the deadline for submission of the quarterly report on the use of security cooperation funds from 30 days after the end of each calendar quarter to 60 days after the end of each calendar quarter.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1203) that would modify the quarterly reporting requirement on obligation and expenditure of funds for security cooperation programs and activities from 30 days after the calendar quarter to 60 days.

The Senate recedes.

Gender perspectives and participation by women in security cooperation activities (sec. 1205)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1204) that would modify section 333 of title 10, United States Code, to require the inclusion of gender perspectives and meaningful participation by women.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would encourage, consistent with the Women, Peace, and Security Act of 2017 (Public Law 115-68), the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to incorporate gender perspectives and participation by women in security cooperation activities to the maximum extent practicable.

Plan to provide consistency of administration of authorities relating to vetting of units of security forces of foreign countries; modification of assessment, monitoring, and evaluation of security cooperation programs and activities (sec. 1206)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1206) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State, to jointly develop, implement, and submit to the appropriate congressional committees, a plan to provide consistency in administration of section 362 of title 10, United States Code, and section 620M of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2378d).

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Extension of authority for support of special operations for irregular warfare (sec. 1207)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1201) that would extend for 5 years section 1202 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91).

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1208) that would extend for 3 years section 1202 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018.

The Senate recedes.

Extension and modification of Commanders' Emergency Response Program and elimination of certain payments to redress injury and loss (sec. 1208)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1213) that would extend the authorization for the Commanders' Emergency Response Program in Afghanistan through December 31, 2020, and would authorize $5.0 million for use during calendar year 2020.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would authorize $2.5 million for the Commanders' Emergency Response Program, and eliminate the authority for certain payments to redress injury and loss in Afghanistan, Iraq, Syria, Somalia, Libya, and Yemen, which is addressed elsewhere in this act.

Two-year extension of program authority for Global Security Contingency Fund (sec. 1209)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1203) that would amend section 1207 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012 (22 U.S.C. 2151) to extend for 2 years the funding for the Global Security Contingency Fund. The Senate bill contained another provision (sec. 6203) that would add an exception to the funds, allowing amounts appropriated and transferred to the Fund before September 30, 2019, to remain available for obligation and expenditure after that date, but only for programs under subsection (b).

The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Legal institutional capacity building initiative for foreign defense institutions (sec. 1210)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1205) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to carry out, consistent with section 332 of title 10, United States Code, a program of legal institutional capacity building with one or more foreign countries to enhance the capacity to organize and administer the legal institutions of such country or countries. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would modify the elements of the authorized initiative as well the annual reporting requirements.

Department of Defense support for stabilization activities in national security interest of the United States (sec. 1210A)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1206) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State and in consultation with the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development, to provide certain support for the stabilization activities of other Federal agencies. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would modify the types and amounts of support authorized to be provided as well as the countries in which such support may be provided.

SUBTITLE B—MATTERS RELATING TO AFGHANISTAN AND PAKISTAN

Extension of authority to transfer defense articles and provide defense services to the military and security forces of Afghanistan (sec. 1211)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1211) that would extend the authority to transfer defense articles and provide defense services to the military and security forces of Afghanistan through December 31, 2021.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1213) that would extend the authority through December 31, 2022.

The Senate recedes.

Extension and modification of authority to acquire products and services produced in countries along a major route of supply to Afghanistan (sec. 1212)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 804) that would extend the authority under section 801(f) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2010 (Public Law 111-84) for the acquisition of products and services produced in countries along a major route of supply to Afghanistan through December 31, 2021.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1214) that would extend this authority through December 31, 2021 and require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report on the use of the authority.

The Senate recedes.

Authority for certain payments to redress injury and loss (sec. 1213)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1215) that would authorize $5.0 million from the Office of the Secretary of Defense under the Operation and Maintenance, Defense-wide account, for ex gratia payments for damage, personal injury, or death that is incident to combat operations of the United States Armed Forces in certain countries, through December 31, 2020.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would authorize $3.0 million for this authority for each calendar year through December 31, 2022 and strike the specific country designations.

Extension and modification of semiannual report on enhancing security and stability in Afghanistan (sec. 1214)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6217) that would amend section 1225(b) of the Carl Levin and Howard P. “Buck” McKeon National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015 (Public Law 113-291) to incorporate the August 2017 Strategy of the United States into the reporting requirement and require an assessment of the United States counterterrorism mission, Department of Defense efforts in support of reconciliation, and the expansion of the Afghan Government’s reach throughout Afghanistan.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1216) that would extend the report through December 15, 2022 and modify certain elements.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the report include the assessment of the United States counterterrorism mission and efforts to support reconciliation and expand the reach of the Government of Afghanistan throughout Afghanistan.

Special Immigrant Visa Program reporting requirement (sec. 1215)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1217) that would require the Inspector General of the Department of State to submit a report that evaluates the obstacles to effective protection of Afghan and Iraqi allies through the Special Immigrant Visa Program and suggestions for improvements in future programs.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Meaningful inclusion of Afghan women in peace negotiations (sec. 1216)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6215) that would require the Secretary of State, in coordination with the Secretary of Defense, to carry out activities to ensure the meaningful participation of Afghan women in the ongoing peace process in Afghanistan consistent with the Women, Peace, and Security Act of 2017 (22 U.S.C. 2151 note; Public Law 115-68), and to submit a report to the appropriate congressional committees on such activities.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1218) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to seek to ensure the meaningful participation of Afghan women in the ongoing peace process in Afghanistan, consistent with Public Law 115-68.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of State, in coordination with the Secretary of Defense, to advocate for the inclusion of Afghan women in ongoing and future negotiations to end the conflict in Afghanistan.

Extension and modification of authority for reimbursement of certain coalition nations for support provided to United States military operations (sec. 1217)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1214) that would extend the authority for reimbursement of certain coalition nations for support provided to United States military operations through December 31, 2020. The provision would also eliminate reimbursements for Pakistan under this authority, as reimbursements for Pakistan’s efforts to sustain security along its border with Afghanistan are already authorized under section 1213 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232).

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1211) that would extend the authority through December 31, 2020. The House recedes with an amendment that would authorize $450.0 million for use under this authority.

Support for reconciliation activities led by the Government of Afghanistan (sec. 1218)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1215) that would authorize the Department of Defense, with the concurrence of the Department of State, to provide support for local level, Government of Afghanistan-led reconciliation activities with the Taliban.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a clarifying amendment. The conferees note that this provision does not authorize direct reimbursements to members or elements of the Taliban.

Modification and Extension of the Afghan Special Immigrant Visa Program (sec. 1219)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1216) that would express support for the Special Immigrant Visa Program for Afghan allies.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1212) that would modify and extend the Afghan Allies Protection Act of 2009 (Public Law 111-8) by adjusting the number of visas available and individual eligibility requirements. It would not modify the length of employment or security criteria that an applicant must meet.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would make an additional 4,000 visas available through the Afghan Special Immigrant Visa Program.

SUBTITLE C—MATTERS RELATING TO SYRIA, IRAQ, AND IRAN
Modification of authority and limitation on use of funds to provide assistance to counter the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (sec. 1221)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1222) that would extend the authority to provide assistance to counter the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria under section 1236 of the Carl Levin and Howard P. “Buck” National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015 (Public Law 113-291) through December 31, 2021, and provide $645 million for use under the authority. Additionally, the section would limit certain funds under this authority until the Secretary of Defense submits a report to the congressional defense committees.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1221) that would provide $663 million for use under the authority, modify existing report requirements, and make clarifying and technical corrections. Additionally, the provision would limit certain funds under this authority until the Secretary of Defense submits a report on the use of the authority and other matters.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would extend the authority and modify associated reporting requirements.

The conferees note the importance of an all-of-government approach in securing the lasting defeat of the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria, extinguishing the drivers of future insurgency and instability, and advancing U.S. interests in Iraq. The conferees believe that non-military lines of effort must be appropriately resourced and staffed for the U.S. strategy for Iraq to be successful.

Extension and modification of authority to provide assistance to the vetted Syrian groups and individuals (sec. 1222)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1221) that would modify section 1209 of the Carl Levin and Howard P. “Buck” McKeon National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015 (FY 2015 NDAA (Public Law 113-291)) by extending the authority to provide assistance to vetted Syrian groups through 2020. The provision would additionally modify the authority to support the temporary detention and repatriation of Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS) foreign terrorist fighters in accordance with the Laws of Armed Conflict and Geneva Conventions. The provision would also expand certain reporting requirements.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1222) that would extend and modify section 1209 of the FY 2015 NDAA by extending the authority to support vetted Syrian opposition through December 30, 2020.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would modify the purposes of the authority. Further, the amendment would modify the notification before provision of assistance, the matters to be included in quarterly progress reports, the authority to accept contributions, and the limitation on the cost of construction and repair projects. Finally, the amendment would place a limitation on the obligation of funds pending submission of the first quarterly report.

Modification of authority to support operations and activities of the Office of Security Cooperation in Iraq (sec. 1223)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1223) that would extend the authorization for the Office of Security Cooperation in Iraq through fiscal year 2020 and would amend the Office’s authority to support security cooperation activities in Iraq. The provision would reduce the funds available for this authority from $45.3 million to $30.0 million.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1223) that would extend the authority for the Office of Security Cooperation in Iraq through fiscal year 2020. The provision would also limit the amount of authorized funds available to be obligated or expended to not more than 50 percent until the Secretary of Defense certifies that certain reforms are completed.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would combine the two provisions and make technical edits.

The conferees note the challenges attendant in effective security cooperation and believe the Department should seek to staff security cooperation offices with more foreign area officers, particularly in the U.S. Central Command area of responsibility.

Establishing a coordinator for detained ISIS members and relevant displaced populations in Syria (sec. 1224)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1224) that would require the President, in consultation with the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, the Director of National Intelligence, and the Attorney General, to designate an existing official within the Executive Branch as senior-level coordinator to coordinate all matters for the United States Government relating to the long-term disposition of members of the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS) and associated forces.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1036).
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require, not later than 60 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President, in consultation with the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, the Director of National Intelligence, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Attorney General, to submit to appropriate committees of Congress a report identifying whether there exists a senior-level coordinator for all matters for the United States Government relating to ISIS members in the custody of Syrian Democratic Forces. If the President is unable to identify a senior-level coordinator for such matters, the President, in consultation with the officials enumerated above, shall designate an existing official within the executive branch to serve in that capacity. The amendment further provides that not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and not less frequently than once each year thereafter through January 31, 2021, the senior-level coordinator shall submit to appropriate committees of Congress a detailed report on certain high-value ISIS detainees.

The conferees believe that the coordinator identified pursuant to this provision should be empowered by the President and of sufficient seniority to adequately leverage and coordinate the expertise and capabilities of the State Department, Department of Defense, Department of Justice, Department of Treasury, intelligence community, and other relevant entities engaged in the repatriation, transfer, and prosecution of members of ISIS.

Report on lessons learned from efforts to liberate Mosul and Raqqah from control of the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (sec. 1225)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1225) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on lessons learned from coalition operations to liberate Mosul, Iraq, and Raqqah, Syria, from control of the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Expansion of availability of financial assets of Iran to victims of terrorism (sec. 1226)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1225) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on lessons learned from coalition operations to liberate Mosul, Iraq, and Raqqah, Syria, from control of the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
availability of financial assets of Iran to victims of terrorism.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Report on the status of deconfliction channels with Iran (sec. 1227)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1228) that would require, not later than 30 days after the enactment of this Act, the President to submit a report on the status of deconfliction channels with Iran.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Prohibition on provision of weapons and other forms of support to certain organizations (sec. 1228)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1224) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act or otherwise made available for the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2020 to provide weapons or any form of support to al-Qaeda, the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria, Jabhat Fateh al Sham, any individual or group associated with these organizations, or any entity the Secretary of Defense determined may trade or sell arms to terrorist organizations.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that adds Hamas, Hizballah, Palestine Islamic Jihad, al-Shabaab, and Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps to the list of organizations to which the provision of weapons or any form of support is proscribed.

SUBTITLE D—MATTERS RELATING TO THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION

Extension of limitation on military cooperation between the United States and Russia (sec. 1231)

The Senate bill contained provisions (sec. 1233 and sec. 6210) that would extend through fiscal year 2020 the prohibition established in section 1232 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) as most recently amended by the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232), which prohibits funds authorized to be appropriated for the Department of Defense from being used for bilateral military-to-military cooperation between the United States and the Russian Federation without certain certifications by the Secretary of Defense, made in coordination with the Secretary of State, or unless certain waiver conditions are met.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1232) that would extend through fiscal year 2020 the prohibition established in section 1232 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328).

The Senate recedes.

The conferees note that, as established in Section 1232, nothing in the limitation shall be construed to limit bilateral military-to-military dialogue between the United States and the Russian Federation for the purpose of reducing the risk of conflict.

Prohibition on availability of funds relating to sovereignty of Russia over Crimea (sec. 1232)

The Senate bill contained two provisions (sec. 1231 and sec. 6231) that would prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act for fiscal year 2020 for the Department of Defense to be obligated or expended to implement any activity that recognizes the sovereignty of the Russian Federation over Crimea. The provisions would also prohibit the Department to otherwise implement any such activity.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1233) that would prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2020 for the Department of Defense to be obligated or expended to implement any activity that recognizes the sovereignty of Russia over Crimea.

The House recedes with an amendment that would prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2020 for the Department of Defense to be obligated or expended to implement any activity that recognizes the sovereignty of Russia over Crimea. The amendment would allow the Secretary of Defense, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, to waive the prohibition if the Secretary: determines that a waiver is in the national security interest of the United States; and on the date on which the waiver is invoked, submits a notification of the waiver and a justification of the reason for seeking the waiver to specified congressional committees.

Sense of Congress on updating and modernizing existing agreements to avert miscalculation between the United States and Russia (sec. 1233)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1236) that would express the sense of the Congress that the Secretary of Defense and Secretary of State should explore steps for updating and modernizing existing agreements between the United States and Russia to avert the risk of miscalculation and unintended escalation.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of the Congress that: (1) conventional arms control and confidence and security building measures have played an important role in helping to increase military transparency and reduce the risk of miscalculation; (2) Russia’s violations of the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Georgia and Ukraine, and Russia’s ongoing destabilizing and aggressive behavior, have undermined peace, security, and stability in Europe and beyond; (3) Russia’s unilateral suspension and violation of the Treaty on Conventional Armed Forces in Europe, done at Vienna November 19, 1990, and entered into force November 9, 1992, and selective implementation of the Vienna Document of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe 2011 have contributed to a greater risk of miscalculation; (4) Russia’s unsafe and unprofessional interactions with United States aircraft and vessels are contrary to the spirit of specified existing agreements and erode military transparency, predictability, and trust; (5) the United States remains committed to upholding its current treaty obligations and commitments with respect to conventional arms control and confidence and security building measures; and (6) the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State should explore options, as practicable, for updated or new frameworks for increasing military transparency, stability, and reducing the risk of miscalculation, including through enhanced diplomatic engagement and military-to-military dialogue.

United States participation in Open Skies Treaty (sec. 1234)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1242) that would realign the requirement contained in section 1235(a) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91) from fiscal year to calendar year. The provision would also reduce the frequency of the reporting requirement in section 1236 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) from quarterly to annual.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1231) that would make a series of findings and express the sense of Congress relating to the Open Skies Treaty. The provision would also prohibit the obligation or expenditure of any funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act for the Department of Defense to take any action to suspend, terminate, or withdraw the United States from the treaty. This prohibition would not apply if the Secretary of Defense and Secretary of State jointly certify that Russia is in material breach of its obligations under the treaty, and that all other states parties to the treaty concur with this assessment; or, that withdrawing from the treaty is in the best interests of U.S. national security and all other states parties have been consulted with respect to this decision. The provision would also repeal the limitation on the use of funds to vote to approve or otherwise adopt an implementing decision of the Open Skies Consultative Commission in section 1236 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017. The provision would also modify the reporting requirement in section 1236 to include assessments of data collected on U.S. observation flights under the treaty, and reduce the reporting frequency from quarterly to biannual. Finally, the provision would make the same realignment to section 1235(a) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 but would change the report to a briefing.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would strike the findings, sense of Congress, and prohibition on obligation or expenditure of funds for suspension, termination, or withdraw from the treaty, and replace with a requirement to notify the appropriate congressional committees no less than 120 days before such actions. The amendments would also reduce the frequency of the section 1236 reporting requirement from quarterly to annual, and retain the section 1235(a) requirement for a report instead of a briefing.

Modifications of briefing, notification, and reporting requirements relating to non-compliance by the Russian Federation with its obligations under the INF Treaty (sec. 1235)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1237) that would terminate four recurring reporting requirements relating to the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty if the treaty is no longer in force.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Report on treaties relating to nuclear arms control (sec. 1236)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1235) that would note that the Committees on Armed Services and Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives sent a letter to the Secretary of Defense in October 2018 requesting information on several aspects of U.S. policy related to nuclear arms control, and that the Secretary of Defense did not respond to that letter. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Director of National Intelligence, to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on similar subjects. The provision would withhold 20 percent of funds authorized to be appropriated for operations and maintenance, defense-wide, for the Office of the Secretary of Defense for travel until such report is submitted.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees believe that reliable communication between the congressional defense committees and the Department is essential for the conduct of effective oversight.

Reports relating to the New START Treaty (sec. 1237)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1240A) that would express the sense of Congress that the United States should seek to extend New START, and prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated for the Department of Defense by this Act for any actions to withdraw from the treaty. The provision would also require the Director of National Intelligence, the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of Defense to each submit several reports to the appropriate congressional committees on subjects relating to the treaty and its potential expiration.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would strike the prohibition on the use of funds, express the sense of Congress that legally binding, verifiable limits on Russian strategic nuclear forces are in the national security interest of the United States, and modify the number and required elements of the reports.

Report on military activities of the Russian Federation and the People’s Republic of China in the Arctic region (sec. 1238)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6214) that would require not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Director of National Intelligence, to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the activities of the Russian Federation and the People’s Republic of China in the Arctic region.
The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment containing technical clarifications.

Updated strategy to counter the threat of malign influence by the Russian Federation and other countries (sec. 1239)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6216) that would require the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State to jointly update the comprehensive strategy to counter the threat of malign influence developed pursuant to section 1239A of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91; 131 Stat. 1667) and to submit a report detailing the updated strategy to the appropriate congressional committees not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

SUBTITLE E—MATTERS RELATING TO EUROPE AND NATO

Sense of Congress on support for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (sec. 1241)

The Senate bill contained multiple provisions (sec. 1244 - 1246) that would express the sense of the Senate regarding the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and European security matters.

The House amendment contained multiple similar provisions (sec. 1237, 1238, 1254, 1257, and 1261).

The House recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of the Congress that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is the most successful military alliance in history, founded on the principles of democracy, individual liberty, and the rule of law, and its contributions to the collective defense are indispensable to the security, prosperity, and freedom of its members. The amendment would also express that the United States must remain ironclad in its commitment to uphold its obligations under the North Atlantic Treaty, including Article 5 of such treaty.

Prohibition on the use of funds to suspend, terminate, or provide notice of denunciation of the North Atlantic Treaty (sec. 1242)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1232) that would prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act to be obligated, expended, or reprogrammed for the withdrawal of the United States Armed Forces from Europe during the 1-year period beginning on the date that the President should ever provide notice of withdrawal of the United States from the North Atlantic Treaty, done at Washington, D.C. on April 4, 1949, pursuant to Article 13 of the treaty.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1260A) that would make a series of findings related to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), state the policy of the United States with respect to NATO, and prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated, obligated, or expended to take any action to withdraw the United States from the North Atlantic Treaty, done at Washington, D.C. on April 4, 1949.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would provide that, notwithstanding any other provision of law, no funds may be obligated, expended, or otherwise made available during the period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act and ending on December 31, 2020, to take any action to suspend, terminate, or provide notice of denunciation of the North Atlantic Treaty, done at Washington, D.C. on April 4, 1949. The conferees strongly support membership in NATO, the most successful military alliance in history, as a cornerstone of the security and national defense of the United States.

The conferees affirm the ironclad commitment of the United States to uphold its obligations under the North Atlantic Treaty, including under Article 5 of such treaty. Therefore, the conferees oppose in the strongest possible terms any action to effectuate withdrawal of the United States from NATO, including suspension, termination, or denunciation of the North Atlantic Treaty.

Future years plans and planning transparency for European Deterrence Initiative (sec. 1243)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1241) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Commander of the United States European Command, to submit to the congressional defense committees a future years plan on activities and resources of the European Deterrence Initiative (EDI) for fiscal year 2020 and not fewer than the 4 succeeding fiscal years.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1252) that would require an annual “Future Years Plan” for EDI as previously required by section 1237(a) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91), and require the Department’s budget request materials for EDI to include a display that clearly and concisely communicates to Congress, at an appropriate level of detail, which budget lines constitute EDI.

The House amendment also contained a provision (sec. 1253) that would require a congressional report for each obligation of EDI funds above a threshold of $10.0 million and a report at the end of each fiscal year detailing how EDI funds were spent during the fiscal year in comparison to their intended uses.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit to the congressional defense committees a future years plan on activities and resources of EDI for fiscal year 2020 and not fewer than the 4 succeeding fiscal years. The amendment would also require, not later than the date on which the Secretary of Defense submits to Congress the budget request for the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2021 and each fiscal year after thereafter, the Secretary to submit to the congressional defense committees a future years plan on activities and resources of EDI for such fiscal year and not fewer than the four succeeding fiscal years. The amendment would also require an annual report on the obligation of EDI funds in a given fiscal year.

Modification and extension of Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative (sec. 1244)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1234) that would extend through December 31, 2022, the authority under section 1250 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92), as amended by section 1246 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232), for the Secretary of Defense, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, to provide security assistance, including defensive lethal assistance, and intelligence support to military and other security forces of the Government of Ukraine. The provision would also add coastal defense cruise missiles and anti-ship missiles to the categories of appropriate security assistance and intelligence support. The provision would authorize up to $300.0 million in fiscal year 2020 to provide security assistance to Ukraine, of which $100.0 million would be available only for lethal assistance.

The House amendment contained a similar provision that would authorize $250.0 million for the Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative. The provision would also require concurrence by the Secretary of State in the provision of assistance.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would authorize $300.0 million for the Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative, of which $50.0 million would be available only for lethal assistance. The amendment would add coastal defense cruise missiles and anti-ship missiles to the categories of appropriate security assistance and intelligence support. The amendment would also require concurrence by the Secretary of State in the provision of assistance and extend the authority to December 31, 2022.

Limitation on transfer of F-35 aircraft to Turkey (sec. 1245)

The Senate bill contained provisions (sec. 1236, 6218, and 6236) that would, among other things, place limitations on the transfer of F-35 aircraft to the territory of the Republic of Turkey, provide a waiver to such limitations subject to a certification of certain conditions met by the Government of Turkey, and express the sense of the Senate regarding the Government of Turkey’s purchase of the S-400 air defense system.

The House amendment contained similar provisions (sec. 1255 and 1267) that would, among other things, place limitations on the transfer of F-35 aircraft to Turkey, provide a waiver to such limitations subject to a certification of certain conditions met by the Government of Turkey, and express the sense of Congress on Turkey’s potential acquisition of the Patriot system from the United States.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would provide that none of the funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for the Department of Defense may be used to do the following, and the Department may not otherwise do the following: transfer, facilitate the transfer, or authorize the transfer of, any F-35 aircraft or related support equipment or parts to Turkey; transfer intellectual property, technical data, or material support necessary for, or related to, any maintenance or support of the F-35 aircraft necessary to establish Turkey’s indigenous F-35 capability; or construct a storage facility for, or otherwise facilitate the storage in Turkey of, any F-35 aircraft transferred to Turkey. The amendment would allow the Secretary of Defense, jointly with the Secretary of State, to waive such limitation if the Secretaries submit to the appropriate committees of Congress a written certification that contains a determination by the Secretaries, and any relevant documentation on which the determination is based, that the Government of Turkey, having previously accepted delivery of the S-400 air and missile defense system from the Russian Federation: no longer possesses the S-400 air and missile defense system or any other equipment, materials, or personnel association with such system; has provided credible assurances that the Government of Turkey will not in the future accept delivery of such system; and has not, since July 31, 2019, purchased or accepted delivery of defense equipment from the Russian Federation in addition to the S-400 air and missile defense system that would increase the risk of compromising the capabilities of the F-35 aircraft and its associated systems. The amendment would not allow the Secretary of Defense and Secretary of State to waive the limitation until 90 days after the date on which the Secretaries submit the required certification. The amendment would also express the sense of Congress that, among other things, the acceptance of the S-400 air and missile defense system by Turkey constitutes a significant transaction within the meaning of section 231(a) of the Countering Russian Influence in Europe and Eurasia Act of 2017 (Public Law 115-44). The amendment would further express that the President should implement sanctions under section 235 of that Act with respect to any individual or entity determined to have engaged in such significant transaction as if such person were a sanctioned person for purposes of such section. The amendment would also authorize the Secretary of Defense to fly up to six Turkish F-35 aircraft to a storage location in the United States and to induct these aircraft into a long-term storage condition. The amendment would further authorize the Secretary of Defense to expend up to $30.0 million of funds authorized to be appropriated for fiscal year 2020 for the Department of Defense to conduct activities associated with storage, preservation, and developing a plan for the final disposition of such F-35 aircraft and Turkish F-35 aircraft equipment. The amendment would also require a report and notification of expenditure of funds under specified conditions.

Baltic defense assessment; extension and modification of security assistance for Baltic countries for joint program for interoperability and deterrence against aggression (sec. 1246)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1238) that would amend section 1279D of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91) by modifying and extending the authority of the Secretary of Defense, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, to conduct or support a single joint program of the Baltic nations to improve interoperability and build their capacity to deter and resist aggression by the Russian Federation. The provision would modify the authority by: adding command, control, communications, computers, intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance equipment to defense articles and services eligible for a joint program; increasing the total amount of assistance that may be provided under the authority to $125.0 million; requiring that the amount of assistance provided may not exceed the aggregate amount contributed to the joint program by the Baltic nations; and extending the date of termination of the authority to December 31, 2022. The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1260B) that would modify and extend the authority by: adding intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance equipment to defense articles and services eligible for a joint program, increasing the amount of assistance to $125.0 million; extending the date to December 31, 2021; and requiring a report on the use of funding.

The House amendment also contained provisions (secs. 1271-1274) that would establish findings with regard to the Baltic nations; express the sense of the Congress that the United States is committed to the security of the Baltic nations; and require the Secretary of Defense and Secretary of State to jointly conduct an assessment of the military requirements of the Baltic countries to deter and resist aggression by Russia and to submit a report related to such assessment.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would combine both the Senate and House sections to extend and modify the authority to conduct or support a single joint program of the Baltic nations. The amendment would also require the defense assessment as provided in the House amendment.

Extension of authority for and report on training for Eastern European national security forces in the course of multilateral exercises (sec. 1247)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1235) that would extend through December 31, 2022, the authority provided in section 1251 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92), as amended by section 1205 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91), for the Secretary of Defense, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, to provide multilateral or regional training, and pay the incremental expenses of participating in such training, for countries in Eastern Europe that are signatories to the Partnership for Peace Framework Documents but not members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) or that became NATO members after January 1, 1999.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would extend the authority for training Eastern European national security forces in the course of multilateral exercises through December 31, 2021. Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the amendment would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Commander of United States European Command, to submit to the congressional defense committees a report on the authority.

Extension and modification of NATO Special Operations Headquarters (sec. 1248)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1281) that would extend for 5 years the authority established in section 1244 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2010 (Public Law 111-84), as most recently amended by section 1280 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92).

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1251) that would extend through fiscal year 2023 section 1244 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2010 (Public Law 111-84), as most recently amended by section 1280 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92), for the NATO Special Operations Headquarters (NSHQ) and also limit funding for the NSHQ until the Secretary of Defense, acting through the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict, provides a report on the decision to realign responsibilities for overseeing and supporting NSHQ from U.S. Special Operations Command to U.S. European Command.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

North Atlantic Treaty Organization Joint Force Command (sec. 1249)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6213) that would authorize the establishment of, and participation of members of the armed forces in, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Joint Force Command, including the use of Department of Defense facilities and equipment as well as funds authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2020.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would make available amounts authorized to be appropriated to the Department of Defense to support the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Joint Force Command to be established in the United States.
Report on North Atlantic Treaty Organization Readiness Initiative (sec. 1250)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec.1239) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Readiness Initiative not later than October 1, 2020.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Repeal of prohibition on transfer of articles on the United States Munitions List to the Republic of Cyprus (sec. 1250A)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6204) that would, among other things, make a series of changes to allow for the export, re-export, and the transfer of defense articles and defense services, including those subject to the United States Munitions List, to the Republic of Cyprus if the President determines and certifies to the appropriate congressional committees not less than annually that: the Government of the Republic of Cyprus is continuing to cooperate with the United States Government in efforts to implement reforms on anti-money laundering regulations and financial regulatory oversight; and the Government of the Republic of Cyprus has made and is continuing to take the steps necessary to deny Russian military vessels access to ports for refueling and servicing.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1270I).

The House recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of Congress that: allowing for the export, re-export or transfer of arms subject to the United States Munitions List to the Republic of Cyprus would advance United States security interests in Europe by helping to reduce the dependence of the Government of the Republic of Cyprus on other countries, including countries that pose challenges to United States interests around the world, for defense-related materiel; and it is in the interest of the United States to continue to support United Nations-facilitated efforts toward a comprehensive solution to the division of Cyprus.

SUBTITLE F—MATTERS RELATING TO THE INDO-PACIFIC REGION

Modification of Indo-Pacific Maritime Security Initiative (sec. 1251)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1241) that would modify the authority for the Indo-Pacific Maritime Security Initiative to include additional elements of assistance and training, require additional information for congressional notifications, mandate an annual report, and incorporate an assessment, monitoring, and evaluation program. The provision would also require a one-time report on the initiative.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would, among other modifications, make clarifying changes to the required annual report on the initiative and strike the requirement for a one-time report. The conferees note that units to receive assistance under the Indo-Pacific Maritime Security Initiative undergo required “Leahy Law” human rights vetting before such assistance is provided.

Expansion of Indo-Pacific Maritime Security Initiative and limitation on use of funds (sec. 1252)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1252) that would modify section 1263(b) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92) to include as recipient countries for assistance and training under the Indo-Pacific Maritime Security Initiative the following: the Federated States of Micronesia, the Kingdom of Tonga, Papua New Guinea, the Republic of Fiji, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Republic of Palau, the Republic of Vanuatu, and the Solomon Islands.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250A) that would require a report on the current status of security cooperation and assistance with Pacific Island countries and the feasibility of expanding such cooperation and assistance.

The House recedes with an amendment that would include the following as recipient countries under in the initiative: the Federated States of Micronesia, the Independent State of Samoa, the Kingdom of Tonga, Papua New Guinea, the Republic of Fiji, the Republic of Kiribati, the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Republic of Nauru, the Republic of Palau, the Republic of Vanuatu, and the Solomon Islands, and Tuvalu. The amendment would also provide that none of the funds authorized to be appropriated for the initiative shall be used to provide training or assistance to the additional recipient countries until the Secretary of Defense, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State, submits to the appropriate congressional committees a report regarding security cooperation and assistance with such countries.
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1254) that would require the Commander, United States Indo-Pacific Command, to submit to the congressional defense committees a report containing the independent assessment of the Commander with respect to the activities and resources required for fiscal years 2022 through 2026 to achieve certain objectives.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require specific cost estimates, as practicable, to be included in the required assessment. The amendment would clarify the role of elements of the Office of the Secretary of Defense in providing a briefing related to the required assessment. The amendment would also require, not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense, acting through the Office of Net Assessment, to provide the results of a study on at least three possible long-term competitive strategies with respect to the People’s Republic of China with a focus on identifying opportunities to shape strategic competition to the advantage of the United States.

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1251) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act to reduce the total number of members of the Armed Forces in the territory of the Republic of Korea (ROK) below 28,500 until 90 days after the date on which the Secretary of Defense certifies to the congressional defense committees that: such a reduction is in the national security interests of the United States and will not significantly undermine the security of United States allies in the region; such a reduction is commensurate with a reduction in the threat posed to the security of the United States and its allies in the region by the conventional military forces of the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea (DPRK); and the Secretary has appropriately consulted with allies of the United States, including the ROK and Japan, regarding such a reduction.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1243) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act to reduce the number of members of the Armed Forces serving on Active Duty in the Republic of Korea below 28,500 unless the Secretary of Defense first provides certification to the congressional defense committees that such a reduction is in the national security interest of the United States and will not significantly undermine the security of the United States' allies in the region.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act to be used to reduce the total number of members of the Armed Forces serving Active Duty who are deployed to South Korea below 28,500 until 90 days after the date on which the Secretary of Defense certified to the congressional defense committees the following: such a reduction is in the national security interest of the United States and will not significantly undermine the security of United States allies in the region; and the Secretary has appropriately consulted with allies of the United States, including South Korea and Japan, regarding such a reduction.

The conferees recognize that United States military forces deployed on the Korean Peninsula remain vital to deterring, and if necessary, defeating aggression by the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, which continues to threaten the national security interests of the United States and the peace and stability of the Indo-Pacific region through both its conventional forces and weapons of mass destruction. While the conferees support diplomatic efforts to achieve the complete and fully verified denuclearization of the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea, the conferees believe the removal of United States military forces from the Korean Peninsula is a non-negotiable item in such negotiations.

Report on direct, indirect, and burden-sharing contributions of Japan and South Korea (sec. 1255)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1244) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide a report to the congressional defense committees, Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, and House Committee on Foreign Affairs, not later than March 1, 2020, and March 1, 2021, on the direct, indirect, and burden-sharing contributions of Japan and South Korea to support overseas military installations of the United States and U.S. Armed Forces deployed to or permanently stationed in Japan and South Korea.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that, among other changes clarifying the process of preparing and delivering the aforementioned report, would require the Comptroller General of the United States to provide the report to the congressional committees described.
The conferees note that Japan and the Republic of Korea have made significant contributions to common security, including through direct, indirect, and burden-sharing contributions. Therefore, the conferees believe that upcoming negotiations concerning new Special Measures Agreements with Japan and the Republic of Korea should be conducted in a spirit consistent with prior negotiations on the basis of common interest and mutual respect.

Sense of Congress on security commitments to the Governments of Japan and the Republic of Korea and trilateral cooperation among the United States, Japan, and the Republic of Korea (sec. 1256)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1259) that would express the sense of the Senate with respect to security commitments to the Governments of Japan and the Republic of Korea and trilateral cooperation between the United States, Japan, and the Republic of Korea.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of Congress that the United States strongly encourages strengthened bilateral security ties between Japan and the Republic of Korea as well as deeper trilateral defense coordination and cooperation, including through expanded exercises, training, senior-level exchanges, and information sharing. The amendment would also express that the following bilateral and trilateral agreements are critical to regional security, and should be maintained: the bilateral military intelligence-sharing pact between Japan and the Republic of Korea, signed on November 23, 2016; and the trilateral intelligence sharing agreement among the United States, Japan, and the Republic of Korea, signed on December 29, 2015.

Sense of Congress on North Korea (sec. 1257)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250K) that would express the sense of the Congress concerning North Korea and diplomatic efforts to achieve the denuclearization of North Korea.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of Congress that, among other things, a sustained credible diplomatic process based on concrete measures to achieve the denuclearization of North Korea and an eventual end to the Korean War should be pursued. The amendment would also express that continued actions by North Korea that run counter to diplomatic negotiations call into question North Korea’s intentions and commitment to a diplomatic solution.

Statement of policy and sense of Congress on, and strategy to fulfill obligations under, Mutual Defense Treaty with the Republic of the Philippines (sec. 1258)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6201) that would state the policy of the United States that, among other things, an attack on the armed forces, public vessels, or aircraft of the Republic of the Philippines in the Pacific, including the South China Sea, would trigger the mutual defense obligations of the United States under Article IV of the Mutual Defense Treaty between the Republic of the Philippines and the United States of America, done at Washington August 30, 1951, “to meet common dangers in accordance with its constitutional processes”. The provision would also express the sense of the Senate that the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense should: affirm the commitment of the United States to the Mutual Defense Treaty between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines; preserve and strengthen the alliance of the United States with the Republic of the Philippines; prioritize efforts to develop a shared understanding of alliance commitments and defense planning; and provide appropriate support to the Republic of the Philippines to strengthen the self-defense capabilities of the Republic of the Philippines, particularly in the maritime domain.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would include the statement of policy from the Senate provision, express the sense of the Congress with the respect to the objectives of the Secretary of State and Secretary of Defense as described in the Senate provision, and require, not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State, to submit to the appropriate committees of Congress a report that sets forth the strategy of the Department of Defense for achieving such objectives.

Report on security cooperation with the Philippine National Police (sec. 1259)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1245) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State, to provide a report to the congressional defense committees, Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, and House Committee on Foreign Affairs, not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act on the Department of Defense's objectives and strategy for achieving such objectives for the Philippines.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require, not later than 150 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense, in concurrence with the Secretary of State, to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report concerning security sector assistance programs with the Philippine National Police.

Modification of annual report on military and security developments involving the People's Republic of China (sec. 1260)

The House amendment contained two provisions (secs. 1246 and 1247) that would amend section 1202 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2000 (Public Law 106-65) by requiring the Secretary of Defense to consult with the heads of other Federal departments and agencies as appropriate in developing the Annual Report to Congress on Military and Security Developments Involving the People's Republic of China. The provisions would also modify the specified congressional committees that receive the annual report, and add certain elements to the annual report.

The Senate bill contained a similar provision (sec. 1253) that would amend paragraph 26 of section 1202(b) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2000 (Public Law 106-65) by requiring the annual report to address the relationship between Chinese overseas investment, including the Belt and Road Initiative and the Digital Silk Road, and Chinese security and military objectives.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would add certain elements to the annual report.

Report on foreign military activities in Pacific Island countries (sec. 1260A)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250B) that would require, not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence, in coordination with the Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency and the Director of National Intelligence, to submit to the congressional defense committees a report concerning foreign military activities in Pacific Island countries.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Report on cybersecurity activities with Taiwan (sec. 1260B)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250G) that would direct, not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense to submit to the congressional defense committees a report on cybersecurity activities with Taiwan.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Review and report related to the Taiwan Relations Act (sec. 1260C)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6211) that would express the sense of the Congress concerning the Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96-8). The provision would also direct the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to conduct a review of coercive behavior by the Government of the People’s Republic of China directed at Taiwan, as well as the role of United States policy toward Taiwan with respect to the implementation of the 2017 National Security Strategy and the 2018 National Defense Strategy. The provision would direct a report to be delivered to the appropriate committees of Congress on the results of the review.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would make clarifying changes to the content of the required report.

Sense of Congress on enhancement of the United States-Taiwan defense relationship (sec. 1260D)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1257) that would express the sense of the Senate concerning the enhancement of the United States-Taiwan defense relationship.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1248).

The House recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of the Congress that Taiwan is a vital partner of the United States, and that the United States should continue to strengthen defense and security cooperation in support of Taiwan maintaining a sufficient self-defense capability.

In light of the fortieth anniversary of the Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96-8), the conferees encourage the Department of Defense to focus attention and resources on the future of the United States-Taiwan defense relationship, particularly in relation to implementation of the National Defense Strategy and strategic competition with China.

Chinese foreign direct investment in countries of the Arctic region (sec. 1260E)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250J) that would make a series of findings and direct an independent study of Chinese foreign direct investment in countries of the Arctic region, with a focus on the effects of such foreign direct investment on United States national security and near-peer competition in the Arctic region.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the findings in the provision.

Sense of Congress on policy toward Hong Kong (sec. 1260F)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6209) that would express the sense of the Congress regarding United States policy concerning Hong Kong.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of the Congress that, among other things, Congress stands unequivocally with the people of Hong Kong as they defend their rights and freedoms and preserve their autonomy against the People’s Republic of China. The amendment would call for efforts to resolve the remaining demands raised by protestors, who represent a broad cross-section of Hong Kong. The amendment would also express that in the event of use of force by the Government of the People’s Republic of China against protestors in Hong Kong, Congress will recommend swift action by the United States, including: a fundamental reevaluation of the special treatment of Hong Kong under the Hong Kong Policy Act of 1992 (Public Law 102-383) and other United States law; and coordinated actions with like-minded countries to impose meaningful costs on the People’s Republic of China, including the imposition of sanctions, travel restrictions, and other actions against responsible senior officials in the Chinese Communist Party, the People’s Liberation Army, and the People’s Armed Police.

Sense of Congress on enhancing defense and security cooperation with the Republic of Singapore (sec. 1260G)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1261) that would express the sense of the Senate concerning defense and security cooperation with the Republic of Singapore.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1249).

The House recedes with an amendment that would express the sense of the Congress that robust defense and security cooperation between the United States and the Republic of Singapore is crucial to promoting peace and stability in the Indo-Pacific region.

Authority to transfer funds for Bien Hoa dioxin cleanup (sec. 1260H)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1043) that would allow the Secretary of Defense to transfer not more than $15.0 million in fiscal year 2020 to the Secretary of State, for use by the United States Agency for International Development, funds to be used for the Bien Hoa dioxin cleanup in Vietnam.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense to notify the congressional defense committees prior to such a transfer of funds.

Limitation on removal of Huawei Technologies Co. Ltd. from entity list of Bureau of Industry and Security (1260I)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250D) that would prohibit the removal of Huawei Technologies Co. Ltd. from the entity list maintained by the Bureau of Industry and Security until the Secretary of Commerce certifies to Congress that a number of conditions have been met.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would modify the conditions for removal from the entity list and add a reporting requirement for licenses issued for exports to Huawei.

Report on ZTE compliance with Superseding Settlement Agreement and Superseding Order (sec. 1260J)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250C) that would require the President to submit annual reports to Congress on the compliance of Zhongxing Telecommunications Equipment Corporation (ZTE) and ZTE Kangxun Telecommunications Ltd. with the Superseding Settlement Agreement and Superseding Order reached with the Department of Commerce on June 8, 2018.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Report on the lay-down of United States Marines in the Indo-Pacific region (sec. 1260K)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1255) that would require a review of, certification, and report on the current status of the distributed laydown of forces in the Indo-Pacific region in support of the joint statement of the United States-Japan Security Consultative Committee issued April 26, 2012, in the District of Columbia (April 27, 2012, in Tokyo, Japan) and revised on October 3, 2013, in Tokyo. The provision would also require the Comptroller General to submit to the congressional defense committees a report containing an analysis of the current status of the distributed laydown.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would add certain elements of the report to focus its contents on the implementation of the planned distributed lay-down of U.S. Marines in the Indo-Pacific region and strikes the requirement for a Comptroller General report.

The conferees note that nothing in this provision shall be construed to change the current distributed lay-down of U.S. Marines in the Indo-Pacific region or to express support for any such change. Any potential changes to the distributed lay-down should be considered only after consultation and agreement of impacted countries, especially the Government of Japan.

SUBTITLE G—OTHER MATTERS

Modification to report on legal and policy frameworks for the use of military force (sec. 1261)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1262) that would modify section 1264 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91) to require the President to submit an annual report to the appropriate committees of Congress on the legal and policy frameworks for the use of military force and related national security operations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Independent review of sufficiency of resources available to United States Southern Command and United States Africa Command (sec. 1262)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1264) that would direct the Secretary of Defense to seek to enter into a contract with an entity independent of the Department of Defense to conduct an assessment of the sufficiency of resources available to U.S. Southern Command and U.S. Africa Command. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with technical amendment.

United States Central Command posture assessment and review (sec. 1263)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1287) that would mandate a comprehensive United States Central Command (CENTCOM) posture review, which would assess the extent to which the United States possesses the force posture and capabilities for countering threats emanating from and affecting CENTCOM’s area of responsibilities. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense to seek to enter into a contract with a federally funded research and development center to conduct an independent assessment and comprehensive review of United States military force posture and capabilities for countering threats emanating from and affecting CENTCOM’s area of responsibilities.

The conferees note that the United States’ military presence, posture, and basing in the Middle East region was constituted iteratively over decades to support a range of regional partners, operations, tasks, and activities, against an evolving spectrum of threats and contingencies. The conferees are concerned that the proportion of Department of Defense resources deployed to the CENTCOM area of responsibility no longer reflects departmental priorities, as articulated in the National Defense Strategy. Furthermore, the conferees believe CENTCOM must be appropriately postured in order to maintain resilience and deterrence toward regional adversaries whose doctrine and capabilities continue to evolve. However, the conferees believe CENTCOM must pursue a more resource efficient approach in order to support Department-wide efforts to recover readiness, lethality, and strategic competitiveness with Russia and China, in accordance with National Defense Strategy priorities.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1269) that would prohibit the Secretary of State from providing to the President a Nuclear Proliferation Assessment Statement, in accordance with section 123 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2153), with respect to a proposed cooperation agreement with any country that has not signed and implemented an Additional Protocol with the International Atomic Energy Agency. The provision would make an exception for a country that already had in effect an agreement under section 123 as of June 19, 2019. The provision would allow for a waiver of such prohibition if the President submits a report to the appropriate congressional committees, and the Congress enacts a joint resolution of approval of the waiver.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would remove the requirement for a joint resolution of approval of the waiver. The waiver would instead take effect 90 days after the submission of the report to the appropriate congressional committees.

Western hemisphere resource assessment (sec. 1265)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270D) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President, acting through the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, and the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development, to submit a report to the appropriate congressional committees assessing the sufficiency of resources available to the United States Southern Command, United States Northern Command, Department of State, and United States Agency for International Development, to carry out their respective missions in the Western hemisphere.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would modify the elements of the required assessment.

Human rights in Brazil (sec. 1266)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1080) that would require, not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State to jointly submit a report to the appropriate congressional committees that assess the human rights climate in Brazil; whether Brazilian security-force units that are engaged in human rights abuses may have received or purchased United States equipment or training; and a strategy to address the human rights abuses found.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that, among other changes, would require the Secretary of Defense to coordinate with the Secretary of State on the report and add additional elements to the report, including U.S.–Brazil security cooperation and related matters.

Certification relating to assistance for Guatemala (sec. 1267)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270S) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available to transfer or purchase vehicles for any joint task force including the Ministry of Defense or the Ministry of the Interior of Guatemala unless the Secretary of Defense certifies that such ministries have made a credible commitment to use such equipment solely for the purposes intended.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require that prior to the transfer of vehicles by the Department of Defense to a joint task force of the Ministry of Defense or the Ministry of Interior of Guatemala during fiscal year 2020, the Secretary of Defense must certify to the appropriate congressional committees that such ministries have made a credible commitment to use such equipment only for the uses for which they were intended.

Independent analysis of human rights situation in Honduras (sec. 1268)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1286) that would require the Secretary of Defense to enter into an agreement with an independent think tank or a federally funded research and development center to conduct an analysis and assessment of the compliance of the military and security forces of Honduras with international human rights laws and standards.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Briefing on strategy to improve the efforts of the Nigerian military to prevent, mitigate, and respond to civilian harm (sec. 1269)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270E) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on plans to assist the Nigerian military in improving its efforts to prevent, mitigate, and respond to civilian harm arising from its military presence and operations. The provision would also require the President to provide annual updates on progress made with respect to the plan contained in such report.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State to jointly provide a briefing to specified congressional committees on the current strategy to improve defense institutions and security sector forces in Nigeria.

The conferees expect the briefing to discuss steps, if any, that the Departments are taking to increase the ability of the Nigerian military to minimize civilian harm when using equipment provided by the United States, to include the A-29 Super Tucano and related munitions.

Report on implications of Chinese military presence in Djibouti (sec. 1270)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270K) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report containing a comprehensive strategy to address security concerns posed by the Chinese People’s Liberation Army Support Base in Djibouti to United States military installations and logistics chains in sub-Saharan Africa and the Middle East.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Rule of construction on the permanent stationing of United States Armed Forces in Somalia (sec. 1271)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270T) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act or otherwise made available to the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2020 to establish any military installation or base for the purpose of providing for the permanent stationing of United States Armed Forces in Somalia.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to include a rule of construction that states that nothing in this Act may be construed to authorize the permanent stationing of members of the United States Armed Forces in Somalia.
Defense and diplomatic strategy for Libya (sec. 1272)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 12700) that would require, not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report that contains a strategy for Libya.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that modifies the elements of the required strategy.

Prohibition on in-flight refueling to non-United States aircraft that engage in hostilities in the ongoing civil war in Yemen (sec. 1273)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270N) that would prohibit, for the two-year period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act, in-flight fueling by the Department of Defense to non-United States aircraft engaged in hostilities in the ongoing civil war in Yemen unless and until a declaration of war or a specific statutory authorization has been enacted.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Report on Saudi led coalition strikes in Yemen (sec. 1274)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270M) that would require, not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act and annually thereafter, the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State, to submit a report detailing the number of civilian casualties caused by the Saudi-led coalition in Yemen, including an assessment of the coalition members’ willingness and ability to prevent civilian casualties.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Reports on expenses incurred for in-flight refueling of Saudi coalition aircraft conducting missions relating to civil war in Yemen (sec. 1275)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1288) that would mandate a report detailing the expenses incurred by the United States in providing in-flight refueling services for Saudi or Saudi-led coalition non-United States aircraft conducting missions as part of the civil war in Yemen from March 1, 2015, to November 11, 2018, and the extent to which such expenses have been reimbursed by members of the Saudi-led coalition.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Report on Saudi Arabia’s human rights record (sec. 1276)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1296B) that would require not later than 30 days after the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State, in accordance with section 502B(c) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2304(c)), to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the protection of human rights within Saudi Arabia.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Report on intelligence community assessment relating to the killing of Washington Post columnist Jamal Khashoggi (sec. 1277)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1296) that would require, not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Director of National Intelligence to submit a report to the appropriate congressional committees detailing intelligence findings regarding the October 2018 killing of Saudi columnist Jamal Khashoggi.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

United States-Israel cooperation to counter unmanned aerial systems (sec. 1278)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1284) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to carry out joint research, development, test, and evaluation to establish capabilities for countering unmanned aerial systems (C-UAS) that threaten the United States or Israel.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Extension and modification of authority for United States-Israel anti-tunnel cooperation activities (sec. 1279)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1283) that would amend section 1279 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92) to modify the authority for United States-Israel anti-tunnel cooperation activities. The provision would remove countering unmanned aerial systems from the section 1279 authority. Elsewhere in this Act, the committee recommends a provision that would establish a separate authority for United States-Israel cooperation regarding countering unmanned aerial systems. The provision would also authorize the Secretary of Defense to use amounts available under the section 1279 authority, which are in excess of the amount contributed by the Government of Israel, for costs associated with unique national requirements identified by the United States with respect to anti-tunnel capabilities.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would extend the section 1279 authority through December 31, 2024.

Report on cost imposition strategy (sec. 1280)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1271) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense to submit to the congressional defense committees a report describing the cost imposition strategies of the Department of Defense with respect to the People's Republic of China and the Russian Federation. The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that, among other clarifying changes, would require the Secretary of Defense to consult with the heads of other Federal departments and agencies as appropriate in the preparation of the report.

Modification of initiative to support protection of national security academic researchers from undue influence and other security threats (sec. 1281)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1285) that would amend section 1286 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) to require the Secretary of Defense to develop a list of academic institutions of the People's Republic of China and the Russian Federation that are: (1) Associated with a defense program of the People's Republic of China or the Russian Federation, including any university heavily engaged in military research; (2) Known to recruit individuals for the purpose of advancing the talent and capabilities of such a defense program or to provide misleading transcripts or otherwise attempt to conceal the connections of an individual or institution to such a defense program; or (3) Pose a serious risk of intangible transfers of defense or engineering technology and research.
The Senate bill contained another provision (sec. 6219) that would amend section 1286 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 to specify that the training and support provided under such program shall emphasize best practices for the protection of sensitive national security information and include the dissemination of unclassified publications and resources.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would: (1) Combine sections 1285 and 6219 with minor modifications; (2) Amend section 1286 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 to require the Secretary of Defense to establish enhanced information sharing procedures to collect appropriate information on any personnel participating in defense research and development activities other than basic research and to maintain appropriate security controls over research activities, technical information, and intellectual property; and (3) Amend the required report in the same section to be an annual report.

The conferees note the important impact that United States academic institutions have had advancing emerging technologies and contributing to the defense research enterprise. Maintaining an open and collaborative environment for unclassified basic and applied research is fundamental to attracting the world’s best students and commercializing their innovations. The conferees, however, note the efforts undertaken by foreign adversaries and competitors to exploit the open academic environment through the theft of intellectual property, improper technology transfer, and espionage.

The conferees encourage the Secretary of Defense to establish a memorandum of understanding with the Secretary of Homeland Security in order to coordinate the implementation of the enhanced information sharing required in this provision. The conferees note, that to greatest extent possible, the Secretary of Defense should streamline information sharing procedures and leverage existing government information systems and repositories, including the Student Exchange Visitor Information System, to reduce the burden on universities and the Department of Defense.

Modification of responsibility for policy on civilian casualty matters (sec. 1282)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1268) that would modify section 1057 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91) and section 936 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) relating to civilian casualty matters.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would amend section 936 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) to modify the responsibilities of the senior civilian official of the Department of Defense designated to develop, coordinate, and oversee compliance relating to civilian casualties. The conferees direct the senior designated official to coordinate with other relevant U.S. departments and agencies with respect to any other matters related to civilian harm resulting from military operations, including assistance provided to civilians impacted or displaced by such operations.

Report on export of certain satellites to entities with certain beneficial ownership status (sec. 1283)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6207) that would require a report on addressing the threat posed by the export, reexport, or in-country transfer of certain satellites to certain entities.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical/clarifying amendment.

Rule of construction relating to use of military force (sec. 1284)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1265) that would establish that nothing in this Act or any amendment made by this Act may be construed to authorize the use of military force.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would establish that nothing in this Act or any amendment made by this Act may be construed to authorize the use of military force against Iran or any other country.

Reports and briefings on use of military force and support of partner forces (sec. 1285)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270V) that would require the President not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and every 180 days thereafter, to submit to the congressional defense committees, the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives a report on specific actions taken pursuant to the Authorization for Use of Military Force (Public Law 107-40; 50 U.S.C. 1541 et seq.) and support for partner forces against those nations or organizations described in such law, during the preceding 180-day period.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the President not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and every 180 days thereafter, to submit to the congressional defense committees, the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives a report on actions taken pursuant to the Authorization for Use of Military Force (Public Law 107-40) against those countries or organizations described in such law, as well as any actions taken to command, coordinate, participate in the movement of, or accompany the regular or irregular military forces of any foreign country or government when such forces are engaged in hostilities or in situations where imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances, during the preceding 180-day period.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Report on participants in security cooperation training programs and recipients of security assistance training that have been designated for human rights abuses or terrorist activities

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1205) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the heads of other appropriate Federal departments and agencies, to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on individuals and units of security forces of foreign countries that have participated in security cooperation programs or received security assistance training and have been subject to United States sanctions relating to the violation or human rights or terrorist activities. The Secretaries would also be required to submit an annual update of the report.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees note the importance of adherence to human rights by recipients of Department of Defense (DOD) security cooperation training. The conferees note that section 362 of title 10, United States Code, prohibits DOD from providing assistance to foreign security forces if there is credible information that gross violations of human rights have been committed. Among the key elements of the security cooperation reforms contained in the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) were an increased emphasis on the integration of human rights training into DOD security cooperation programs and the strengthening of the defense and security institutions of foreign partners in order to more effectively and responsibly train, manage, and employ their forces. The conferees note that DOD faces significant challenges relating to its ability to comprehensively track recipients of DOD security cooperation training in order to identify those who may subsequently have committed gross violations of human rights. The conferees understand that these challenges arise in part from limitations in the Department’s ability to collect and maintain data on all individuals who receive security cooperation training under title 10 chapter 16 authorities and in the ability to cross-reference such information with that of other departments and agencies of the United States government. The conferees are aware that the lack of data would result in incomplete information on recipients of security cooperation training that have been designated for human rights abuses or terrorist activities.

Therefore, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to the Armed Services Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act on the advisability and feasibility of providing Congress with a report on recipients of security cooperation training programs at the unit and individual level that, after such training, go on to commit gross violations of human rights. The briefing should identify any challenges that DOD may encounter in such an effort as well as recommendations for overcoming such challenges.

Prohibition on use of funds to transfer defense articles and services to Azerbaijan

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1207) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized by this Act or otherwise made available to the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2020 to transfer defense articles or services to Azerbaijan unless the President certifies to Congress that the transfer of such defense articles or services does not threaten civil aviation.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees are concerned by any threat or use of force against civilians or actions against a nation’s sovereignty, which would be contrary to international law. The importance of a diplomatic resolution of the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict is addressed in another section of this report.

Multinational regional security education center

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1209) that would require, not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing on the utility and feasibility of establishing a multinational regional security education center.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

Not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide to the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate a briefing on the utility and feasibility of establishing a multinational regional security education center, including as a satellite entity of the Daniel K. Inouye Asia-Pacific Center for Security Studies that is located in a member country of the Association for Southeast Asian Nations, to offer year-round training and educational courses to Southeast Asian and Indo-Pacific civilian and military security personnel to enhance engagement of territorial and maritime security, transnational and asymmetric threats, and defense sector governance in the Indo-Pacific region. Training may also include English-language training, human rights training, rule of law and legal studies, security governance and institution-building courses, and budget and procurement training.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide a written summary of the briefing to the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, within 30 days following the briefing.

Training for participants in professional military education programs

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1210) that would require any foreign person participating in professional military education to participate in human rights training. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The House recedes.
The conferees note that every year numerous students from foreign militaries participate in professional military education provided and funded by the United States. These courses should be viewed as a valuable opportunity to foster an appreciation of human rights and the rule of law. The conferees are aware that foreign students in professional military education programs participate in the Department of Defense Field Studies Program, which includes instruction in human rights and law of war, among other topics. The Secretary of Defense is encouraged to continue providing human rights training as a key component of professional military education.

Report on plan to transfer funds in connection with the provision of support under section 385 of title 10, United States Code

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1210A) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on Department of Defense plans to transfer funds with the provision of support under section 385 of title 10, United States Code, for fiscal year 2020.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense, Secretary of State, and the Administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development to provide a briefing not later than December 1, 2019 to the Armed Services Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate on any plans to use the authority provided by section 385 of title 10, U.S. Code, in fiscal year 2020. The briefing should also include a description of any issues that may impede the use of such authority.

Rule of construction relating to use of military force against Iran

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1225) that would establish that nothing in this Act or any amendment made by this Act may be construed to authorize the use of military force against Iran.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sense of Congress on support for Ministry of Peshmerga Forces of the Kurdistan Region of Iraq
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1226) stating that it was the sense of Congress that the Ministry of Peshmerga forces of the Kurdistan Region of Iraq had made significant contributions and sacrifices in the United States-led campaign to degrade, dismantle, and destroy ISIS, and that the Department of Defense and Department of State should continue to work with and support the non-partisan forces of the Ministry of Peshmerga of the Kurdistan Region of Iraq in order to continue to develop their capabilities, promote security sector reforms, and enhance sustainability and interoperability with the other elements of the Iraqi security forces in order to provide for Iraq’s lasting security against terrorist threats.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The conferees note that the United States-led coalition known as the Combined Joint Task Force-Operation Inherent Resolve (CJTF-OIR) in partnership with the Iraqi Security Forces (ISF), including the Kurdish Peshmerga, successfully liberated significant Iraqi territory from the control of the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS). While the conferees applaud this significant achievement, they also express concern that ISIS continues to pose a significant threat to Iraq, the region, and potentially the U.S. homeland.

According to the August 2019 Lead Inspector General report for OIR, CJTF-OIR noted “deep-seated internal Kurdish political divisions and the Kurds’ continuing dispute with Iraq’s central government over a swath of disputed territory in northern Iraq rich in resources have allowed ISIS insurgents to exploit gaps between ISF and Peshmerga forces, which allows ISIS to regroup and plan attacks in the region.” Furthermore, the Lead Inspector General report for OIR stated “that the ISF and the Peshmerga has made progress this quarter in ongoing planning of ‘joint security mechanisms’—coordination to effectively combat ISIS in the disputed territories. However, on-the-ground cooperation between the ISF and the Peshmerga remained limited and security gaps remained.” The conferees believe a lasting defeat of ISIS is critical to maintaining a stable and tolerant Iraq in which all faiths, sects, and ethnicities are afforded equal protection and full integration into the government and society of Iraq and support the provision of U.S. security and other assistance for such purposes. As part of those efforts, the conferees support continued reform of, and materiel and training assistance to, Kurdish Peshmerga forces with the objective of enabling them to more effectively partner with the ISF, the United States, and other international partners. In furtherance of those objectives, the conferees believe continued efforts by the Peshmerga and ISF to establish joint security mechanisms are critical to addressing the threat of ISIS in disputed territories.

The conferees strongly support continuation of the partnership between the U.S. military and ISF, including the Kurdish Peshmerga in furtherance of our shared interests. In the coming years, the conferees encourage the Department to normalize its support to the Peshmerga by focusing assistance on the reform and professionalization at the ministerial and unit level and the development of capabilities and interoperability with other ISF elements that contribute to the long-term stability of Iraq.

Sense of Congress on supporting the return and repatriation of religious and ethnic minorities in Iraq to their ancestral homelands

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1227) that expressed the sense of Congress that it should remain a policy priority of the United States to support the safe return of displaced indigenous people of the Nineveh Plan and Sinjar to their ancestral homeland and that it should be a priority to ensure reintegration and restoration of fundamental human rights.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Prohibition of unauthorized military force in or against Iran

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1229) that would prohibit the use of Federal funds for any use of military force in or against Iran unless Congress has declared war or enacted a specific statutory authorization.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on Russian military involvement in the AFRICOM AOR

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1240) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act to provide a report to the appropriate congressional committees on military assistance provided by the Russian Federation or any private military corporations headquartered or registered in Russia to countries in the U.S. Africa Command area of responsibility (AOR).

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to the Armed Services Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act on the presence, activities, and strategic objectives of the Russian Federation in Africa. The briefing shall address, at a minimum, the following:

1) A description of the presence, activities, and strategic objectives of the Russian Federation in Africa.

2) A description of all known bilateral agreements between Russia and African governments negotiated since 2014, including military and technical cooperation, arms sales, and mineral exploration.

3) An analysis of any direct or indirect military support Russia or private military corporations based in Russia are providing to state and non-state armed groups in Africa, including a description of the types of support.

4) A description of arms sales within the previous calendar year by the Russian defense sector to African countries, and an analysis of whether any of such arms sales constitute significant transactions within the meaning of section 231 of the Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act of 2017 (22 U.S.C. 9525).

5) An analysis of the extent to which such arms sales may be in violation of United Nations Security Council-imposed arms embargoes in Africa, including with regard to South Sudan, the Democratic Republic of Congo, and the Central African Republic.

6) An analysis of Russian disinformation and propaganda operations in African countries, and the extent to which such operations pose a risk to United States interests in Africa.

7) A description of any plans to counteract destabilizing Russian activities in Africa.

8) Any other matters the Secretary deems relevant.

United States actions relating to Russian interference in elections for Federal office

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1240B) that would impose a prohibition on transactions relating to new Russian sovereign debt, require a determination of Russian interference in elections for Federal office, and create procedures for lifting and reimposing the prohibition.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Extension and modification of report on military and security developments involving North Korea
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1242) that would amend section 1236 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012 (Public Law 112-81) to extend and modify the requirement to provide a report on the military and security developments involving the Democratic People's Republic of Korea.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees note that Congress’s ability to evaluate the security threat posed by North Korea and to conduct oversight of United States policy toward North Korea has been impaired by a lack of transparency and associated delays in providing information necessary for such oversight. For example, the report to Congress on the status of North Korea’s nuclear program to establish a baseline of progress for negotiations with respect to denuclearization as required by section 1265 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) was recently submitted over 300 days late. The conferees reiterate support for diplomatic efforts to achieve the denuclearization of North Korea. The conferees urge the Administration to review its policies related to North Korea to ensure they are consistent with a priority on open and timely communication with the Congress.

Report by Defense Intelligence Agency on certain military capabilities of China and Russia

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250F) that would require the Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency to submit to the Secretary of Defense and the appropriate congressional committees a report on the military capabilities of China and Russia.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
Not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act, the conferees direct the Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency to provide to the Committees on Armed Services of the House of Representatives and the Senate a briefing concerning the military capabilities of China and Russia, including: (1) an update on the presence, status, and capability of the military with respect to any national training centers similar to the Combat Training Center Program of the United States; (2) an analysis of a readiness deployment cycle of the military, including as compared to such a cycle of the United States and an identification of metrics used in the national training centers of that military; (3) a comprehensive investigation into the capability and readiness of the mechanized logistics of the army of the military, including an analysis of field maintenance, sustainment maintenance, movement control, intermodal operations, and supply, and how such functions interact with specific echelons of that military; and (4) an assessment of the future of mechanized army logistics of the military.

Modification of report relating to enhancing defense and security cooperation with India

The House amendment contained two provisions (sec. 1250 and sec. 1250I) concerning defense and security cooperation with India.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

In addition to regular briefings and reports on U.S.-India defense relations, the conferees direct the Department of Defense to provide a briefing to the congressional defense committees on U.S.-India defense cooperation in the Western Indian Ocean no later than March 1, 2020. Topics to be covered in the briefing shall include: (1) a description of military activities of the United States and India, separately, in the Western Indian Ocean; (2) a description of military cooperation activities between the United States and India in the Western Indian Ocean; (3) a description of how the relevant geographic combatant commands coordinate their activities with the Indian military in the Western Indian Ocean and the mechanisms in place to ensure such cooperation is maximized; (4) a description of how the major defense partnership with India will be utilized to enhance cooperation in the Western Indian Ocean; and (5) areas of future opportunity to increase military engagement with India in the Western Indian Ocean.

Sense of Congress on the enduring United States commitment to the Freely Associated States

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250E) that would express the sense of the Congress concerning the enduring commitment of the United States to the Freely Associated States.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

The conferees recognize that the United States has strong and enduring interests in the security and prosperity of Oceania and the Western Pacific region, including close relationships with the countries of Palau, the Marshall Islands, and the Federated States of Micronesia, with whom the United States shares Compacts of Free Association. The United States and the Freely Associated States share values including democracy and human rights, as well as mutual interest in a free, open, and prosperous Indo-Pacific region. Therefore, the conferees believe the United States should expeditiously begin negotiations on the renewal of the Compacts of Free Association and conclude such negotiations prior to the expiration of the current compacts in 2023 and 2024.

Sense of Congress on United States-India defense relationship

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1250H) that would express the sense of the Congress on the United States-India defense relationship.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on value of investments in dual use infrastructure projects by NATO member states

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1256) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report, not later than June 1, 2020, on the value of investments in dual use infrastructure projects by the member states of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sense of Senate on the United States-Japan alliance and defense cooperation

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1256) that would express the sense of the Senate concerning the United States-Japan alliance and opportunities for enhancing defense cooperation.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees underscore that the United States-Japan alliance remains the cornerstone of peace and security for a free and open Indo-Pacific region. The conferees also recognize that the Government of Japan has made among the most significant “burden sharing” contributions of any United States ally, including through direct cost sharing, paying for the realignment of United States forces currently stationed in Okinawa, community support, and other alliance-related expenditures.
European Center of Excellence for Countering Hybrid Threats

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1258) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide $2.0 million for the European Center of Excellence for Countering Hybrid Threats.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees strongly support the efforts of the European Center of Excellence for Countering Hybrid Threats (henceforth referred to as “the Center”), and encourage the Department of Defense to cooperate fully and actively with the Center. The conferees note that the Center could play an important role in addressing the strategic challenge described by the National Defense Strategy: revisionist powers and rogue regimes increasing “efforts short of armed conflict by expanding coercion to new fronts, violating principles of sovereignty, exploiting ambiguity, and deliberately blurring the lines between civil and military goals.” The conferees also anticipate the Center serving as a unique forum to address the common concerns of transatlantic democracies and as a hallmark of cooperation between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the European Union.

To better understand the full scope of capability and impact the Center could have to further the strategic and operational objectives of the Department of Defense, the conferees direct the Department of Defense to provide the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives a briefing, no later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act, on the Center, including the following components: the strategic vision for the Center, associated resources and manpower, planned or current activities, and intended engagement strategy of the Department with the Center.

Sense of Senate on United States-India defense relationship

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1258) that would express the sense of the Senate on the United States-India defense relationship.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Sense of Congress on European investments in national security

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1259) that would express the sense of Congress that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is central to United States-European defense matters and that military cooperation and coordination in Europe among NATO member countries should complement NATO efforts and not detract from NATO military system interoperability and burden sharing among NATO allies. The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees note that the importance of NATO is addressed elsewhere in this report.

Briefing on Department of Defense program to protect United States students against foreign assets

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1260) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to the congressional defense committees on the program to protect United States students against recruitment efforts by foreign intelligence agents as described in section 1277 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91).
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing to update the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House no later than March 15, 2019 on the status of the program required in section 1277 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018, including an assessment of whether the program is beneficial to students interning, working part time, or in a program that will result in post-graduation employment with the Department of Defense components or contractors.

Sense of Senate on enhanced cooperation with Pacific Island countries to establish open-source intelligence fusion centers in the Indo-Pacific region

The Senate bill contained two provisions (sec. 1260 and sec. 6202) that would express the sense of the Senate that U.S. Indo-Pacific Command should pursue the establishment of one or more open-source intelligence fusion centers in the Indo-Pacific region to enhance cooperation with Pacific Island countries.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Limitation on availability of certain funds until report submitted on Department of Defense awards and disciplinary action as a result of the 2017 incident in Niger
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1263) that would prohibit the use of more than 80 percent of any funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2020 for Operations and Maintenance, Defense-Wide, Office of the Secretary of Defense, for Travel of Persons, until the Secretary of Defense submits a report containing a description of each award and disciplinary action issued, by rank, as a result of the AR 15-6 investigation findings relating to the incident in Niger on October 4, 2017. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

The conferees have serious concerns about the executive branch’s handling of the ambush in Niger that occurred on October 4, 2017, which led to the death of four U.S. servicemembers. These concerns include the Department of Defense’s repeated delays in providing to Congress the report on the investigation into the incident as well as information on the disciplinary actions issued in connection with the incident. The executive branch has a duty to conduct itself with candor and it must act in a way that is transparent and responsive to congressional oversight.

Therefore, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit to the Armed Services Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate not later than January 15, 2020 a report containing a description of each disciplinary action issued by rank as a result of the AR 15-6 investigation findings relating to the incident in Niger on October 4, 2017. The report shall be submitted in a format that protects personally identifiable information and is consistent with national security.

Rule of construction relating to use of military force against Venezuela

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1266) that would establish that nothing in this Act or any amendment made by this Act may be construed to authorize the use of military force against Venezuela. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

Restriction on emergency authority relating to arms sales under the Arms Export Control Act

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270) that would amend section 36 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2776) by modifying a restriction on emergency authority requiring the President to consult with appropriate congressional committees not later than 3 days after the determination and submit further certifications to Congress. The modifications would also require the delivery of defense articles within 90 days of the issuance of the emergency determination and the submittal of a report to Congress not later than 30 days after the delivery of defense articles. Further, the waiver of congressional review would not apply to begin manufacturing or co-production of articles outside the United States.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on annual defense spending by ally and partner countries

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1240) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit to certain congressional committees a report containing a summary of the key findings of the annual report of the Secretary General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) as well as assessments of various elements of burden-sharing and defense cooperation with and among NATO allies.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1270A) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report concerning defense spending by each mutual defense treaty ally and major non-NATO ally of the United States, as well as other matters.

These legislative provisions were not adopted.

Not later than 60 days after the date on which the next annual report of the Secretary General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) for the preceding calendar year is published, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit to the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, and to the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives, a report that includes the following: (1) an assessment, incorporating the key findings of the such annual report of the Secretary General of NATO, of progress toward meeting the Defense Investment Pledge made at the 2014 NATO summit in Wales by member countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; a description of the personnel and financial contributions of each member country of NATO to NATO missions; and a description of NATO initiatives to accelerate the speed of decision, ensure viable military reinforcement, and to support the deployability of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces. The conferees direct that the report be submitted in an unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.
The conferees note that the contributions of United States allies to collective defense and shared security are critical. The conferees note that reports relating to ally and partner “burden-sharing” contributions are addressed elsewhere in this report.

Reports on contributions to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1240) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit to certain congressional committees a report containing a summary of the key findings of the annual report of the Secretary General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) as well as assessments of various elements of burden-sharing and defense cooperation with and among NATO allies.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1270A) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report concerning defense spending by each mutual defense treaty ally and major non-NATO ally of the United States, as well as other matters.

These legislative provisions were not adopted.

Not later than 60 days after the date on which the next annual report of the Secretary General of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) for the preceding calendar year is published, the conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit to the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, and to the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives, a report that includes the following: (1) an assessment, incorporating the key findings of the such annual report of the Secretary General of NATO, of progress toward meeting the Defense Investment Pledge made at the 2014 NATO summit in Wales by member countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; a description of the personnel and financial contributions of each member country of NATO to NATO missions; and a description of NATO initiatives to accelerate the speed of decision, ensure viable military reinforcement, and to support the deployability of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces. The conferees direct that the report be submitted in an unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

The conferees note that the contributions of United States allies to collective defense and shared security are critical. The conferees note that reports relating to ally and partner “burden-sharing” contributions are addressed elsewhere in this report.
Sense of Congress on the United States-Israel relationship

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270B) that would express the sense of Congress that Israel has been one of the United States’ strongest friends and allies, that the United States should continue to offer full security assistance and related support to Israel, and that such assistance and support is vital as Israel confronts a number of potential challenges, including threats from Iran.

The Senate contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees strongly support the enduring strategic partnership between the United States and Israel, which is based on common democratic values and seven decades of strong cooperation. Furthermore, the conferees believe close defense cooperation between the two countries remains a critical component of this partnership given shared security challenges.

Sense of Congress on stability of the Caucasus region and the continuation of the Nagorno Karabakh cease-fire

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270C) that would express the sense of Congress regarding methods to advance United States interests in the stability of the Caucasus region and the continuation of the Nagorno Karabakh cease-fire.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees underscore the importance of preventing further violence and making progress toward a peaceful resolution of the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict.

Limitation on use of funds from the Special Defense Acquisition Fund

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270F) that would amend section 114(c) of title 10, United States Code, to prohibit the use of funds made available from the Special Defense Acquisition Fund for any fiscal year to provide any assistance to Saudi Arabia or the United Arab Emirates if such assistance could be used by either country to conduct or continue hostilities in Yemen.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
Prohibition on the use of emergency authorities for the sale or transfer of defense articles and services to Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270G) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available by this or any other Act to process a commercial or foreign military sale, or to transfer, deliver, or facilitate the transfer or delivery, of any defense article or service to Saudi Arabia or the United Arab Emirates pursuant to any certification of emergency circumstances submitted in accordance with section 36(b) of the Armed Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2776(b)).

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Prohibition on support for military participation against the Houthis

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270H) that would prohibit the use of funds authorized or otherwise made available by this Act to provide intelligence for the purpose of strikes or logistical support for coalition strikes to the Saudi-led coalitions operations against the Houthis in Yemen.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on efforts to combat Boko Haram in Nigeria and the Lake Chad Basin

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270L) that expresses the sense of Congress on Boko Haram and would require, not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, and the Attorney General to jointly submit to Congress a report on efforts to combat Boko Haram in Nigeria and the Lake Chad Basin.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act to provide a joint briefing to the Armed Services Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate on the initiatives undertaken by the Department of Defense (DoD) and the Department of State (DoS) to assist the Government of Nigeria and countries in the Lake Chad Basin to develop capabilities to combat Boko Haram, the Islamic State in West Africa, and other terrorist organizations that threaten regional security. The briefing shall also include a description of any activities by DoD and DoS to enhance the capacity of Nigeria and countries in the Lake Chad Basin to investigate and prosecute human rights abuses as well as promote respect for the rule of law.

Sense of Congress relating to Mongolia

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270P) that would express the sense of the Congress that the United States and Mongolia have a shared interest in supporting and preserving Mongolia’s democracy, including Mongolia’s ability to pursue an independent foreign policy, defend against threats to its sovereignty, and maintain territorial integrity.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees note that defense cooperation, a strong military-to-military relationship, and increased interoperability between the United States and Mongolia are in the interest of both countries, and the United States should continue to take steps to strengthen its security partnership with Mongolia.

Report on relationship between Lebanese armed forces and Hizballah

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270Q) that would require, not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act, the President to submit a report identifying personnel with influence over the Lebanese Armed Forces who are influenced by Hizballah and describing military activities conducted by the Lebanese Armed Forces to disarm Hizballah.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees within 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act that, at a minimum, assesses whether Hizballah exerts influence over the Lebanese Armed Forces, describes the nature of the Lebanese Armed Forces’ communication and interaction with Hizballah, details U.S. and other international efforts to build the capacity of the Lebanese Armed Forces to provide for the security and stability of Lebanon, and outlines efforts by the Lebanese Armed Forces to maintain accountability for U.S.-provided equipment. The report may contain a classified annex if necessary.
Imposition of sanctions relating to Central America

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270R) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the President to impose sanctions on individuals listed in the reports provided to Congress pursuant to section 1287 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 114-232) and section 7019(d) of the Department of State, Foreign Operations, and Related Programs Appropriations Act, 2019.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Expansion of eligibility for residence at the Armed Forces Retirement Home

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1422) that would amend section 1512(a) of the Armed Forces Retirement Home Act of 1991 (24 U.S.C. 412(a)) to: (1) Expand eligibility to retired veterans under age 60 and retired members of the National Guard and Reserves (NGR); and (2) Provide parity of fees for veterans eligible for active military service and those newly eligible through NGR service by requiring the income used for fee determination for an NGR-eligible resident to be not less than an Active-Duty resident’s military retirement pay at the same grade and length of service. The provision would also amend section 1514(c) of the Armed Forces Retirement Home Act of 1991 (24 U.S.C. 414(c)) to provide parity for monthly withholding from pay of NGR members and Active-Duty members by applying the withholding across the total force, as well as requiring newly eligible NGR residents to pay a fee upon admission for years prior to the date of the enactment of this Act when the withholding was not taken from pay.

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6422) that would cause section 1422 and its amendments to have no force or effect.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The Senate recedes.
TITLE XV—AUTHORIZATION OF ADDITIONAL APPROPRIATIONS FOR OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS

Purpose (sec. 1501)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1501) that would establish the purpose of this title and make authorization of appropriations available upon enactment of this Act for the Department of Defense, in addition to amounts otherwise authorized in this Act, to provide for additional authorization of funds due to overseas contingency operations and other additional funding requirements.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1501).

The conference agreement includes this provision with a clarifying amendment.

Treatment as additional authorizations (sec. 1502)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1521) that would state that amounts authorized to be appropriated by this title are in addition to amounts otherwise authorized to be appropriated by this Act.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1511).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

SUBTITLE A—AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS FOR OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS

Overseas contingency operations (sec. 1511)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1502) that would designate authorization of appropriations in this section as Overseas Contingency Operations.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Procurement (sec. 1512)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1503) that would authorize additional appropriations for procurement at the levels identified in section 4102 of division D of this Act.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1502).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

Research, development, test, and evaluation (sec. 1513)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1504) that would authorize additional appropriations for research, development, test, and evaluation at the levels identified in section 4202 of division D of this Act.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1503).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

Operation and maintenance (sec. 1514)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1505) that would authorize additional appropriations for operation and maintenance programs at the levels identified in section 4302 of division D of this Act.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1504).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

Military personnel (sec. 1515)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1506) that would authorize additional appropriations for military personnel at the levels identified in section 4402 of division D of this Act.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1505).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

Working capital funds (sec. 1516)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1507) that would authorize additional appropriations for Defense Working Capital Funds at the levels identified in section 4502 of division D of this Act.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1506).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

Drug interdiction and counter-drug activities, defense-wide (sec. 1517)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1508) that would authorize additional appropriations for Drug Interdiction and Counter-Drug Activities, Defense-Wide, at the levels identified in section 4502 of division D of this Act. The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1507).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

Defense inspector general (sec. 1518)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1509) that would authorize additional appropriations for the Office of the Inspector General at the levels identified in section 4502 of division D of this Act. The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1508).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

Defense health program (sec. 1519)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1510) that would authorize additional appropriations for the Defense Health Program at the levels identified in section 4502 of division D of this Act. The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1510).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

Afghanistan Security Forces Fund (sec. 1520)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1212) that would extend the authority to continue certain established provisions applicable to the Afghanistan Security Forces Fund (ASFF), including the use of funds, transfer authority, and acceptance of contributions to provide assistance to the security forces of the Ministry of Defense and Ministry of Interior of Afghanistan and to increase the recruitment and integration of women into the Afghan National Defense and Security Forces (ANDSF).

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1521) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State, to submit an assessment of the Government of Afghanistan’s ability to meet shared security objectives and manage, employ, and sustain equipment divested under ASFF, and would require the Secretary to withhold $450,000,000 until such time as the Secretary can certify that the Government of Afghanistan has made sufficient progress in these areas. It would also set a goal of using $45.5 million to support efforts to promote the recruitment, training, integration, and retention of Afghan women into the ANDSF.

The Senate recedes with an amendment to the elements of the required assessment.

The conferees understand that the Department recently modified long standing guidance on the use of ASFF to cover program management expenses by transitioning the responsibility for costs associated with Indirect Assistance to the Services. It is the conferees’ understanding that ASFF should cover all costs associated with building the ANDSF, including program and security assistance management support. The conferees know of no reason for such a change and encourage the Department to revisit this internal policy decision. The conferees direct the Department to brief the congressional defense committees on its policy regarding program management expenses within 60 days after the enactment of this Act.

Special transfer authority (sec. 1520A)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1522) that would authorize the transfer of up to $2.5 billion of additional war-related authorizations in this subtitle among the accounts in this subtitle.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1512) that would allow the Secretary of Defense to transfer up to $500 million.

The House recedes with an amendment that would set the transfer level at $2.0 billion.

SUBTITLE B—AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS FOR EMERGENCY FUNDS FOR RECOVERY AND RESTORATION

Procurement (sec. 1521)

The agreement includes a provision that would authorize appropriations for emergency procurement at the levels identified in section 4103 of division D of this Act.

Research, development, test, and evaluation (sec. 1522)

The agreement includes a provision that would authorize appropriations for emergency research, development, test, and evaluation at the levels identified in section 4203 of division D of this Act.

Operation and maintenance (sec. 1523)

The agreement includes a provision that would authorize appropriations for emergency operation and maintenance at the levels identified in section 4303 of division D of this Act.

Restriction on transfer of funds authorized by this subtitle (sec. 1524)

The agreement includes a provision that would authorize and place restrictions upon the transfer of emergency-designated amounts of authorizations for the recovery and restoration of military installations in California, Florida, North Carolina, and Nebraska impacted by natural disasters.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Review of Joint Improvised-Threat Defeat Organization research relating to humanitarian demining efforts

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6501) that would require the Secretary of Defense to conduct a review of Joint Improvised-Threat Defeat Organization research and submit a report identifying information that may be released to United States humanitarian demining organizations for improving the efficiency and effectiveness of humanitarian demining efforts.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than October 1, 2020, identifying Joint Improvised-Threat Defeat Organization research that may be released to United States humanitarian demining organizations for improving the efficiency and effectiveness of humanitarian demining efforts.

TITLE XVI—STRATEGIC PROGRAMS, CYBER, AND INTELLIGENCE MATTERS

BUDGET ITEMS

Standard Missile-3 Block IIA flight test against intercontinental ballistic missile target
The budget request included $53.8 million across several defense-wide research, development, test and evaluation lines to conduct a flight test of the Standard Missile-3 Block IIA (SM-3 IIA) against an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) target ("FTM-44"). The House amendment would authorize a reduction of $41.7 million below the request. The Senate bill would authorize the funding level in the request. The conference agreement authorizes the funding level in the request.

The conferees note that a Government Accountability Office assessment ("Missile Defense: Delivery Delays Provide Opportunity for Increased Testing to Better Understand Capability," GAO-19-387) found that the SM-3 IIA has not been adequately tested against threats it was designed to intercept, potentially leading to design issues being discovered well into production of interceptors. Further, the Director for Operational Test and Evaluation (DOT&E) stated that flight test failures of the SM-3 IIA in operational testing should have been discovered in developmental testing that was not conducted. The conferees strongly urge the Director of the Missile Defense Agency and DOT&E to look for opportunities to conduct additional tests of the SM-3 IIA against threats it was designed to intercept, adhering to fly-before-you-buy principles. Additionally, the conferees recommend continued engagement with allies to discuss potential policy implications of the planned SM-3 IIA ICBM flight test.

SUBTITLE A—SPACE ACTIVITIES

Repeal of requirement to establish United States Space Command as a subordinate unified command of the United States Strategic Command (sec. 1601)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1611) that would repeal the requirement to establish U.S. Space Command as a subordinate unified command of U.S. Strategic Command. The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 931).

The Senate recedes with a technical/clarifying amendment.

Coordination of modernization efforts relating to military-code capable GPS receiver cards (sec. 1602)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 228) that would require the Secretary of Defense to designate an entity within the Department of Defense to have responsibility for Global Positioning System military code (M-code) receiver card acquisition planning, and take actions to integrate and streamline modernization of the M-code receiver card across the Department.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would add the provision to existing statute and add a requirement for the Secretary to clarify the role of the Council on Oversight of the Department of Defense Positioning, Navigation, and Timing Enterprise with respect to M-code modernization efforts.

Demonstration of backup and complementary positioning, navigation, and timing capabilities of Global Positioning System (sec. 1603)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1609) that would extend both the authority to carry out a backup Global Positioning System capability demonstration and the due date of the report on such demonstration to December 31, 2020.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Annual determination on plan on full integration and exploitation of overhead persistent infrared capability (sec. 1604)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1603) that would add a sunset clause to the requirement for the annual determination on the plan on full integration and exploitation of overhead persistent infrared capability.

The Senate bill contained no similar amendment.

The Senate recedes with a technical/clarifying amendment.

Space-based environmental monitoring mission requirements (sec. 1605)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1604) that would require the Director of the National Reconnaissance Office (NRO) to competitively procure and launch a modernized pathfinder program satellite to mitigate risks related to cloud characterization and theater weather imagery requirements.

The Senate bill contained no similar amendment.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would move the requirement to procure such pathfinder program satellite from the Director, NRO, to the Secretary of the Air Force, specify that such satellite may be a free-flyer or a hosted payload satellite, and withhold 10 percent of the travel funds of the Office of the Secretary of the Air Force until a contract for such satellite procurement is awarded.

Resilient enterprise ground architecture (sec. 1606)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1608) that would require the Secretary of Defense to develop future satellite ground architectures to be compatible with complementary commercial systems that can support uplink and downlink capabilities with dual-band spacecraft. It would also require the Secretary to emphasize that future ground architecture should transition away from stove-piped systems to a service-based platform that provides members of the Armed Forces with flexible and adaptable capabilities.

The Senate bill contained no similar amendment.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would add a requirement for the Secretary to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the future satellite ground architectures developed under this provision.

Prototype program for multi-global navigation satellite system receiver development (sec. 1607)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1613) that would direct the Secretary of the Air Force to ensure that military Global Positioning System (GPS) user equipment terminals can incorporate signals from the European Union’s Galileo and Japan’s QZSS satellites, while enabling the Secretary to waive this requirement on a case-by-case basis if certain criteria are met. The provision would also require the Secretary to ensure that military GPS terminals can receive allied and non-allied positioning, navigation, and timing (PNT) signals, provided that analysis indicates that the benefits outweigh the risks or that the risks can be appropriately mitigated.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1605) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish under the Space Development Agency (SDA) a program to prototype an M-code based, multi-global navigation satellite system (GNSS) receiver that would incorporate both allied and non-allied, trusted and open GNSS signals to increase the resilience and capability of military PNT equipment. The provision would require the Secretary to provide an assessment of the benefits and risks of each potential signal and require the Director of the SDA to provide a relevant briefing and report to the congressional defense committees. Finally, the provision would fence 75 percent of funds for the Military GPS User Equipment Program until the submission of such briefing and report.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would move responsibility of the M-code multi-GNSS prototype program from the Director of the SDA to the Secretary of the Air Force and clarify the waiver authority for trusted signals capabilities. The amendment would also change the fence from 75 percent to 90 percent.

Commercial space situational awareness capabilities (sec. 1608)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1606) that would require the Director of the Space Development Agency (SDA) to procure commercial space situational awareness (SSA) services by awarding at least two contracts for such services. The provision would limit the obligation or expenditure of funds to 75 percent for the enterprise space battle management command and control until the Secretary of Defense certifies to the congressional defense committees the award of these contracts. The provision would also require a report on using commercial SSA requirements.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the findings and change the requirement for the Director of the SDA to procure commercial SSA services to a requirement for the Secretary of the Air Force to certify to the congressional defense committees that the Air Force is using commercial SSA services. The amendment would also change the limitation of funds to be obligated or expended until the Secretary makes such certification from 75 percent to 85 percent.

Program to enhance and improve launch support and infrastructure (sec. 1609)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1612) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to carry out a program to enhance infrastructure and improve support activities for the processing and launch of Department of Defense small-class to medium-class payloads.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary to coordinate with the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration in carrying out such program and submit the required report to other relevant congressional committees in addition to the defense committees.
Preparation to implement plan for use of allied launch vehicles (sec. 1610)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1602) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Director of National Intelligence, to take actions necessary to prepare to implement the plan developed pursuant to section 1603 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) regarding using allied launch vehicles to meet the requirements for achieving the policy relating to assured access to space set forth in section 2273 of title 10, United States Code.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Independent study on plan for deterrence in space (sec. 1611)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1607) that would require the Secretary of Defense to enter into a contract with a federally funded research and development center to conduct a study on deterrence in space, to then be assessed by the Defense Policy Board. The provision would require the Secretary to submit a report and provide a briefing on the plan and assessment.

The Senate bill contained no similar amendment.

The Senate recedes with a technical/clarifying amendment.

Study on leveraging diverse commercial satellite remote sensing capabilities (sec. 1612)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1610A) that would require the Secretary of Defense to conduct a study on the status of the transition from the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency to the National Reconnaissance Office of the leadership role in acquiring commercial remote sensing data.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would change the requirement for the Secretary to study the NRO’s plans to acquire medium- and high-resolution data to a full range of data at all resolutions.

Annual report on Space Command and Control program (sec. 1613)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1615) that would require the Secretary of the Air Force to provide annually a report on progress in executing the acquisition strategy and assessment of risk for the Space Command and Control program.
The House recedes with an amendment that would add an additional requirement to the annual report and extend the due date of the first report to May 1, 2020, but concurrent with the President’s Budget each year thereafter.

The conferees have been informed by the Secretary of the Air Force that the acquisition strategy directed by the Senate bill’s report, found under “Acquisition Plan for Space Command and Control Program,” may take longer to complete. Accordingly, the conferees direct the Secretary of the Air Force to submit the acquisition strategy not later than February 1, 2020. The time period between February 1, 2020, and May 1, 2020, would give the Comptroller General adequate time to review the strategy and assess any deviations the Secretary should address in the report required in this provision.

Report on Space Debris (sec. 1614)

The House recedes with an amendment that would redesignate the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence as the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security and Deputy Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence as the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security, respectively, and make conforming changes to existing laws.

SUBTITLE B—DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE AND INTELLIGENCE-RELATED ACTIVITIES

Redesignation of Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence as Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security (sec. 1621)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1610) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report on the risks posed by man-made space debris in low-earth orbit, including recommendations with respect to the remediation of such risks and outlines of plans to reduce the incident of such space debris.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.
Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence and Security. The amendment would also make modifications relating to the responsibilities of the Under Secretary regarding the protection of privacy and civil liberties as well as inclusion of a rule of construction stating that nothing in the section shall be construed to modify or expand the authorities, resources, responsibilities, roles, or missions of the Under Secretary.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to notify the Armed Services Committees of the Senate and House of Representatives within 30 days of assigning any significant new responsibilities to the Under Secretary during Fiscal Year 2020.

Modifications to ISR Integration Council and annual briefing requirements (sec. 1622)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1622) that would repeal section 426 of title 10, United States Code, which requires the establishment of the Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance (ISR) Integration Council.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1611) that would amend section 426 of title 10, United States Code, to modify the ISR Integration Council membership and related annual briefing requirements.

The Senate recedes.

Modification of annual authorization of appropriations for National Flagship Language Initiative (sec. 1623)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1613) that would amend section 1911 of title 50, United States Code, to increase the annual authorized amount for the National Flagship Language Initiative from $10.0 million to $16.0 million beginning in fiscal year 2020.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Improving the onboarding methodology for intelligence personnel (sec. 1624)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1623) that would require the Secretary of Defense and the Director of National Intelligence, consistent with Department of Defense Instruction 1400.25, as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of this Act, to provide several reports relating to the onboarding methodology for certain intelligence personnel.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency activities on facilitating access to local criminal records historical data (sec. 1625)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec.1624) that would authorize the Director of the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency to carry out a set of activities relating to facilitating access by the Agency to local criminal records historical data in support of its personnel security mission.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would limit the commencement of activities authorized by this section until certain reporting requirements are satisfied as well as impose other limitations on the use of the authority.

Survey and report on alignment of intelligence collections capabilities and activities with Department of Defense requirements (sec. 1626)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1612) that would require the Under Secretary of Defense for Intelligence, in coordination with the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Director of National Intelligence, to review and provide a report to the congressional defense committees and the congressional intelligence committees, not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, on the organization, posture, and processes of intelligence collections capabilities and activities, for the purpose of assessing the ability of the intelligence collecting capabilities and activities to support the current and future requirements of the Department of Defense.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Reports on Consolidated Adjudication Facility of the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency (sec. 1627)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1059) that would require the Director of the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency to submit to the congressional defense committees on a semi-annual basis a report on the inventory and timeliness metrics relating to the Consolidated Adjudication Facility.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
Report on the expanded purview of the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency (sec. 1628)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6606) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit to Congress a report on the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency, including: (1) Identification of Inspector General resources and authorities appropriate to the expanded purview of the Agency; (2) Identification of the resources and authorities needed to perform the civil liberties and privacy officer function of the Agency; (3) An assessment of the Agency's security protocols for personally identifiable information; (4) An assessment of the Agency's governance structure vis-a-vis the Department of Defense; (5) An assessment of the Agency's governance structure relative to interagency partners; and (6) The methodology the Agency will use to prioritize background investigation requests from government agencies and industry. The report must be submitted not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Termination of requirement for Department of Defense facility access clearances for joint ventures composed of previously-cleared entities (sec. 1629)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1040) that would prohibit the requirement for joint ventures that are composed entirely of entities that already have been granted facility clearances to obtain an additional clearance for the venture.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

SUBTITLE C—CYBERSPACE-RELATED MATTERS

Matters relating to military operations in the information environment (sec. 1631)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1681) that would affirm the authority of the Secretary of Defense to conduct military operations in the information environment, including clandestine operations, to defend the United States, its allies, and its interests, including in response to malicious activities carried out against the United States or a United States person by a foreign power. The provision would also clarify that military operations in the information environment are traditional military activities for the purposes of section(e)(2) of the National Security Act of 1947 (Public Law 80-253).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would affirm the authority of the Secretary of Defense to conduct military operations, including clandestine operations, in the information environment as well as clarify that clandestine military operations in the information environment shall be considered a traditional military activity for the purposes of section 503(e)(2) of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 3093(e)(2)). The amendment would also amend Chapter 19 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretary of Defense to designate a Principal Information Operations Advisor with specified responsibilities. Further the amendment includes a rule of construction that would state that nothing may be construed to limit, expand, or otherwise alter the authority of the Secretary to conduct specified military operations in the information environment or to limit, expand, or otherwise alter or affect the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1541 et seq.) or an authorization for the use of military force in effect on the day before the date of enactment of this Act. Lastly, the amendment would establish various briefing and reporting requirements.

Notification requirements for sensitive military cyber operations (sec. 1632)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1621) that would modify section 395 of title 10, United States Code, which requires the Secretary of Defense to provide notification of sensitive military cyber operations to the congressional defense committees, to include additional parameters to further define what offensive and defensive operations constitute a sensitive military cyber operation for the purposes of this requirement.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would allow the Secretary of Defense’s designee to provide written notification to the congressional defense committees in the event of an unauthorized disclosure of a sensitive military cyber operation.

Evaluation of cyber vulnerabilities of major weapon systems of the Department of Defense (sec. 1633)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1625) that would modify section 1647 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92), which required evaluations of cyber vulnerabilities of each major weapon system of the Department of Defense by December 31, 2019, by requiring notification and justification for not meeting the deadline. The provision would also require a comprehensive report from the Secretary of Defense on the evaluations of cyber vulnerabilities for each major weapon system.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would add further requirements to the report, including details on the technologies used for vulnerability assessments and the schedule for future vulnerability assessments.

Quarterly assessments of the readiness of Cyber Mission Forces (sec. 1634)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1636) that would require the Secretary of Defense to develop metrics for the assessment of the readiness of the Cyber Mission Forces and to brief the congressional defense committees on these metrics within 90 days of the enactment of this Act. The provision would also modify section 484 of title 10, United States Code, to require the briefing of readiness of the Cyber Mission Forces, informed by these metrics, as part of the quarterly cyber operations updates, effective 180 days after the enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1622) that would modify the same section of United States Code to require an overview of the readiness of the Cyber Mission Force to be presented as part of the mandatory cyber operations quarterly briefings.

The House recedes with an amendment that would modify the briefing requirement to include an overview of the readiness of the Cyber Mission Forces and would require quarterly briefings on the required metrics until their finalization.

Cyber posture review (sec. 1635)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1623) that would amend section 1644 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91) by directing the Secretary of Defense to conduct a review of the cyber posture of the United States on a quadrennial basis to begin not later than December 31, 2022.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would add recurrent problems or capability gaps that remain unaddressed since the previous posture review to the elements of the review.

Modification of elements of assessment required for termination of dual-hat arrangement for Commander of the United States Cyber Command (sec. 1636)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1640) that would amend section 1642 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) by requiring the Secretary of Defense and Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, prior to the termination of the dual-hatted arrangement in which the Commander of United States Cyber Command serves as the Director of the National Security Agency, to certify that: (1) Processes to deconflict military cyber operations and national intelligence operations have been put in place; (2) Tools, weapons, and accesses used in and available for military cyber operations are sufficient for achieving required effects and United States Cyber Command is capable of acquiring or developing these tools, weapons, and accesses; and (3) The Cyber Mission Force has demonstrated the capacity to execute the cyber missions of the Department, including the execution of national-level missions through cyberspace, defense of the Department of Defense Information Network, and support for other combatant commands, including targeting of adversary military assets.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1632) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide quarterly briefings to the congressional defense committees and congressional intelligence committees on the current and future nature of the National Security Agency and United States Cyber Command partnership.

The House recedes with an amendment that would also require the Secretary of Defense to provide annual briefings to the congressional defense committees and congressional intelligence committees on the current and future cooperation of the National Security Agency and United States Cyber Command.

Modification of cyber scholarship program (sec. 1637)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1633) that would amend section 2200a of title 10, United States Code, to allow scholarships granted by the Department of Defense to go toward validated and accredited cyber training programs.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.
Tier 1 exercise of support to civil authorities for a cyber incident (sec. 1638)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1624) that would amend section 1648 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) by directing the Commanders of U.S. Northern Command and U.S. Cyber Command to conduct a Tier 1 exercise by February 1, 2020; the provision would also place a limitation on 10 percent of fiscal year 2020 funds authorized to be appropriated for the White House Communications Agency until the exercise is initiated.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would change the required by-date for the execution of the Tier 1 exercise.

Extension of the Cyberspace Solarium Commission (sec. 1639)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1639) that would amend section 1652 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) by making a technical correction and changing the final due date for the Cyberspace Solarium Commission's final report to February 1, 2020.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1626) that would extend the Cyberspace Solarium Commission, as established in the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) and its final report by 1 year, from September 1, 2019, to September 1, 2020.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would change the final due date for the Cyberspace Solarium Commission's final report to April 30, 2020.

Authority to use operation and maintenance funds for cyber operations-peculiar capability development projects (sec. 1640)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1643) that would allow the Secretaries of the military departments to use money authorized for appropriation for Operation and Maintenance (O&M) to develop cyber operations-peculiar capabilities up to $3.0 million annually. The provision would allow the Department of Defense to use its O&M funds for the rapid creation, testing, fielding, and operation of cyber capabilities that would be developed and used within the 1-year appropriation period.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1627) that would also require a Commander of U.S. Cyber Command certification for each use of the provided authority and the Secretary of Defense to notify the congressional defense committees within 15 days of exercising the provided authority. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would remove the certification requirement, allow the Secretary’s designee to notify the congressional defense committees of the exercise of the provided authority, and would limit the notification requirement to exercises of the authority in excess of $500,000.

Role of Chief Information Officer in improving enterprise-wide cybersecurity (sec. 1641)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1635) that would assign additional responsibilities to the Department of Defense Chief Information Officer (CIO), including the modernization of the Department's cybersecurity architecture, the mandating of cybersecurity data sharing, and the acquisition of additional computing infrastructure to meet the Department's cybersecurity needs. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would require that the CIO utilize the expertise of the National Security Agency and the Defense Digital Service in improving the Department’s cybersecurity.

Notification of delegation of authorities to the Secretary of Defense for military operations in cyberspace (sec. 1642)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1628) that would require the Secretary of Defense to notify the congressional defense committees and describe various operational details within 15 days of any delegation of authorities from the National Command Authority for military cyberspace operations. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would allow the Secretary to notify the congressional defense committees of delegations of authority and to describe operational details separately to account for the potential immaturity of operational plans as of the initial delegation of authorities.

Limitation of funding for Consolidated Afloat Networks and Enterprise Services (sec. 1643)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1629) that would place a limitation on 15 percent of all funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act for the Navy’s Consolidated Afloat Networks and Enterprise Services until the Secretary of Defense certifies that the Navy has implemented the recommendations of the Office of the Inspector General.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Annual military cyberspace operations report (sec. 1644)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1630) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide to the congressional defense committees, not later than March 1 of each calendar year, an annual report on military cyberspace operations, to include cyber effects-enabling and cyber effects operations, activities, and missions.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would modify certain requirements of the report.

Annual report on cyber attacks and intrusions against the Department of Defense by certain foreign entities (sec. 1645)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1239) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit to the congressional defense committees annual reports on cyberattacks and intrusions in the previous 12 months by agents or associates of the Governments of the Russian Federation, the People’s Republic of China, the Islamic Republic of Iran, and the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would modify the report.

Control and analysis of Department of Defense data stolen through cyberspace (sec. 1646)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1637) that would define requirements for the Department of Defense (DOD) in the event that DOD data have been stolen or are suspected to have been stolen via cyber means. The provision provides a series of requirements for the DOD when it directly controls the data or access to the data. The provision would further require that, when the DOD does not have unilateral control of the data and when law enforcement or intelligence community information controls have been imposed on the handling of and access to the data, the Secretary of Defense coordinate with the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation or Director of National Intelligence, as appropriate, to carry out the same series of requirements.
The House contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would modify the requirements to: (1) allow the Department to have consistent access to the relevant data by other means; (2) specify mission critical Department systems should have analytic products developed; (3) modify the mission affected entities definition; (4) modify requirements of the counterintelligence organizations; and (5) modify the requirements for data in possession of or under the controls imposed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation or the Director of National Intelligence.

Use of National Security Agency cybersecurity expertise to support evaluation of commercial cybersecurity products (sec. 1647)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1641) that would establish as a mission of the National Security Agency the advising and assistance of the Department of Defense in its acquisition and adaptation of cybersecurity products and services from industry, especially the commercial cybersecurity sector.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would specify that this technical mission would be conducted in support of the Department’s selection and adaption of commercial products rather than the Department’s contracting and business-specific acquisition functions.

Framework to enhance cybersecurity of the United States defense industrial base (sec. 1648)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1634) that would require the Secretary of Defense to develop a consistent, comprehensive framework to enhance the cybersecurity of the U.S. defense industrial base and to provide the congressional defense committees a briefing on the framework not later than March 11, 2020. The framework would include: (1) Identification of cybersecurity standards and requirements imposed on the defense industrial base; (2) Responsibilities of the prime contractor and all subcontractors in the supply chain for implementing those standards and requirements; (3) A plan to provide cybersecurity guidance and assistance to contractors; and (4) Methods and programs for defining and managing controlled unclassified information.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1631) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than May 1, 2020, on the Department of Defense's efforts related to cybersecurity and the Defense Industrial Base.

The House recedes with an amendment that would modify certain requirements of the framework.

Report on cybersecurity training programs (sec. 1649)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1634) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees detailing all Department of Defense efforts and programs to train elementary, secondary, and post-secondary students in fields related to cybersecurity, cyber defense, and cyber operations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment that would limit the report delivery to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives.

National Security Presidential Memorandums relating to Department of Defense operations in cyberspace (sec. 1650)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1635) that would require the President to provide the congressional defense committees with copies of all National Security Presidential Memorandums relating to Department of Defense operations in cyberspace.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would allow the committees to read and return all National Security Presidential Memorandums relating to Department of Defense operations in cyberspace.

Reorientation of Big Data Platform program (sec. 1651)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1631) that would require the Secretary of Defense to reorient the Department of Defense's Big Data Platform program by establishing a common baseline and security classification scheme for the collection, querying, analysis, and accessibility of a common and comprehensive set of metadata from sensors, applications, and systems deployed across the Department of Defense Information Network.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical and clarifying amendment.
Zero-based review of Department of Defense cyber and information technology personnel (sec. 1652)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1632) that would require the heads of Department of Defense departments, agencies, and components to complete zero-based reviews of the cyber and information technology personnel in those departments, agencies, and components.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Study on improving cyber career paths in the Navy (sec. 1653)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1633) that would require the Secretary of the Navy to conduct a study on improving cyber career paths in the Navy. The provision would also require the Secretary to submit a report to the congressional defense committees, no later than October 1, 2020, on the findings of the study.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would specify that the report should include an evaluation of the Cyber Warfare Engineer career field for officers.

Accreditation standards and processes for cybersecurity and information technology products and services (sec. 1654)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1638) that would require the Department of Defense (DOD) Chief Information Officer (CIO) to assess the accreditation standards and processes of the military departments and other components of the DOD for cybersecurity and information technology products and services.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would specify that this assessment should be carried out in accordance with the CIO’s existing responsibilities for cybersecurity and cyber capability architectures of the Department of Defense and with the budget review authority established in section 142 of title 10, United States Code.

Study on future cyber warfighting capabilities of Department of Defense (sec. 1655)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1642) that would require the Secretary of Defense to direct the Defense Science Board to carry out a study on the future cyber
The Board's study would include: (1) A technical evaluation of the Joint Cyber Warfighting Architecture of the DOD; (2) A technical evaluation of the Department's tool development and acquisition programs; (3) An evaluation of the operational planning and targeting of U.S. Cyber Command; and (4) Recommendations for legislative and administrative action relating to the DOD's future cyber warfighting capabilities.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Study to determine the optimal strategy for structuring and manning elements of the Joint Force Headquarters-Cyber organizations, Joint Mission Operations Centers, and Cyber Operations-Integrated Planning Elements (sec. 1656)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1646) that would require the Department of Defense Principal Cyber Advisor (PCA) to conduct a study to determine the optimal strategy for structuring and manning elements of the following: (1) Joint Force Headquarters-Cyber organizations; (2) Joint Mission Operations Centers; and (3) Cyber Operations-Integrated Planning Elements.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would include the Joint Cyber Centers in the study.

Cyber governance structures and Principal Cyber Advisors on military cyber force matters (sec. 1657)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1647) that would require each secretary of the military departments to designate a Principal Cyber Advisor to act as the principal advisor to the secretary on the cyber forces, cyber programs, and cybersecurity matters of the military department, including matters relating to weapons systems, enabling infrastructure, and the defense industrial base.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would: (1) Require each secretary of the military departments to appoint a Principal Cyber Advisor for each military service; (2) Require each Principal Cyber Advisor to be a senior civilian, a member of the Senior Executive Service equivalent to a 3-star flag officer, or by exception a military officer; (3) Prohibit the dual-hatting of any existing position as the Principal Cyber Advisor and require each Principal Cyber Advisor to be independent of the service chief information officers; and (4) Clarify the responsibilities of each Principal Cyber Advisor.

Designation of test networks for testing and accreditation of cybersecurity products and services (sec. 1658)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1648) that would require the Secretary of Defense to designate three test networks for the testing and accreditation of cybersecurity products and services.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would make available the information generated to the Office of the Director, Operational Test and Evaluation.

Consortia of universities to advise Secretary of Defense on cybersecurity matters (sec. 1659)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1649) that would establish one or more consortia of universities to advise and assist the Secretary of Defense on matters relating to cybersecurity. The functions of the consortium or consortia would be: (1) To provide to the Secretary access to the expertise of the members of the consortium on matters relating to cybersecurity; (2) To align the efforts of constituent members to priorities of the Department of Defense; and (3) To act as a facilitator in responding to Department requests relating to advice and assistance on matters relating to cybersecurity and to provide feedback to the Secretary from constituent members.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would: (1) Clarify the purpose and functions of the consortium or consortia; (2) Require that the consortium or consortia be open to all universities designated as centers of academic excellence by the Department of Homeland Security and National Security Agency; and (3) Require that the Secretary of Defense or a senior level designee meet with the consortium or consortia at least twice per year.

Joint assessment of Department of Defense cyber red team capabilities, capacity, demand, and requirements (sec. 1660)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6605) that would require the Secretary of Defense to conduct a joint assessment of Department of Defense cyber red team capabilities, capacity, demand, and future requirements that affect the Department’s ability to develop, test, and maintain secure systems in a cyber environment.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

SUBTITLE D—NUCLEAR FORCES

Conforming amendment to Council on Oversight of the National Leadership Command, Control, and Communications System (sec. 1661)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1663) that would make several conforming changes to the governing statute of the Council on Oversight of the National Leadership Command, Control, and Communications System, section 171a of Title 10, United States Code.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Modification of authorities relating to nuclear command, control, and communications system (sec. 1662)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1661) that would reassign principal responsibility within the Office of the Secretary of Defense for nuclear command, control, and communications from the Chief Information Officer to the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 901).

The House recedes.

Briefings on meetings held by Nuclear Weapons Council (sec. 1663)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1642) that would require the Nuclear Weapons Council (NWC) to provide semi-annual briefings to the congressional defense committees covering all NWC meetings in the previous 6 months, including a summary of decisions made at each meeting but excluding decisions relating to the budget submission if the budget request for such fiscal year has not been submitted to Congress as of the date of the briefing. The provision would also require the NWC to submit any decision memoranda used to support decisions made at such meetings, including a summary of the considerations that informed each decision.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the requirement to submit decision memoranda.

Consideration of budget matters at meetings of Nuclear Weapons Council (sec. 1664)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1651) that would modify the enabling statute of the Nuclear Weapons Council (NWC) as contained in section 179 of title 10, United States Code, to require that certain budget officials attend meetings of the NWC, and that the same officials be members of the Standing and Safety Committee (SSC).

The Senate recedes with amendments that would remove the provision from code, require that the same officials attend meetings of the NWC and SSC, and allow the Chairman of the NWC to exclude an official in exigent circumstances.

Improvement to annual report on the modernization of the nuclear weapons enterprise (sec. 1665)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1641) that would extend the reporting requirement in section 1043(a) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012 (Public Law 112-81) by 1 year to 2024. The provision would also add to the report a requirement to estimate the cost of modernizing and recapitalizing the nuclear enterprise as a relative percentage of acquisition costs of the Department of Defense over the 10 years following the date of the report. It would also add a requirement to provide a 25-year plan, including timelines and acquisition and life cycle costs, for nuclear delivery systems and platforms, nuclear command and control systems, and facilities, infrastructure, and critical skills relating to nuclear weapons that are being modernized or sustained. Finally, the provision would also transfer the complete reporting requirement to title 10, United States Code, redesignating it section 492a.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would strike the requirement for the 25-year plan and change the entity required to report on modernization as a percentage of acquisition costs from the Secretary of Defense to the Director of the Congressional Budget Office, as part of the report previously required as part of section 1043.
Expansion of officials required to conduct biennial assessments of delivery platforms for nuclear weapons and nuclear command and control system (sec. 1666)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1662) that would add the Commander of the United States Air Forces in Europe to a list of officials required to report biennially on the safety, security, reliability, sustainability, performance, and military effectiveness of the delivery platforms for nuclear weapons and nuclear command and control systems for which each official has responsibility.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Extension of annual briefing on costs of forward-deploying nuclear weapons in Europe (sec. 1667)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1644) that would extend by 3 years the requirement contained in section 1656 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2016 (Public Law 114-92) for the Secretary of Defense to provide an annual briefing to the congressional defense committees on the cost of forward-deploying U.S. nuclear weapons in Europe, and add additional committees to those receiving the briefing.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would retain the list of committees from section 1656.

Elimination of conventional requirement for long-range standoff weapon (sec. 1668)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1643) that would repeal the requirement in section 217(a) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2014 (Public Law 113-66) for the Air Force to develop a conventional variant of the long-range standoff weapon.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Briefing on long-range standoff weapon and sea-launched cruise missile (sec. 1669)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1665) that would require the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment, in consultation with the Administrator for Nuclear Security, to provide a briefing to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives on opportunities to increase commonality between the long-range standoff weapon (LRSO) and the nuclear sea-launched cruise missile (SLCM-N), and to leverage technology developed for LRSO in the development of the SLCM-N.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Extension of prohibition on availability of funds for mobile variant of ground-based strategic deterrent missile (sec. 1670)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1645) that would extend until 2030 the prohibition contained in the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) on availability of funds for development of a mobile variant of the ground-based strategic deterrent program.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would extend the prohibition through 2024.

Reports on development of ground-based strategic deterrent weapon (sec. 1671)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6601) that would require the Secretary of the Air Force, in coordination with the Administrator for Nuclear Security and the Chairman of the Nuclear Weapons Council, to submit an annual report to the congressional defense committees on the joint development of the ground-based strategic deterrent (GBSD) and the W87-1 warhead modification program.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with an amendment that would add an additional required report if the Air Force receives only one bid for the engineering and manufacturing development phase of the GBSD program, assessing plans to mitigate any risks or costs resulting from the submission of a single bid. Such report would be due 60 days after award of the contract for that phase.

Prohibition on reduction of the intercontinental ballistic missiles of the United States (sec. 1672)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1664, as modified by sec. 6664) that would prohibit the Department of Defense from reducing, or preparing to reduce, the responsiveness, alert level, or quantity deployed of U.S. intercontinental ballistic missiles. The provision would provide an exception for activities required for maintenance or sustainment, or to ensure the safety, security, or reliability of such missiles.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Independent study on policy of no-first-use of nuclear weapons (sec. 1673)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1649) that would require the Secretary of Defense to enter into a contract with a federally funded research and development center to conduct a study on the United States’ adopting a policy to not use nuclear weapons first.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would modify some elements of the required study, move the deadlines for submission 30 days later, and add a requirement for an interim briefing not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

Independent study on risks of nuclear terrorism and nuclear war (sec. 1674)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1650) that would require the Secretary of Defense to enter into a contract with the National Academy of Sciences to conduct a study on the potential risks of nuclear terrorism and nuclear war.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would modify a number of elements of the required study.

Report on military-to-military dialogue to reduce risks of miscalculation leading to nuclear war (sec. 1675)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1646) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report describing current military-to-military dialogue between the United States and other countries to reduce the risk of miscalculation, unintended consequences, or accidents that could precipitate a nuclear war, as well as bilateral or multilateral agreements to which the United States is a party that address the same risks. The report would also contain a joint assessment by the Secretary and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff of the policy and operational necessity, risks, benefits, and costs of establishing military-to-military discussions with Russia, China, Iran, and North Korea.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with several clarifying amendments, as well as an amendment that would add consideration of other efforts conducted between the U.S. government and foreign governments, or between nongovernmental organizations and foreign counterparts, to reduce such risks. The amendments would also require assessment of the willingness of the above governments to engage in such discussions.

Report on nuclear forces of the United States and near-peer countries (sec. 1676)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1243) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Director of National Intelligence (DNI) and the Secretary of State, to submit a report on Russian nuclear systems deployed or under development not covered by New START, Russian non-deployed strategic nuclear systems, nuclear modernization programs of China, and the implications of these assessments on the New START central limits.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1652) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the DNI, to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on current and planned nuclear systems of the United States, Russia, and China, including projections through 2040.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would change the report’s deadline to February 15, 2020, and specify the inclusion of Russian nuclear systems deployed or under development not covered by New START and Russian non-deployed strategic nuclear systems.

Report on operation of conventional forces of military departments under employment or threat of employment of nuclear weapons (sec. 1677)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6603) that would require the secretaries of the military departments, and the Commandant of the Marine Corps, to each submit to the congressional defense committees a report detailing measures taken to ensure the ability of conventional forces to operate under employment or threat of employment of nuclear weapons.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments that would consolidate the four reports into a single report by the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the service secretaries, and modify elements of the report’s contents.

Report on operation of conventional forces of certain combatant commands under employment or threat of employment of nuclear weapons (sec. 1678)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6604) that would require the Commander, U.S. European Command, and the Commander, U.S. Indo-Pacific Command, to each submit a report to the congressional defense committees detailing measures taken to ensure the ability of conventional forces to operate under employment or threat of employment of nuclear weapons.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments that would consolidate the two reports into a single report from the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in coordination with the Commanders of U.S. European Command, U.S. Indo-Pacific Command, and U.S. Strategic Command, and modify elements of the report’s contents.

Briefings on plan for future-systems-level architecture of nuclear command, control, and communications systems (sec. 1679)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1648) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Commander of U.S. Strategic Command, to submit a plan on the future of nuclear command, control, and communications systems within 270 days of the date of enactment of this Act. The provision would also require the Secretary to provide an interim briefing within 90 days of the date of enactment.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would change the requirement to a series of biannual briefings beginning in February 2020 through 2025, and modify some elements contained within the plan, including the addition of an assessment of personnel required to evaluate and execute the architecture.

Sense of Congress on nuclear deterrence commitments of the United States (sec. 1680)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1667) that would express the sense of the Senate on the importance of the extended nuclear deterrence commitments of the United States, including forward deployment of U.S. dual-capable aircraft.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with several clarifying amendments.
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1672) that would express the sense of the Senate regarding the need for a comprehensive U.S. missile defense policy and program. It would also modify national missile defense policy as established by section 1681 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) to add defense against cruise and hypersonic missile threats. Finally, the provision would require the Secretary of Defense to redesignate all Department of Defense strategies, policies, programs, and systems to reflect that U.S. missile defense programs defend against ballistic, cruise, and hypersonic missiles in all phases of flight.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1661) that would modify section 1681 to reflect the principles governing U.S. missile defense as outlined by the 2019 Missile Defense Review (MDR), and would require the Director of Cost Assessment and Program Evaluation (CAPE) to provide a briefing to the Committees on Armed Services of the House and Senate.

The Senate recedes with several clarifying amendments, as well as amendments that would strike the briefing requirement and retain the redesignation requirement from the Senate bill.

The conferees direct the CAPE Director to provide to the congressional defense committees, no later than January 31, 2020, a briefing on the programmatic impacts of implementation of the 2019 MDR across the Department.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1664) that would repeal the requirement contained in section 1688(c) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91) for the Director of the Missile Defense Agency to establish a space test bed to conduct research on a space-based missile intercept layer.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1683) that would...
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1673) that would require the Secretary of Defense to assign primary responsibility for the development and deployment of a hypersonic and ballistic tracking space sensor (HBTSS) to the Director of the Missile Defense Agency (MDA). The provision would also require the Comptroller and the Director of Cost Assessment and Program Evaluation to certify to the congressional defense committees whether this program is fully funded through the future years defense program submitted with the fiscal year 2021 budget request, and require the Director of the MDA to begin on-orbit testing of the system no later than December 31, 2021. Finally, the provision would require the Secretary to submit a report on efforts relating to space-based sensing and tracking capabilities for missile defense at the MDA, the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA), the Air Force, and the Space Development Agency (SDA).

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1662) that would require the Director of the MDA, in coordination with the Director of the SDA and the Secretary of the Air Force, to develop an HBTSS payload and integrate it into the broader space-based sensing architecture in support of the ballistic missile defense system. The provision would also require the Director of the MDA to submit to the appropriate congressional committees a plan for how the Director, in coordination with the Director of the SDA and the Secretary of the Air Force, will develop and integrate such a payload, how such a payload will address the U.S. Strategic Command requirement, and estimated costs to develop, acquire, deploy, operate, and sustain this payload.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would make the Secretary of Defense responsible for submitting the plan, and include the requirement to report on efforts across the MDA, DARPA, the Air Force, and SDA. The amendment would also retain the requirement from the Senate bill for the Secretary to assign primary responsibility for development of an HBTSS payload to the Director of the MDA, and to submit to the congressional defense committees a certification of such assignment.

Modifications to required testing by Missile Defense Agency of ground-based midcourse defense element of ballistic missile defense system (sec. 1684)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1677) that would express the sense of the Senate on a highly successful 2018 Missile Defense Agency (MDA) flight test campaign.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1671) that would modify requirements for flight testing of the ground-based midcourse defense (GMD) element of the ballistic missile defense system pursuant to section 1689 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328), including by eliminating the ability for the Director of the MDA to forgo a test of the GMD in any given year due to any condition not specified in subsection (c) of section 1689.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the elimination of such ability but retain the other modifications in the House amendment.

The conferees commend the MDA and all other Department components involved on a successful 2018 flight test campaign, especially on FTG-11, the first salvo test of the GMD system.

Iron Dome short-range rocket defense system and Israeli cooperative missile defense program co-development and co-production (sec. 1685)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1671) that would authorize funds for the Missile Defense Agency to provide to the Government of Israel to procure components for the Iron Dome short-range rocket defense system, the David’s Sling Weapon System, and the Arrow 3 Upper Tier Interceptor Program, including through co-production of such components in the United States. The provision would also provide a series of certification requirements relating to implementation of the relevant bilateral agreements before disbursal of these funds, consistent with previous legislative requirements.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Limitation on availability of funds for lower tier air and missile defense sensor (sec. 1686)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1668) that would limit obligation or expenditure of funds for fiscal year 2020 to 75 percent for the Army for the lower tier air and missile defense sensor until the Secretary of the Army provides a report to the congressional defense committees on the results of the test events held in the third quarter of fiscal year 2019, and on the decision of the Army to award a contract for initial operational capability based on those test events.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Plan for the redesigned kill vehicle replacement (sec. 1687)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1675) that would require the Director of the Missile Defense Agency (MDA) to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the delay in the Redesigned Kill Vehicle (RKV) program.

The Senate bill also contained a provision (sec. 1676) that would require the Director to submit a report on options to increase the capability, capacity, and reliability of the ground-based midcourse defense system, including the infrastructure requirements for increasing the number of ground-based interceptors.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1663) that would express the sense of Congress that the Director of the MDA must address the technical issues with the RKV program before moving forward with development, procurement, and fielding of the vehicle. The provision would also modify the waiver contained in section 1683(b) of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232), which prohibited a lot production decision for the RKV until after a successful intercept flight test, such that the Secretary of Defense would also need to conduct an assessment of the missile developments of both North Korea and Iran during the 18-month period preceding the date of the waiver.

The House recedes with amendments that would add a sense of Congress addressing the termination by the Department of the RKV contract in August 2019 and encouraging the Director to proceed with a follow-on program guided by principles of responsible acquisition, including conducting a successful flight test before making production decisions. The amendments would also modify certain elements of the reporting requirement to reflect the program replacing the RKV, and include elements of the report from section 1676 of the Senate bill. Finally, the amendments would prohibit the obligation or expenditure of more than 50 percent of fiscal year 2020 funds for the next-generation improved homeland defense interceptor until the Secretary of Defense submits such report.

Organization, authorities, and billets of the Missile Defense Agency (sec. 1688)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1674) that would express the sense of the Senate in support of the nonstandard acquisition processes used by the Missile Defense Agency (MDA). It would also prohibit obligation or expenditure of funds to change these processes until the Secretary of Defense has consulted with a number of senior defense officials with responsibility for aspects of missile defense, submitted a report to the congressional defense committees, and allowed 270 days to elapse after submittal.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1665) that would contain a similar prohibition on obligation or expenditure of funds until the Secretary notifies the congressional defense committees of the proposed changes to the nonstandard acquisition processes, and allows 90 days to elapse after such notification. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense to enter into a contract with a federally funded research and development center (FFRDC) to assess the organization of the MDA under the Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering, in comparison with alternative organizational structures, and assess the risks and benefits of transitioning the MDA to the standard Department of Defense acquisition process. Finally, the provision would prohibit the Secretary of Defense from transferring civilian or military billets from the MDA to any element of the Department under the authority of the Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering until the Secretary notifies the congressional defense committees of the proposed transfer, and allows 90 days to elapse after such notification.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would extend the deadline for submission of the FFRDC assessment by 30 days, retain the report required in the notice in the Senate provision with the addition of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment as a consulted official, and change the waiting period after the notification of any change to the acquisition processes to 120 days.

Annual assessment of ballistic missile defense system (sec. 1689)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1670) that would express the sense of Congress that operational test and evaluation of the ballistic missile defense system (BMDS) should be conducted thoroughly in accordance with title 10, United States Code. The provision would also require the Director of Operational Test and Evaluation to include in the annual report to Congress under section 139 of title 10, United States Code, an assessment of the BMDS, including all elements of the system that are fielded or are planned to be fielded.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the sense of Congress.

Command and control, battle management, and communications program (sec. 1690)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1669) that would prohibit the Missile Defense Agency (MDA) from releasing the command and control, battle management, and communications (C2BMC) program to foreign partners until the Director of the MDA submits a report to the appropriate congressional committees.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Missile defense interceptor site in contiguous United States (sec. 1691)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1679) that would require the Secretary of Defense to make available to the public the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) prepared in accordance with section 227(b) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2013 (Public Law 112-239).

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1666) that would require the Secretary of Defense to designate the preferred location of a missile defense site in the contiguous United States from among the locations evaluated pursuant to section 227. The provision would also require the Secretary to submit to the congressional defense committees a report on such designation.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the requirement to designate a preferred location but retain the requirement for a report.

The conferees note that the EIS was made available to the public in August 2019. The conferees also note that the Secretary identified a preferred location in June 2019, while maintaining the determination made in the Missile Defense Review that there is no operational requirement to develop a third site in the contiguous United States at this time.

Independent study on impacts of missile defense development and deployment (sec. 1692)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1672) that would require the Secretary of Defense to enter into an agreement with the National Academy of Sciences to conduct a study on the impacts of the development and deployment of U.S. long-range missile defenses on the security of the United States as a whole.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with several clarifying amendments and an amendment that would change the entity conducting the study to a federally funded research and development center.
Report and briefing on multi-volume kill capability (sec. 1693)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1673) that would require the Under Secretary of Defense for Research and Engineering to submit to the congressional defense committees a report on the potential need for a multi-object kill vehicle in future architecture of the ballistic missile defense system.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with several technical and clarifying amendments, as well as an amendment that would require the Under Secretary to coordinate such report with the Director of the Missile Defense Agency, the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment, and the Director of Cost Assessment and Program Evaluation.

SUBTITLE F—OTHER MATTERS

Extension of authorization for protection of certain facilities and assets from unmanned aircraft (sec. 1694)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1682) that would provide an extension of the authority that exists in Title 10, United States Code, section 130i, for protection of Department of Defense facilities and assets associated with certain mission areas from unauthorized operation of unmanned aircraft.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would extend the existing authority to the year 2023.

The conferees also direct the Secretary of Defense to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than April 1, 2020 that details how the Secretary plans to protect Department of Defense ammunition manufacturing facilities that are government-owned and contractor-operated from unauthorized overflight of unmanned aircraft not covered by the protection authority provided under Title 10, United States Code, section 130i, concerning protection of certain facilities and assets from unmanned aircraft. The report should also include recommendations, if appropriate, regarding any legislative authorities that may be required to protect these facilities.

Repeal of requirement for commission on electromagnetic pulse attacks and similar events (sec. 1695)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1683) that would acknowledge the release of the Executive Order dated March 26, 2019, on coordinating national resilience to electromagnetic pulses (EMP), and repeal the requirement in section 1691 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91) for a congressional commission on EMP.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the findings.

Repeal of review requirement for ammonium perchlorate report (sec. 1696)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1682) that would repeal the requirement for the Comptroller General of the United States to review the report required by section 1684(c) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91).

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Transferability of conventional prompt global strike weapon system technologies to surface-launched platforms (sec. 1697)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1684) that would express the sense of Congress related to hypersonic weapon systems, prohibit any fiscal year 2020 funds for a submarine-launched conventional prompt global strike capability unless such capability is transferable to a surface-launched platform, and require the Secretary of the Navy to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the programmatic changes required to integrate such a system into surface ships.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would strike the sense of Congress and change the prohibition to a requirement that the Secretary of the Navy ensure that technologies developed for such a system are transferable to surface-launched platforms.

Prohibition on availability of funds for certain offensive ground-launched ballistic or cruise missile systems (sec. 1698)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1270J) that would make a series of findings related to the U.S. withdrawal from the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces (INF) Treaty. The provision would also prohibit the use of any funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act for research and development, procurement, or deployment of a ground-launched intermediate-range ballistic or cruise missile system, unless the Secretary of Defense submits a report to Congress related to the termination of the INF Treaty and the development or deployment of INF-range missile systems.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would strike the findings and modify the prohibition to apply only to fiscal year 2020 funds for procurement or deployment of such systems. The amendments would also separate the report from the prohibition, modify the required contents of the report, and apply a deadline of January 31, 2020.

Hard and deeply buried targets (sec. 1699)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1683) that would require the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in consultation with the Commander of U.S. Strategic Command, to submit to the congressional defense committees a classified report on hard and deeply buried targets associated with U.S. military operations plans, including an assessment of the ability of the United States to hold such targets at risk currently and as projected in 2030. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense to develop a plan to ensure the United States possesses capabilities to pose a credible deterrent threat against such targets by 2025, and submit a recurring certification that such plan is being implemented.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments that would change the report to a briefing, strike the certification requirement, and add certain elements to the content of the briefing.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Intelligence assessment of relationship between women and violent extremism

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1614) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Director of National Intelligence, in consultation with the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, and the head of any element of the intelligence community the Director determines appropriate, shall submit an intelligence assessment on the relationship between women and violent extremism and terrorism.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
The conferees note that elsewhere in this Act is a provision that would require the Secretary of Defense to seek to enter into a contract with an independent research and development center to conduct an independent analysis on gender and violent extremism.

Modification of term of Commander of Air Force Space Command

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1614) that would change the term of the Commander, Air Force Space Command, from 6 years to 4 years.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Funding for Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1615) that would increase, by $5,206,997 the amounts available in section 301 for Operation and Maintenance for Defense Security Service for the purposes of acquiring advanced cyber threat detection sensors, hunt and response mechanisms, and commercial cyber threat intelligence. The provision would include an offset in section 4101, for Integrated personnel and pay system.

The Senate amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on potential Defense Intelligence Polygraph Examination Military Transition Program

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1616) that would require, not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States to submit a report assessing the feasibility of establishing a Defense Intelligence Polygraph Examination Military Transition Program for members of the Armed Services transitioning to civilian employment.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Comptroller General of the United States to submit a report not later than one year after the date of enactment of this Act to the Armed Services Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate that assesses the advisability and feasibility of establishing a Defense Intelligence Polygraph Examination Military Transition Program for members of the Armed Forces transitioning to civilian employment. The report shall include, at a minimum, the following:
(1) A review of the feasibility of establishing a program in the Department of Defense under which members of the Armed Forces with an active top secret security clearance that provides for access to sensitive compartmented information and a current counterintelligence scope polygraph examination can be provided an opportunity to obtain an expanded scope polygraph (ESP) if the member receives a written offer of employment, subject to suitability or security vetting, with an element of the intelligence community or a contractor of such an element;

(2) The cost to the Department of Defense for implementing such program and whether such cost could be shared by other departments or agencies of the Federal Government or the private sector;

(3) The factors the Department needs to consider in determining whether such program would be viable;

(4) The obstacles that exist in implementing such program;

(5) Whether such a program could increase workforce diversity in the intelligence community;

(6) Whether such a program could increase or decrease retention among members of the Armed Forces serving in defense intelligence roles;

(7) Whether any changes are required to be made to policies of the Department or to Federal law to implement such a program;

(8) Identification of the current average length of time in the intelligence community to investigate and adjudicate an initial and a periodic update top secret security clearance that provides for access to sensitive compartmented information and conduct an expanded scope polygraph;

(9) Any other matters the Comptroller General deems relevant.

National Security Space Launch Program

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1616) that would prohibit the Secretary of the Air Force from modifying the acquisition schedule for phase 2 of the National Security Space Launch (NSSL) program or from awarding missions to more than two launch service providers.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1601) that would require the Secretary of the Air Force to stay on schedule for Phase 2 of the NSSL program, but would reopen competition after the first 29 launches of phase 2 and award $500 million to providers that have not entered into a phase 2 contract for launch services occurring before fiscal year 2022, or have entered into a phase 2 contract but have not entered into a Launch Services Agreement, or both. The provision would require the Secretary of the Air Force to notify Congress of its down select decision before the public announcement, and require a report on the total defense investments made for each awardee and how such investments were accounted for in the evaluation of the offers.

The conference agreement does not include either provision.

Cybersecurity Defense Academy pilot program

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1636) that would require the Secretary of Defense to carry out a pilot program to create a public-private partnership that would train and place veterans as cybersecurity personnel within the Department of Defense.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Expansion of authority for access and information relating to cyberattacks on Department of Defense operationally critical contractors

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1644) that would amend section 391 of title 10, United States Code, to extend the ability of the Department of Defense (DOD) to react immediately to reports of intrusions that may affect critical DOD data.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees are sympathetic to the need for this additional authority, which the Department already has in the case of cleared defense contractors and which the Department requested via a legislative proposal. The Department relies on operationally critical contractors to move troops and supplies across the world, in peacetime and during conflict, and adversaries’ cyberattacks on these critical contractors pose a genuine threat to the Department’s conduct of operations. The conferees, however, are concerned that the Department’s legislative proposal was not scoped in such a way that this authority would be operationalized through contractual mechanisms. The conferees are also concerned that the Department’s broader efforts to improve the cybersecurity of its contractors and the Department’s ability to respond in the event of a cyberattack are primarily focused on the defense industrial base as traditionally conceived of—namely, those companies that supply the Department’s weapons systems. The cybersecurity of operationally critical contractors is at least as important as that of traditional defense industrial base contractors, and the conferees seek greater clarity as to what efforts are underway to ensure their cybersecurity.

The conferees therefore direct the Commander of U.S.
Transportation Command, the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment, the Chief Information Officer, and the Director of the Protecting Critical Technologies Task Force to brief the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives, no later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act, on: (1) The expected use-case for the requested authority; (2) The expected implementation through contractual mechanisms of such an authority; (3) The need for and purpose of subsections (2) and (3) of the legislative proposal; and (4) How the Department is treating operationally critical contractors within its broader efforts to secure the defense industrial base against cyber attacks and respond, in the event of a cyberattack, more aggressively in its investigatory and counterintelligence actions.

The conferees look forward to this briefing and to legislating on this issue in the Fiscal Year 2021 National Briefing on memorandum of understanding relating to joint operational planning and control of cyberattacks of national scale

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1645) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide a briefing, not later than March 1, 2020, to the congressional defense and homeland security committees on the Joint Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security Memorandum of Understanding, signed by the Secretary of Defense on October 6, 2018.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes. The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives a briefing on the Joint Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security Memorandum of Understanding signed by the Secretary of Defense on October 6, 2018.

The briefing shall include information on the following:
(1) The number of planners assigned by the Department of Defense to line of effort three and line of effort four and the areas of expertise of those planners; (2) Whether the these planners are physically co-located with their counterparts in the Department of Homeland Security and are assigned full-time or part-time to line of effort three and line of effort four; (3) Under what authority these planners have been assigned; (4) The status of the development of operational plans and playbooks that will be implemented in response to actual cyberattacks of national scale; (5) The standing arrangements for interagency coordination and orchestration of response in the event of a cyberattack of national scale, including the status of the process established in Presidential Policy Directive-41 and the relevant principal, organization, and staff tasked with orchestrating a whole-of-government response; (6) The charter and implementation plan of the Joint Department of Defense and Department of Homeland Security Cyber Protection and Defense Steering Group; (7) The status of any Department of Defense cyber intelligence activities and operational preparation of the environment intended specifically to deter and disrupt adversary cyberattacks on United States critical infrastructure and planned in coordination with the Department of Homeland Security; (8) The current operational planning activities and standing arrangements between the Department of Defense and Department of Energy, including a determination as to whether the Secretary of Energy can directly request Defense Support of Civil Authorities; and (9) The status of implementing section 1650 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) on the pilot program authority to enhance cybersecurity and resilience of critical infrastructure.

Prohibition on availability of funds for deployment of low-yield ballistic missile warhead

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1646) that would prohibit the use of any funds authorized to be appropriated for fiscal year 2020 by this Act for deployment of the W76-2 warhead.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Sense of the Senate on industrial base for ground-based strategic deterrent program

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1666) that would express the sense of the Senate on the importance of ensuring the viability of the industrial base for large solid rocket motors for the ground-based strategic deterrent program.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees encourage the Secretary of Defense to continue to consider the long-term health and viability of the industrial base when structuring and awarding major procurement or development contracts.

Missile defense radar in Hawaii

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1667) that would allow the Missile Defense Agency to use research, development, test, and evaluation (RDT&E) funds for fiscal year 2020 to construct portions of the Homeland Defense Radar-Hawaii (HDR-H).

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees note that the Missile Defense Agency notified Congress that the HDR-H project has been delayed due to activities regarding the environmental impact statement. Due to these delays, the Department’s previous legislative proposal requesting use of RDT&E funds for HDR-H radar elements would not be executable in fiscal year 2020.

Sense of the Senate on missile defense technology development priorities

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1678) that would express the sense of the Senate on the importance of advanced missile defense technologies in preventing and defeating the rapidly expanding offensive missile threat.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Modification to reports on certain solid rocket motors

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1681) that would modify the reporting requirement contained in section 1696 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) to include the provision of space launch services, and to require coordination with the Administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Sense of Senate on support for a robust and modern ICBM force to maximize the value of the nuclear triad of the United States

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6602) that would express the sense of the Senate in support of a robust and modern intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) force.
The House amendment contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes. The conferees note that, while the United States has reduced the number of deployed ICBMs in order to comply with New START limits, other countries have continued to enhance, enlarge, or modernize their ICBM forces.

TITLE XVII—REPORTS AND OTHER MATTERS

SUBTITLE A—STUDIES AND REPORTS

Modification of annual reporting requirement on defense manpower (sec. 1701)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1051) that would amend section 115a of title 10, United States Code, to rename, change the due date of, and modify the elements of the Defense Manpower Requirements Report. The provision would also require that the (renamed) Defense Manpower Profile Report be delivered to the Congress each year by April 1. Additionally, the provision would repeal reporting requirements related to contractor personnel, major military force unit justifications, support and overhead manpower functions, overseas manpower, medical personnel, and the military technician program. Finally, the provision would set separate due dates for reporting requirements related to major Department of Defense headquarters activities and the diversity of the Armed Forces.

The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would repeal reporting requirements related to contractor personnel, major military force unit justifications, support and overhead manpower functions, and overseas manpower. Reports related to medical personnel and the military technician program would continue to be required to be submitted to the Congress.

Termination of requirement for submittal to Congress of certain recurring reports (sec. 1702)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1073) that, effective on December 30, 2121, would terminate the requirement that the Department of Defense submit to the Congress any a recurring report required by an annual national defense authorization act enacted on or after December 30, 2016. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would eliminate the requirement for the Department of Defense to submit to Congress the 10 reports specifically enumerated. In addition, the amendment would provide that except as expressly provided in the law, any report submitted to Congress pursuant to a provision of the National Defense Authorization Act shall be written by a civilian employee of the Federal Government, a member of the Armed Forces, or both, and not by a contractor. This limitation will take effect for reports enacted in law on or after the date that is three years after the date of the enactment of this Act. Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense shall provide a briefing to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives on the actions to be taken to implement this limitation.

Modification of annual report on civilian casualties in connection with United States military operations (sec. 1703)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec.1053) that would extend through December 31, 2025, the reporting requirement established by section 1057 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91), as most recently amended by section 1062 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232).

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would extend for 7 years section 1057 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91), as most recently amended by section 1062 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) and add elements to the required report.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 45 days following the enactment of this Act identifying any instances from the preceding year in which an individual was determined to be a combatant solely based upon proximity to the intended target or location of a strike or other United States military direct action operation.

Extension of requirement for briefings on the national biodefense strategy (sec. 1704)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1084) that would amend section 1086(d) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) by extending to March 1, 2025, the requirement for annual briefings on the status and implementation plan of the National Biodefense Strategy.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Authorization of appropriations for title III of the Defense Production Act of 1950 (sec. 1705)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6017) that would amend section 711 of the Defense Production Act of 1950 (50 U.S.C. 4561) to designate, for each of fiscal years 2020 through 2024, an additional $117.0 million above the current authorization level of $133.0 million for carrying out the provisions and purposes of the Defense Production Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would make technical changes and require an annual briefing to congressional committees on such activities.

Report on the Department of Defense plan for mass-casualty disaster response operations in the Arctic (sec. 1706)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1056) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of Homeland Security, to submit a report on the plan of the Department of Defense for assisting mass-casualty disaster response operations in the Arctic.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Transmittal to Congress of requests for assistance from other departments of the Federal Government that are approved by the Department of Defense (sec. 1707)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1058) that would require the Secretary of Defense to transmit electronically requests for assistance received from the Department of Homeland Security or the Department of Health and Human Services to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives not later than 7 calendar days after receiving those requests. The provision also requires the Secretary to transmit any responses to such requests.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Report and briefing on implementation of national defense strategy (sec. 1708)

The House amendment contained two provisions (secs. 1052 and 1074) that would facilitate implementation of the National Defense Strategy (NDS) by requiring the Department of Defense to review its operational concepts and plans regarding strategic competitors on matters identified in the NDS.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require two independent studies, to be performed by a federally funded research and development center and an independent, non-governmental institute, on the development of joint operational concepts within the Department of Defense.

The conferees note the pivotal importance of NDS implementation to national security and strongly encourage the Department of Defense to continue to construct and validate new joint operational concepts to accomplish the objective of deterring and, if necessary, defeating strategic competitors.

Actions to increase analytic support (sec. 1709)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1053) that would require the Department to provide an assessment of the decision support capacity, specifically the analytic expertise resident within the Department, to link National Defense Strategy (NDS) objectives to innovative approaches to meet future challenges.

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1052) that would require a report from the Department of Defense on the plan and processes the Department is setting forth to provide analytic support to senior leaders for force planning, as it relates to implementing the NDS.

The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

The conferees note the fundamental importance of underlying analytic capability to the effective implementation of the NDS as well as to making fully-informed and timely decisions regarding national security.

Inclusion of certain individuals investigated by Inspectors General in the semiannual report (sec. 1710)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1064) that would require the Office of the Inspector General of the Department of Defense to include in its quarterly reports, the already-public names of senior officials who commit misconduct.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would modify section 5(a)(19) of the Inspector General Act of 1978 (Public Law 95-452), to require an Inspector General to include in semiannual reports, a report on each investigation conducted by the Office involving a senior Government employee against whom allegations of misconduct were substantiated, including the name of the senior government official (as that term is defined by the department or agency), if already made public, together with: (1) The facts and circumstances of the investigation; and (2) The status and disposition of the matter, including if it was referred to the Department of Justice and that department's action on the referral.

Annual report on Joint Military Information Support Operations Web Operations Center (sec. 1711)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1065) that would require the Commander of U.S. Special Operations Command to provide an annual report to the congressional defense committees not later than March 1 of each year on the Joint Military Information Support Operations Web Operations Center.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Mobility capability requirements study (sec. 1712)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1066) that would require the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Special Operations/Low-Intensity Conflict and the Commander, U.S. Transportation Command, to submit a report and a briefing to the House Committee on Armed Services by January 1, 2021, with an interim update by June 1, 2020, assessing the operational risk for meeting the mobility requirements of the geographic combatant commanders.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Assessment of special operations force structure (sec. 1713)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1067) that would require the Secretary of Defense not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act to enter into an agreement with a federally funded research and development center for the conduct of an independent assessment of the force structure and roles and responsibilities of special operations forces.
Army aviation strategic plan and modernization roadmap (sec. 1714)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1068) that would require the Secretary of the Army to develop a comprehensive strategic plan for Army aviation and to provide a report to Congress containing the required comprehensive strategic plan and an analysis of sustainment and modernization decisions to meet such plan.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Report on ground based long-range artillery to counter land and maritime threats (sec. 1715)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1069) that would require the Secretary of Defense to provide a report to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and House of Representatives on the efforts of the Army and Marine Corps to develop and deploy ground-based long-range rocket and cannon artillery to counter land and maritime threats.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Independent review of transportation working-capital fund (sec. 1716)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1070) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretaries of the military departments, to contract with an independent federally funded research and development center to conduct a review of the Transportation Working Capital Fund of the U.S. Transportation Command.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Geographic command risk assessment of proposed use of certain aircraft capabilities (sec. 1717)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1071) that would require selected commanders of geographic combatant commands to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than March 31, 2020, that assesses the level of operational risk posed by the plans of the Department of the Air Force and the Department of the Navy to provide a mix of fifth generation and advanced fourth generation tactical aircraft capabilities to meet each commanders’ contingency and steady-state operational requirements.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Report on the backlog of personnel security clearance adjudications (sec. 1718)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1076) that would require the Suitability Executive Agent to submit a report to Congress on the backlog of personnel security clearance adjudications.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Security Executive Agent, in coordination with members of the Performance Accountability Council, to submit a report to Congress on the backlog of personnel security clearance adjudications conducted by all Government agencies that adjudicate decisions for security clearances.

Report regarding outstanding Government Accountability Office recommendations (sec. 1719)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1080C) that would direct the Secretary of Defense to report to Congress on the priority recommendations of the Comptroller General of the United States regarding matters of the Department of Defense.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense to report on priority recommendations that have not yet been implemented due to funding limitations and the estimated costs associated with implementing such recommendations.

Report on National Guard and United States Northern Command capacity to meet homeland defense and security incidents (sec. 1720)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6010) that would require, not later than September 30, 2020, the Chief of the National Guard Bureau, in consultation with the Commander of United States Northern Command (NORTHCOM), to provide a report that assesses National Guard and NORTHCOM resources and readiness.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 520C).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

Assessment of standards, processes, procedures, and policy relating to civilian casualties (sec. 1721)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1087) that would require the Secretary of Defense to enter into an agreement with a federally funded research and development center for conduct of an independent assessment of the sufficiency of Department of Defense standards, processes, procedures, and policy relating to civilian casualties resulting from United States military operations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

When conducting the assessment required by this provision, the conferees encourage the selected federally funded research and development center to consider whether and how pre-strike Collateral Damage Estimates are factored in to post-strike analysis and investigations. The conferees also commend the Department for their ongoing efforts to engage and consider the views of non-governmental organizations on issues surrounding civilian casualties and potential methods to mitigate such events, and encourage this necessary engagement to continue as the results of this assessment are considered and incorporated into Department of Defense policy.

Report on transfers of equipment to prohibited entities (sec. 1722)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1061) that would amend chapter 16 of title 10, United States Code, to require an annual report on transfers of equipment to prohibited entities. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense not later than March 1, 2020 to submit a report to specified congressional committees on the transfer of defense articles during the period beginning on January 1, 2015 and ending on the date of enactment of this Act.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require not later than March 1, 2021 and each subsequent year through 2025, the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of State, to submit a report to specified congressional committees on transfers of equipment to prohibited entities.
Annual report on strikes undertaken by the United States against terrorist targets outside areas of active hostilities (sec. 1723)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1072) that would require an annual report to Congress not later than May 1 of each year on the number of strikes undertaken by the United States against terrorist targets outside areas of active hostilities during the preceding calendar year, as well as assessments of combatant and non-combatant deaths resulting from those strikes.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Director of National Intelligence and the Secretary of Defense to jointly submit to Congress an annual report not later than May 1, 2020 and for two years thereafter on the number of strikes undertaken by the United States against terrorist targets outside areas of active hostilities during the preceding calendar year, as well as assessments of combatant and non-combatant deaths resulting from those strikes.

Review and assessment of mitigation of military helicopter noise (sec. 1724)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1096) that would require the Secretary of Defense to develop a noise inquiry website to assist in directing mitigation efforts.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense to conduct a study on the causes and effects of military helicopter noise on the National Capital Region.

SUBTITLE B—OTHER MATTERS

Technical, conforming, and clerical amendments (sec. 1731)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1081) that would make a number of technical, conforming, and clerical amendments of a non-substantive nature to existing law.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with technical amendments.

Establishment of lead Inspector General for an overseas contingency operation based on Secretary of Defense notification (sec. 1732)
The Senate Bill contained a provision (sec. 6511) that would amend section 113 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretary of Defense to provide written notification to the Chair of the Council of Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency of the commencement or designation of a military operation as an overseas contingency operation, so as to facilitate the Chair's timely designation of a Lead Inspector General for that overseas contingency operation.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Clarification of authority of Inspectors General for overseas contingency operations (sec. 1733)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6512) that would amend section 8L(d)(2) of the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App.), to enhance cooperation among Inspectors General and encourage comprehensive oversight of any contingency operation. The provision provides that upon request by the Inspector General with principal jurisdiction over a matter with respect to a contingency operation, and with the approval of the lead Inspector General, an Inspector General specified in the Act may provide investigative support or conduct an independent investigation of any allegation of criminal activity by any United States person or agent in the applicable theater of operations.

In the case of a determination by the lead Inspector General that no Inspector General has principal jurisdiction over a matter with respect to a contingency operation, the lead Inspector General may conduct an independent investigation of such criminal allegations, or request that an Inspector General specified in the Act do so.

Finally, the provision clarifies that any Inspector General responsible for conducting oversight of any program or operation performed in support of a contingency operation may coordinate such activities with, and provide information requested by the lead Inspector General.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Employment status of annuitants for Inspectors General for overseas contingency operations (sec. 1734)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6513) that would amend section 8L(d) of the Inspector General Act of 1978 (5 U.S.C. App.) to permit an annuitant receiving an annuity under the Foreign Service Retirement and Disability System or the Foreign Service Pension System to continue to receive a foreign service annuity while reemployed by an Inspector General for an overseas contingency operation.

Further, the provision establishes that upon completion of 2 years of continuous service in the employ of a lead Inspector General for an overseas contingency operation, an employee acquires competitive status for appointment to any position in the competitive service for which he or she possesses the requisite qualifications. This enhanced appointment authority will sunset as to persons first employed by a lead Inspector General for an overseas contingency operation more than 2 years after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Extension of National Security Commission on Artificial Intelligence (sec. 1735)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1042) that would delay the termination of the National Security Commission on Artificial Intelligence to March 1, 2021, and amend the due dates of the Commission’s reports.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1083) that would delay the termination of the National Security Commission on Artificial Intelligence to March 1, 2021, and amend the due date of the Commission’s first report.

The House recedes with an amendment that would modify the termination date and add an authority to accept gifts.

The conferees are pleased that the National Security Commission on Artificial Intelligence has begun executing its critical mandate with resolve and purpose. The original intent of the conferees was to create a Commission with limited duration and minimal staffing and with status as an independent entity. The conferees acknowledge the President of the United States’ signing statement of August 13, 2018, that the Commission will be treated as an independent entity, separate from the executive branch due to its legislative branch appointees and the necessity to uphold the separation of powers. The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to provide appropriate resources to enable the Commission to process and support security classification and administrative related issues as well as comply with other legal requirements.

Exemption from calculation of monthly income, for purposes of bankruptcy laws, of certain payments from the Department of Veterans Affairs and the Department of Defense (sec. 1736)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6004) that would amend section 101(10A) of title 11, United States Code, by exempting payments provided by the Department of Veterans Affairs and the Department of Defense in connection with a disability, combat-related injury or disability, or death of a member of the uniformed services from being included in bankruptcy calculations.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 1099K).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

Extension of postage stamp for breast cancer research (sec. 1737)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1085) that would amend section 414(h) of title 39, United States Code, by extending the postage stamp for breast cancer research to 2027. The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

National Commission on Military Aviation Safety (sec. 1738)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1085) that would extend the reporting date for the National Commission on Aviation Safety from March 1, 2020, until December 1, 2020. It would also authorize an additional $3.0 million for the Commission to conduct its work.

The House amendment included a similar provision (sec. 1084) that would extend the reporting date and provide an additional authorization of $3.0 million.

In addition, the House provision would require a report from the Secretary of Defense within 120 days after the Commission submits its report that would include: (1) an assessment of the findings and conclusions of the Commission; (2) the plan of the Secretaries for implementing the recommendations of the Commission; and (3) any other actions taken or planned by the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of any of the military departments to improve military aviation safety.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees understand that the Commission is relying heavily on the services’ safety centers for data, which is appropriate. However, the conferees also understand that the Commission may be intending to rely solely on the safety centers for analysis of that data. The conferees believe it is important for the Commission to conduct its own independent analysis of the data in order to develop its own set of conclusions and recommendations.

Guarantee of residency for spouses of members of uniformed services (sec. 1739)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1083) that would amend title VI of the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (50 U.S.C. 4021 et seq.) to allow a spouse of a servicemember to elect the same residence as the servicemember for any purpose regardless of the date on which the marriage occurred.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would allow a spouse of a servicemember to elect the same residence as the servicemember for any purpose, to include the registration of a business, regardless of the date on which the marriage occurred.

Electromagnetic pulses and geomagnetic disturbances (sec. 1740)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6006) that would make a series of modifications to section 320 of the Homeland Security Act of 2002 (6 U.S.C. 195f), to improve preparedness for and resilience to the effects of electromagnetic pulses and geomagnetic disturbances. The provision would also require the Secretary of Homeland Security, in coordination with other relevant agency officials, to submit several reports to the appropriate congressional committees.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a series of technical and clarifying amendments.

Improvements to Manufacturing USA Program (sec. 1741)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6008) that would amend section 34 of the National Institute of Standards and Technology Act (15 U.S.C. 278s) to provide various improvements in the Manufacturing USA program, including eliminating funding limits for high performing institutes, adding new networks in innovate sectors such as advanced sensors, increasing interagency collaboration, and facilitating the development of standards-based certifications.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a clarifying amendment.

The conferees note the importance of the Hollings Manufacturing Extension Partnership Program in providing education, guidance, and technical assistance to strengthen the cybersecurity of small- and medium-sized manufacturers that provide goods or services in the supply chain for the Department of Defense and encourage the Secretary of Defense to continue work with this program to strengthen the industrial base.

Regional innovation program (sec. 1742)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6009) that would amend section 3722 of title 15, United States Code, to revise the regional innovation program, including replacing regional innovation clusters with regional innovation initiatives and authorizing the Secretary of Commerce to use up to $50.0 million of appropriated funds to carry out the program in each of the fiscal years 2020 through 2024.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with clarifying amendments.

Aviation workforce development (sec. 1743)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6019) that would amend Section 625(c)(1) of the FAA Reauthorization Act of 2018 (P.L. 115-254).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Oversight of Department of Defense execute orders (sec. 1744)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1033) that would require the Secretary of Defense, except in extraordinary circumstances, to provide the congressional defense committees with an execute order approved by the Secretary of Defense or a combatant commander for review within 30 days of receiving a written request from the Chairman or Ranking Member of any such committee.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1082) that would add a new section in chapter 2 of title 10, United States Code, requiring the Secretary of Defense to provide to the Chairman and Ranking Member of each of the congressional defense committees, and their designated staff with the appropriate security clearance, copies of each execute order issued by the Secretary or by a commander of a combatant command before the date of the enactment of this Act, and within 30 days of issuing an execute order after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense, except in extraordinary circumstances, to provide to the congressional defense committees an execute order that has been approved by the Secretary of Defense or a combatant commander for review and a detailed briefing on the requested execute order within 30 days of receiving written request from the Chairman or Ranking Member of any such committee. The provision would also require that, not later than 30 days after the date on which the budget of the President is submitted to Congress under section 1105(a) of title 31, United States Code, and every 90 days thereafter, the Secretary of Defense submit to the congressional defense committees a comprehensive report identifying and summarizing all execute orders approved by the Secretary or the commander of a combatant command in effect for the Department of Defense as of the date of the report.

Processes and procedures for notifications regarding special operations forces (sec. 1745)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1086) that would mandate the Secretary of Defense establish and submit processes and procedures for providing notifications to the congressional defense committees regarding members of special operations forces. This section would also mandate that the processes and procedures include clarification of the roles and responsibilities of the Secretaries of the military departments, the Assistance Secretary of Defense for Special Operations and Low Intensity Conflict, and the Commander of U.S. Special Operations Command in providing such notifications to Congress.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Securing American science and technology (sec. 1746)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1089) that would establish an interagency working group to coordinate activities for the protection of federally funded research and development from foreign interference while accounting for an exchange of ideas and for the international talent required for scientific progress and American leadership in science.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would: (1) Modify the membership of the working group; (2) Modify the responsibilities of the working group; (3) Require the Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy to develop and issue policy guidance; and (4) Establish a roundtable sunset.

Standardized policy guidance for calculating aircraft operation and sustainment costs (sec. 1747)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1090) that would require the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment to develop and implement standardized policy guidance for calculating aircraft operation and sustainment costs for the Department of Defense.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the standardized policy guidance to include a calculation of the average annual operational and sustainment cost per aircraft and other cost metrics as considered appropriate by the Under Secretary.

Special Federal Aviation Regulation Working Group (sec. 1748)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1091) that would require the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of Transportation, and the Secretary of State to establish a Special Federal Aviation Regulation interagency working group to review the current options for the Department of Defense to use contracted U.S. civil aviation to provide support for Department of Defense missions in areas where a Federal Aviation Administration Special Federal Aviation Regulation is in effect.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Prohibition on names related to the Confederacy (sec. 1749)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1092) that would prohibit the Secretary of Defense from naming any asset that refers to, or include a term referring to, the Confederate States of America.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would explicitly state that nothing in this provision may be construed as requiring the Secretary concerned to initiate a review of previously named assets.

Support for National Maritime Heritage Grants program (sec. 1750)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099F) that would allow the Secretary of Defense to contribute up to $5.0 million to provide support for the National Maritime Heritage Grants program under section 308703 of title 54, United States Code.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
Support for world language advancement and readiness (sec. 1751)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099N) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to make grants to eligible entities to carry out innovative model programs providing for the establishment, improvement, or expansion of world language study for elementary school and secondary schools.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to provide support to eligible entities for the establishment, improvement, or expansion of world language study for elementary school and secondary school students.

Designation of Department of Defense strategic Arctic ports (sec. 1752)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1041) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Commanding General of the United States Army Corps of Engineers, the Commandant of the Coast Guard, and the Administrator of the Maritime Administration, to submit a report to the congressional defense committees evaluating potential sites for one or more strategic ports in the Arctic region. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense to designate one or more ports as Department of Defense Strategic Arctic Ports not later than 90 days after the submission of the report.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1099T) that would require the same report outlined in the Senate bill, and based on that report the Secretary of Defense may designate one or more ports as Department of Defense Strategic Arctic Ports not later than 90 days after the submission of the report.

The Senate recedes.

Independent studies regarding potential cost savings with respect to the nuclear security enterprise and force structure (sec. 1753)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099Y) that would require the Comptroller General of the United States to conduct a report with cost analyses on options for reducing the nuclear security enterprise, options for reductions in services contracts, options for rebalancing force structure and the force mix between active and reserve components, options for reducing or realigning overseas military presence, options for the use of pre-award audits, and options for replacing military personnel with civilian employees.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Defense enter into contracts with two federally funded research centers to conduct independent reviews of alternative defense postures that achieve U.S national security objectives and could produce cost savings. These reviews will examine alternative nuclear deterrence postures with increased and decreased force posture levels, changes to conventional force structure and posture, alterations to the mix of military and civilian workforces, and options for reducing services contracts. The amendment also requires a briefing by the Comptroller General of the United States on open recommendations for cost savings at the Department of Defense.

Comprehensive Department of Defense policy on collective self-defense (sec. 1754)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1032) that would require the Secretary of Defense to prescribe a comprehensive written policy for the Department of Defense on the issuance of authorization of, and the provision by members and units of the United States Armed Forces of, collective self-defense to designated foreign nationals, their facilities, and their property.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Policy regarding the transition of data and applications to the cloud (sec. 1755)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 1035) that would require the Chief Information and Chief Data Officers of the Department of Defense to develop and implement a policy relating to the transition of data and applications to the cloud under the Department's cloud strategy.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Integrated public alert and warning system (sec. 1756)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6012) that would require the Administrator of the Federal Emergency Management Agency to develop minimum requirements for State, Tribal, and local governments to participate in the public alert and warning system.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment to clarify the definition of “appropriate congressional committees” and to include a false alert reporting requirement.

Improving quality of information in background investigation request packages (sec. 1757)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec.6014) that would require, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Director of the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency, in consultation with the Security, Suitability, and Credentialing Performance Accountability Council, submit a report on metrics and best practices in the background investigation process. The provision would also require, not later than 270 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Security, Suitability, and Credentialing Performance Accountability Council to report on performance against the metrics and return rates identified in the provision. The provision would also require the subsequent identification of agencies in need of improvement and plans to improve performance.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Parole in place for members of the Armed Forces and certain military dependents (sec. 1758)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099C) that would establish the eligibility of a non-citizen member of the Armed Forces, as well as that servicemember’s spouse, widow, widower, parent, son, or daughter, for “parole in place” under section 212(d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act. Further, the provision would express the sense of Congress as to the value of family unity in promoting the readiness and mission accomplishment in the Armed Forces, and reaffirm the parole in place authority of the Secretary of Homeland Security.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of Homeland Security to consider, on a case-by-case basis, whether granting the request of a member of the Armed Forces for parole in place would enable military family unity that would constitute a significant public benefit. The Secretary of Homeland Security would apply like consideration to parole in place requests from the spouse, son, daughter, or parent of a member of the Armed Forces, and from the widow, son, daughter, or parent of a member of the Armed Forces who is deceased. Further, the amendment sets forth the sense of Congress that: (1) parole in place reinforces the objective of military family unity; (2) except as required in furtherance of the missions of the Armed Forces, disruption to military family unity should be minimized in order to enhance military readiness; and (3) the importance of the parole in place authority of the Secretary of Homeland Security is reaffirmed.

Report on reducing the backlog in legally required historical declassification obligations of the Department of Defense (sec. 1759)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1098) that would require that not later than 120 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, and the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency each shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees, a report detailing progress made by the Secretary or the Director, as the case may be, toward reducing the backlog in legally required historical declassification obligations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would scope the requirement such that only the Secretary of Defense need submit a report, and that the Secretary's report would be submitted only to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Military type certification for light attack experimentation aircraft (sec. 1760)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1095) that would require the Secretary of the Air Force to make available and conduct military type certifications for light attack aircraft participating in the experiment as needed.

The Senate bill contained a similar provision (sec. 146) that would require the Secretary of the Air Force to conduct a Military Type Certification for AT-6 and A-29 Light Attack Experimentation Aircraft.

The Senate recedes.

No Force and Effect

The Senate bill contained two provisions (secs. 5546 and 5585) that would provide respectively that: (1) Part III of subtitle D of title V of the bill, and the amendments made by that part, would have no force and effect; and (2) Section 585 of the bill would have no force and effect.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The Senate recedes.

DIVISION B—MILITARY CONSTRUCTION AUTHORIZATIONS

Summary and explanation of funding tables

Division B of this Act authorizes funding for military construction projects of the Department of Defense. It includes funding authorizations for the construction and operation of military family housing as well as military construction for the reserve components, the defense agencies, and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Security Investment Program. It also provides authorization for the base closure accounts that fund military construction, environmental cleanup, and other activities required to implement the decisions in base closure rounds. The tables contained in this Act provide the project-level authorizations for the military construction funding authorized in Division B of this Act and summarize that funding by account.
The conferees continue to believe in the value and appropriateness of providing a full authorization but incremental authorization of appropriations for certain military construction projects. The conferees believe incremental funding of large and complex military construction projects enables the Department to execute additional infrastructure projects in a fiscal year, enables continuous congressional oversight, and provides opportunities to adjust the authorization of appropriations level for projects should issues arise or requirements change over the course of construction. In instances where the conference agreement provides full authorization but incremental authorization of appropriations for certain military construction projects, the committee expects the Department to award these projects in the year of authorization and not defer award until the full appropriation amount is received.

Short title (sec. 2001)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2001) that would designate division B of this Act as the "Military Construction Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020."

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2001).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

Expiration of authorizations and amounts required to be specified by law (sec. 2002)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2002) that would establish the expiration date for authorizations in this Act for military construction projects, land acquisition, family housing projects, and contributions to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Security Investment Program as of October 1, 2024, or the date of the enactment of an act authorizing funds for military construction for fiscal year 2025, whichever is later.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2002).

The House recedes.

Effective date (sec. 2003)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2003) that would provide an effective date for titles XXI through XXVII and title XXIX of October 1, 2019, or the date of the enactment of this Act, whichever is later.
The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2003).

The House recedes.

TITLE XXI—ARMY MILITARY CONSTRUCTION

Summary

The budget request included $1,453,499,000 for Army military construction and $499,279,000 for family housing for fiscal year 2020. The conference agreement includes authorization of appropriations of $1,270,999,000 for military construction and $604,012,000 for family housing for the Army in fiscal year 2020.

The agreement includes authorization and authorization of appropriations for 3 military construction projects that were not included in the budget request but submitted to the congressional defense committees as part of the Army's unfunded requirements list. These projects include: $40.0 million for an Air Traffic Control Tower and Terminal at Kwajalein Atoll; $21.0 million for a Railhead at Fort Drum, New York; and $18.5 million for a Vehicle Bridge at Fort Hood, Texas.

The agreement also includes authorization and authorization of appropriations of $27.0 million for the Secretary of the Army to carry out Child Development Center projects, with prior notification to the congressional defense committees. The conferees recommend the Secretary use this authority to alleviate issues with the condition and capacity of Child Development Centers in support of military families.

The agreement provides for full authorization and incremental authorization of appropriations in an amount equal to the Department’s ability to execute in the year of the authorization of appropriations for the following projects:

- Cyber Instruction Facility (Admin/Command) at Fort Gordon, Georgia;
- the General Instruction Building at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

The agreement provides an additional $5,000,000 for Family Housing, Construction Army Planning and Design for the housing pilot program mandated in this Act.

Finally, the conferees note that the budget request included $211.0 million in Army military construction as a placeholder to support the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force response to the challenges facing the management and oversight of Military Housing Privatization Initiative developments. The conferees support additional resources to hire additional civilian personnel at the headquarters and installation level to improve the management and oversight of MHPI developments. The conferees also support applying additional resources towards improved maintenance of government-owned and operated housing units. However, the conferees believe these resources should be directed to the appropriate military departments’ family housing accounts. Therefore, the agreement recommends a reduction of $211.0 million from the placeholder, but an increase of $54.7 million for Army Family Housing Maintenance and $45.0 million for Army Housing Privatization Support.

Authorized Army construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2101)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2101) that would authorize military construction projects for the active component of the Army for fiscal year 2020. The authorized amount is listed on an installation-by-installation basis.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2101) that would also require the Secretary of Defense to provide a study of near-term facility alternatives to house high value detainees currently detained at Naval Station Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Family housing (sec. 2102)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2102) that would authorize new construction, planning, and design of family housing units for the Army for fiscal year 2020. This provision would also authorize funds for facilities that support family housing, including housing management offices, housing maintenance, and storage facilities.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2102).

The Senate recedes.

Authorization of appropriations, Army (sec. 2103)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2103) that would authorize appropriations for the active component military construction and family housing projects of the Army authorized for construction for fiscal year 2020. This provision would also provide an overall limit on the amount authorized for military construction and family housing projects for the active component of the Army. The state list contained in this report is the binding list of the specific projects authorized at each location.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2103).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

(Modification of authority to carry out certain fiscal year 2019 projects (sec. 2104)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2104) that would modify the authorization contained in section 2101(a) of the Military Construction Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (division B of Public Law 115–232) for the construction of a weapon maintenance shop at Anniston Army Depot, Alabama.
The House bill contained a similar provision (sec. 2104).
The Senate recedes.

TITLE XXII—NAVY MILITARY CONSTRUCTION

Summary

The budget request included $2,805,743,000 for Navy and Marine Corps military construction and $365,531,000 for family housing for fiscal year 2020. The conference agreement includes authorization of appropriations of $2,774,961,000 for military construction and $479,864,000 for family housing for the Navy and Marine Corps in fiscal year 2020.
The agreement includes authorization and authorization of appropriations for 13 military construction projects that were not included in the budget request but submitted to the congressional defense committees as part of the United States Indo-Pacific Command, Navy, and Marine Corps’ unfunded requirements list. TITLE XXIV—DEFENSE AGENCIES MILITARY CONSTRUCTION

The budget request included $2,504,190,000 for military construction and $60,545,000 for family housing for defense agencies for fiscal year 2020. The conference agreement includes authorization of appropriations of $2,202,910,000 for military construction and $60,545,000 for family housing for defense agencies in fiscal year 2020.

The agreement includes authorization and authorization of appropriations for 12 Energy Resiliency Conservation Investment Program (ERCIP) projects that were not included in the budget request but submitted to the congressional defense committees as part of the Department’s unfunded requirements list. These projects include: $8.9 million for an Energy Storage System at Naval Air Weapons Station China Lake, California; $9.7 million to Install Microgrid Controller, 75 kw PV and 750 Kwh Battery at Mountain View, California; $10.5 million for a Cogeneration Plant B236 at Monterey, California; $16.9 million for Smart Grid and ICS Infrastructure at Naval Base Guam, Guam; $4.0 million to Install 500kw Covered Parking PV System & Electric Vehicle Charging Stations B479 at Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam, Hawaii; $13.8 million for Chiller 3-9 Replacement at Bethesda, Maryland; $18.4 million for IH Water Project – CBIRF/IHEODTD/Housing at South Potomac, Maryland; $5.8 million to Install Microgrid, 700kw PV, 150 Kw Generator, and Batteries at White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico; $4.5 million to Install Microgrid, 650Kw PV, & 500 Kw Generator at Camp Swift, Texas; $16.5 million to Install a Central Energy Plant at Fort Hood, Texas; $66,000 for Integration Systems Upgrades at NRO Headquarters, Virginia; and $23.6 million for Keyport Main Substation Replacement at Naval Base Kitsap, Washington.

The agreement includes authorization and authorization of appropriations for the following project that was not included in the budget request but submitted to the congressional defense committees as part of the Department’s unfunded requirements list: $66.8 million for Landstuhl Elementary School at Ramstein, Germany.

The agreement includes an authorization of appropriations for $30.0 million for Planning and Design: Military Installations Resiliency at unspecified worldwide locations. As noted elsewhere in this report, the conferees believe it is critical for the Department of Defense to appropriately account for the impacts of extreme weather and natural disasters, energy resiliency, a cyber-security threats when planning and designing infrastructure investments at military installations. Therefore, the conferees expect the Department to utilize this authorization of appropriations to conduct appropriate planning when developing resilient infrastructure masterplans and military construction projects.

The agreement provides for full authorization and incremental authorization of appropriations in an amount equal to the Department’s ability to execute in the year of the authorization of appropriations for the following projects: Kinnick High School, Increment 2 at Yokosuka, Japan; Bulk Storage Tanks Phase 1 at Yokota Air Base, Japan; MEDCEN Addition/Alteration Increment 3 at Bethesda Naval Hospital, Maryland; Next NGA West (N2W) Complex, Phase 2, Increment 2 at St. Louis, Missouri; and Operations Center Phase 2, Defense Distribution Depot Richmond, Virginia.

Authorized Defense Agencies construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2401)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2401) would authorize military construction projects for the Defense Agencies for fiscal year 2020. The authorized amounts are listed on an installation-by-installation basis.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2401).

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Authorized Energy Resilience and Conservation Investment Program projects (sec. 2402)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2402) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to carry out energy conservation projects. The authorized amounts are listed on an installation-by-installation basis.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2402).
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Authorization of appropriations, Defense Agencies (sec. 2403)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2403) that would authorize appropriations for the military construction and family housing projects of the Defense Agencies authorized for construction for fiscal year 2020. This provision would also provide an overall limit on the amount authorized for military construction and family housing projects for the Defense Agencies. The state list contained in this report is the binding list of the specific projects authorized at each location.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2403).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

TITLE XXV—INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS

SUBTITLE A—NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY ORGANIZATION SECURITY INVESTMENT PROGRAM

Summary

The budget request included $144,040,000 for military construction in fiscal year 2020 for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Security Investment Program. In addition, pursuant to agreement with the Republic of Korea, the budget request included a list of military construction projects to be funded as in-kind contributions by the Republic of Korea.

The conference agreement includes this amount for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Security Investment Program projects and the authorization to accept the military construction projects funded by the Republic of Korea.

Authorized NATO construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2501)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2501) that would authorize the Secretary of Defense to make contributions to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Security Investment Program in an amount equal to the sum of the amount specifically authorized in section 2502 of this title and the amount of recoupment due to the United States for construction previously financed by the United States.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2501). The conference agreement includes this provision.

Authorization of appropriations, NATO (sec. 2502)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2502) that would authorize appropriations of $144.0 million for the U.S. contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Security Investment Program (NSIP) for fiscal year 2020. The state list contained in this report is the binding list of the specific projects authorized at each location.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2606).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Review and report on construction of new, or maintenance of existing, direct fuel pipeline connections at Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve installations

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2607) that would require the Secretary of the Air Force, in conjunction with the Defense Logistics Agency (DLA), to complete a review on the construction of new, or maintenance of existing, direct fuel pipeline connections at Air National Guard (ANG) and Air Force Reserve (AFRES) installations.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of the Air Force, in conjunction with the DLA, to complete a review on the construction of new, or maintenance of existing, direct fuel pipeline connections at ANG and AFRES installations not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act. The review should contain the following elements:

1. An analysis of the extent to which the Air Force and DLA have identified direct fuel pipeline projects as an effective and efficient way to enhance the ability of regular component, ANG, and AFRES installations to improve the readiness of affected units and help them to meet their mission requirements. This should include an assessment of how the ANG and AFRES facilities, across all States and territories, can leverage such connections to better support current and emerging air refueling requirements.

2. An assessment of how direct fuel pipeline connections enhance the resiliency and efficiency of the installations and help meet existing DLA requirements for secondary storage and other fuel requirements.

3. A list of ANG and AFRES installations that do not currently have a direct connection pipeline but have access to such a pipeline within reasonable proximity (less than 5 miles) to the facility.

4. An overview and summary of the current process for considering such proposals, including the factors used to consider requests, the weight provided to each factor, and a list of ANG and AFRES installations that have sought funding for projects to create direct access to a national fuel pipeline or to maintain access to such pipelines over the last 5 years.

5. A list of the total instances in the past 5 years in which projects for direct fuel pipeline connections have been approved for regular component, ANG, or AFRES installations, including the costs of each project and the justification for such approval.

6. A list of ANG and AFFRES installations with current pipeline connections that the Air Force or DLA has determined should no longer be used, including:

   A. An analysis of the justifications for each determination, such as decisions to switch from pipelines to trucks as the primary fuel delivery method;

   B. An assessment of whether these determinations fairly weigh the costs and benefits of building or maintaining a pipeline tap as a practical primary or secondary fuel delivery method for the installation compared to railroad, barge terminal, or truck delivery; and
(C) An assessment of whether these determinations fairly consider or weigh how direct fuel pipeline connections increase security for the fuel supply by reducing the threat of interruption, how the connections enhance mission reliability by providing access to greater fuel storage capability, and the ability of such projects once completed to better support the domestic and global operations of the ANG or AFRES installation.

(7) An assessment of how costs associated with each direct fuel pipeline connection project is considered by the Air Force or DLA and the weight given to such costs in the final analysis.

(8) An assessment of the effectiveness or usefulness of guidance or technical assistance provided to installations that request or propose direct fuel pipeline connection projects and recommendations for additional ways to provide assistance to ensure the Air Force and DLA receive the most up-to-date information about the costs and benefits of proposed projects from installations.

(9) An assessment of the available funding sources though the Air Force, DLA, other Department of Defense entities, or other mechanisms, such as a public-private partnership or enhanced use lease, that can support direct fuel pipeline connection projects either in whole or in part.

(10) An assessment of the extent to which direct fuel pipeline connection projects have been incorporated in any comprehensive plan the Air Force has developed or will develop regarding investments needed to improve regular component, ANG, and AFRES installations to meet the Department’s needs.

The conferees further direct the Secretary to provide a final report containing the results of the review to the congressional defense committees not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act. The report should include recommendations on how the Air Force can better expedite and support the use of fuel pipelines at ANG and AFRES installations. The recommendations should include options for accelerating the development and consideration of such projects where most feasible and appropriate, including whether costs savings could be obtained by including such projects as part of other related projects already authorized at an installation.

TITLE XXVII—BASE REALIGNMENT AND CLOSURE ACTIVITIES

Summary

The budget request included $278,526,000 for Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) activities related to previous BRAC rounds. The conference agreement includes authorization of appropriations of $392,526,000 for Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) activities related to previous BRAC rounds in fiscal year 2020.

Authorization of appropriations for base realignment and closure activities funded through Department of Defense base closure account (sec. 2701)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2701) that would authorize appropriations for ongoing activities that are required to implement the decisions of the 1988, 1991, 1993, 1995, and 2005 base realignment and closure rounds.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2701).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

Prohibition on conducting additional base realignment and closure (BRAC) round (sec. 2702)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2702) that would prohibit the Department of Defense from conducting another base realignment and closure (BRAC) round.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

TITLE XXVIII—MILITARY CONSTRUCTION AND GENERAL PROVISIONS

SUBTITLE A—MILITARY CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

Military installation resilience plans and projects (sec. 2801)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2801) that would amend subchapter I of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretaries of the military departments to develop and implement military installation resilience plans for installations in coastal areas.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2803) that would amend section 2864 of title 10, United States Code, to provide additional clarity on the required elements of military installation resilience plans; encourage coordination with relevant local, State, and Federal entities in the development of plans; and require an assessment of resiliency gaps and best practices. This section would further require the Secretary of Defense to provide a report to the House Committee on Armed Services by March 1, 2020, listing the installation master plans completed or in progress during the previous 12 months.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would allow the Secretary of Defense to carry out military construction projects for military installation resilience.

Improved consultation with tribal governments when proposed military construction projects potentially impact Indian tribes (sec. 2802)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2804) that would require the military departments to assess whether any military construction project has the potential to significantly affect tribal lands, sacred sites, or tribal treaty rights. Additionally, the Secretary concerned shall include a description of the current status of consultation with the tribal government of each impacted Indian tribe on military construction projects proposed to Congress.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Increased authority for use of certain appropriations amounts for restoration or replacement of damaged or destroyed facilities (sec. 2803)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2804) that would allow the Secretary of the military department concerned to carry out unspecified minor military construction projects, not to exceed $12.0 million with an area cost factor of $19.0 million, at the following installations: (1) Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida; (2) Camp Ashland, Nebraska; (3) Offutt Air Force Base, Nebraska; (4) Camp Lejeune, North Carolina; and (5) Marine Corps Air Station Cherry Point, North Carolina. This provision would include a termination clause of 5 years after the enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would instead amend section 2854(c)(3) of title 10, United States Code, by striking “$50,000,000” and inserting “$100,000,000”.

Amendment of Unified Facilities Criteria to promote military installation resilience, energy resilience, energy and climate resiliency, and cyber resilience (sec. 2804)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2805) that would prohibit the Department of Defense from spending more than 25 percent of the funds available for military construction planning and design until the Secretary of Defense submits a certification to Congress that the Tri-Service Engineering Senior Executive Board has initiated the process of updating the Unified Facility Criteria to ensure building practices and standards promote military installation resilience, energy resilience, energy and climate resiliency, and cyber resilience. The Secretary of Defense would further certify that the review and revision process will be complete by September 1, 2020. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes with a clarifying amendment.

Modification to Department of Defense Form 1391 regarding consideration of potential long-term adverse environmental effects (sec. 2805)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2806) that would require the Secretary of Defense or Secretary of the military department concerned to certify, prior to submitting a military construction project for consideration, construction takes into account known extreme weather risks and employs best practices and local building code requirements for resiliency in the face of those risks. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes.

Improved flood risk disclosure for military construction (sec. 2806)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2807) that would amend section 2805(a)(1) of the Military Construction Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (division B of Public Law 115-232; 132 Stat. 2262; 10 U.S.C. 2802 note) to ensure sea level fluctuation is considered when evaluating military construction projects. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes.

Prioritization of projects in annual report on unfunded requirements for laboratory military construction projects (sec. 2807)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 7801) that would amend section 2806 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115-91; 10 U.S.C. 222a Note) by, among other things, requiring that the projects in the annual report on unfunded requirements for laboratory military construction projects are listed in prioritized order, with specific amounts and elements identified.

    The House amendment contained no similar provision.
    The House recedes.

Technical corrections and improvements to defense access road resilience (sec. 2808)

    The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2805) that would amend section 210 of title 23, United States Code, to improve the construction and reconstruction of defense access roads subject to weather conditions. Additionally, this provision would update the United Facilities Criteria to ensure that the Department of Defense accounts for weather and population projections during the construction projects.
    The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2808).
    The Senate recedes.

Military construction projects for child development centers at military installations (sec. 2809)

    The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 7804) that would require the Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness, in coordination with the Assistant Secretary for Energy, Installations, and Environment for each military department, to submit to the congressional defense committees an annual report listing, in priority order, unfunded requirements for major and minor military construction projects for Department of Defense child development centers (CDCs). This provision would also increase the maximum amounts applicable to minor construction projects for CDCs to $15.0 million for no more than 3 years after the date of the enactment of this Act.
    The House amendment contained no similar provision.
    The House recedes with an amendment that would authorize specific funds for CDCs as delineated in the funding table in section 4601 with specific conditions for authorization.
    The conferees direct the Undersecretary of Defense, in coordination with the Assistant Secretary for Energy, Installations, and Environment for each military department, to submit a report to the congressional defense committees by February 15, 2020, listing unfunded requirements for major and minor military construction projects for CDCs of the Department of Defense in priority order. The report shall include appropriate DD Form 1391 documentation for each project.
Prohibition on use of funds to reduce air base resiliency or demolish protected aircraft shelters in the European theater without creating a similar protection from attack (sec. 2810)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2802, as amended by sec. 7802) that would prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act or otherwise made available for the Department of Defense to be obligated or expended to implement any activity that reduces air base resiliency or demolishes protected aircraft shelters in the European theater without creating similar protection from attack until such time as the Secretary of Defense certifies that protected aircraft shelters are not required in the European theater.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Prohibition on use of funds to close or return certain bases to the host nation (sec. 2811)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2803, as amended by sec. 7803) that would prohibit funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act or otherwise made available for the Department of Defense to be obligated or expended to implement any activity that closes or returns to host nations any existing airbases until such time as the Secretary of Defense certifies that there is no longer a need for a rotational military presence in the European theater.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

SUBTITLE B—REAL PROPERTY AND FACILITIES ADMINISTRATION

Improved energy security for main operating bases in Europe (sec. 2821)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2831) that would prohibit the use of Russian Federation sourced natural gas at main operating bases in Europe.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Access to Department of Defense installations for credentialed transportation workers (sec. 2822)
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2832) that would enable the Transportation Worker Identification Credential card to be accepted as a valid credential for unescorted access to a work site at a maritime terminal of the Department of Defense (DOD) and other DOD facilities.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Improved recording and maintaining of Department of Defense real property data (sec. 2823)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2835) that would require the Undersecretary of Defense for Acquisition and Sustainment to submit a report evaluating service-level best practices for recording and maintaining real property data to Congress not later than 150 days after the date of the enactment of this Act. This provision would also require the Undersecretary to issue service-wide guidance on the best practices described in the report not later than 300 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

SUBTITLE C—LAND CONVEYANCES

Land conveyance, Hill Air Force Base, Ogden, Utah (sec. 2831)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2841) that would authorize the Secretary of the Air Force to convey 35 acres on Hill Air Force Base to the State of Utah for the purposes of permitting the State to construct a new interchange for Highway 15.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2811) that would allow the Secretary of the Army to release the terms and conditions and reversionary interests retained on approximately 141.5 acres previously owned by the United States government. The provision would also require that the transferred land be used for the sole purpose of expanding the Arkansas State Veterans Cemetery.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2842).

The House recedes.

Modification of authorized uses of certain property conveyed by the United States in Los Angeles, California (sec. 2833)

The Senate amendment contained a provision (sec. 7805) that would modify the authorized uses of a certain property conveyed by the United States to the State of California.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2843).

The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Transfer of administrative jurisdiction over certain parcels of Federal land in Arlington, Virginia (sec. 2834)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2812) that would require the Secretary of the Interior to transfer a specified 16.09 acres parcel to the Secretary of the Army and for the Secretary of the Army to transfer a specified 1.04 acre parcel to the Secretary of the Interior. The provision would not require any form of payment or consideration from either party. The provision would require that the 16.09 acre parcel transferred to the Army be managed as part of Arlington National Cemetery.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require the Secretary of the Army to seek to enter into a memorandum of understanding with the Women in Military Service for America Memorial Foundation to define roles and responsibilities for the shared responsibility and resources for operation and maintenance of the Women’s Memorial and surrounding grounds.

SUBTITLE D—MILITARY LAND WITHDRAWALS

Public notice regarding upcoming periods of Secretary of the Navy management of Shared Use Area of the Johnson Valley Off-Highway Vehicle Recreation Area (sec. 2841)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2851) that would amend section 2942 of the Military Land Withdrawals Act of 2013 to require the Secretary of the Navy to provide public notice prior to the use of the Shared Use Area for military training purposes.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

SUBTITLE E—WHITE SANDS NATIONAL PARK AND WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE

White Sands Missile Range Land Enhancements (sec. 2851)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2814) that would establish White Sands National Park and abolish White Sands National Monument. The establishment of a national park would increase the public recognition of the significant resources of White Sands. This provision would modify the boundary of White Sands National Park and convey 3,737 acres of land from the Secretary of the Interior to the Secretary of the Army. This provision would also convey 8,592 acres of land from the Secretary of the Army to the Secretary of the Interior.

The House amendment contained a series of similar provisions (secs. 2861-2866).

The House recedes with an amendment that would remove the findings and provide for technical changes.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would extend the sunset on the provision to 2025.

Designation of Sumpter Smith Joint National Guard Base (sec. 2867)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2823) that would designate the Sumpter Smith Air National Guard Base in Birmingham, Alabama, as the “Sumpter Smith Joint National Guard Base.”

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Santa Ynez Band of Chumash Indians land affirmation (sec. 2868)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2876) that would place land into trust for the benefit of the Santa Ynez Band of Chumash Mission Indians.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Lands to be taken into trust as part of the reservation of the Lytton Rancheria (sec. 2869)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 1099D) that would take into trust land owned by the Lytton Rancheria of California.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Little Shell Tribe of Chippewa Indians of Montana (sec. 2870)

The Senate amendment contained a provision (sec. 6020) that would extend federal recognition of the Little Shell Tribe of Chippewa Indians of Montana, make the tribe and its members eligible for services and benefits provided to federally recognized tribes, and take land into trust.
   The House bill contained no similar provision.
   The House recedes.

Sense of Congress on restoration of Tyndall Air Force Base (sec. 2871)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 5306) that would express the sense of Congress that the Secretary of the Air Force should restore Tyndall Air Force Base to achieve military installation resilience.
   The House amendment contained no similar provision.
   The House recedes.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Prohibition on use of military construction funds for construction of a wall, fence, or other physical barrier along the southern border of the United States

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2801) that would prohibit the obligation, expense, or use of funds that have been authorized to be appropriated for military construction projects in fiscal years 2015 through 2020 to design or carry out a project to construct, replace, or modify a wall, fence, or other physical barrier along the international border between the United States and Mexico.
   The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
   The House recedes.

Modification and clarification of construction authority in the event of a declaration of war or national emergency

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2802) that would amend section 2808 of title 10, United States Code, to limit the total cost of military construction projects undertaken during a national emergency to $500.0 million, with a further limit of $100.0 million for construction projects within the United States, clarify the ability to waive any other provision of law, and add elements to required congressional notifications.
   The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
   The House recedes.

Modification of requirements relating to land acquisition in Arlington County, Virginia
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2813) that would amend section 2829A of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114–328) to require the Secretary of the Army to expend amounts up to fair market value for cemetery expansion and include an in-kind consideration clause.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Equal treatment of insured depository institutions and credit unions operating on military installations

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2821) that would amend section 2667 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Department of Defense (DOD) to ensure that policies governing depository institutions and credit unions operating on military installations are equally applied to all relevant institutions. Additionally, the provision would prohibit any requirement for Secretaries of the military departments to provide no-cost office space or no-cost land lease to any insured depository institution or insured credit union.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Prohibition on use of funds to privatize temporary lodging on installations of Department of Defense

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2824) that would prohibit the Department of Defense for fiscal year 2020 to privatize temporary lodging on installations of the Department.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

The conferees note that the significant management shortfalls in the privatized family housing program may cast doubt regarding the efficacy of future privatization initiatives.

Report on encroachment challenges on military installations posed by non-military aircraft

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2833) that would require the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Sustainment to submit a report on encroachment challenges and mitigation strategies posed by non-military aircraft overflying military installations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.
The conferees direct the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Sustainment to submit a report, not later than 180 days after the enactment of this act, which would describe:

(1) The encroachment challenges and security risks posed by non-military aircraft overflying military installations inside the United States, to include operational impacts, installation and personnel security, and intelligence concerns, and

(2) Practicable strategies and recommendations for mitigation of any such challenges and risks, to include an increased military regulatory authority and distinctions, if any, among government/first responder, commercial, civil and recreational aviation.

The term “aircraft” does not include unmanned aerial vehicles known as drones, whether used for military or non-military purposes, except that the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Sustainment may make reference in the report to the use of such unmanned aerial vehicles if the Secretary considers reference to such use relevant to the subject of the report.

Report on capacity of Department of Defense to provide survivors of natural disasters with emergency short-term housing

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2834) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report on the capacity of the Department of Defense to provide survivors of natural disasters with emergency short-term housing.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report analyzing the capacity of the Department of Defense to provide survivors of natural disasters with emergency short-term housing to the congressional defense committees not later than 220 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

Continued Department of Defense use of heating, ventilation, and air conditioning systems utilizing variable refrigerant flow

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2836) that would allow the Department of Defense to continue to consider and select heating, ventilation, and air conditioning systems that utilize variable refrigerant flow as an option for use in Department facilities.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.
Report on Department of Defense use of intergovernmental support agreements

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2837) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report on the Department of Defense’s use of intergovernmental support agreements to the congressional defense committees.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report containing a plan to improve the collection and monitoring of information regarding the consideration and use of intergovernmental support agreements, as authorized by section 2679 of title 10, United States Code, including information regarding the financial and nonfinancial benefits derived from the use of such agreements.

The report should be submitted to the congressional defense committees not later than July 31, 2020.

Report on vulnerabilities from sea level rise to certain military installations located outside the continental United States

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2873) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on vulnerabilities from sea level rise at certain installations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on vulnerabilities from sea level fluctuation to covered installations located outside of the continental United States. For each covered installation, the report should include the following:

1. An analysis of the impacts to the operations, contingency plans, and readiness of such installation from sea level fluctuation.

2. A discussion of mitigation efforts, including dredging, reclaiming land, and island building, that may be necessary due to a sea level fluctuation to ensure the continued operational viability of such installation and to increase the resiliency of such installation. The estimated costs of such efforts should be included in the report.

3. An identification of alternative locations for the continuance of operations of such installation if such installation is rendered inoperable.
The report should be submitted in unclassified form but may contain a classified annex. For the purposes of this report, the term “covered installation” means Naval Support Facility Diego Garcia and Ronald Reagan Ballistic Missile Defense Test Site, Kwajalein.

Report on projects awaiting approval from the Realty Governance Board

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2875) that would require that the Secretary of Defense submit a report describing the projects that are awaiting approval from the Realty Governance Board to Congress.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report describing the projects that, as of the date of the report, are awaiting approval from the Realty Governance Board. The report should include the following:

(1) A list of projects awaiting evaluation for a Major Land Acquisition Waiver; and

(2) An assessment of the impact a project described above would have on the security of physical assets and personnel at the military installation requesting the Major Land Acquisition Waiver.

The report should be submitted to the congressional defense committees not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act.

Report on lead service lines at military installations

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2877) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit to the congressional defense committees a report on lead services lines at military installations.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees direct the Secretary of Defense to submit a report on lead service lines at military installations to the congressional defense committees not later than January 1, 2021. The report should contain the following:

(1) The number of military installations at which lead service lines are connected to schools, childcare centers and facilities, buildings, and other facilities of the installation as the Secretary determines appropriate.
(2) The total number of members of the Armed Forces affected by the presence of lead service lines at military installations and the number of such members with dependents.

(4) Actions, if any, undertaken by the Secretary to inform individuals affected by the presence of lead service lines at military installations of such presence.

(5) Recommendations for legislative action relating to the replacement of lead service lines at military installations.

Renaming of Lejeune High School in honor of Congressman Walter B. Jones

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2878) that would rename Lejeune High School at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina, "Walter B. Jones Camp Lejeune High School."

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

The conferees note Congressman Walter B. Jones’ years of service in support of servicemembers in the United States Armed Forces and encourage the Secretary of the Navy and the Commandant of the Marine Corps to rename a suitable building or other infrastructure in honor and memoriam of Congressman Jones.

Operation, maintenance, and preservation of Mare Island Naval Cemetery, Vallejo, California

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2879) that would allow the Secretary of Defense to provide not more than $250,000 per fiscal year to aid in the operation, maintenance, and preservation of the Mare Island Naval Cemetery in Vallejo, California, if certain criteria, such as the city entering into an agreement with a nonprofit historical preservation organization, are met within 1 year after the date of the enactment of this Act. The provision would further allow the Secretary to reduce or forgo assistance in a fiscal year and require the organization to submit to the Secretary an annual report containing an audit of its financial revenues and expenditures and describing how funds were used.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

TITLE XXIX—AUTHORIZATION OF OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS MILITARY CONSTRUCTION AND EMERGENCY MILITARY CONSTRUCTION
SUBTITLE A—OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS
MILITARY CONSTRUCTION

Summary

The budget request included $9,844,526,000 for Overseas Contingency Operations military construction for fiscal year 2020. The conference agreement includes $921,420,000 for Overseas Contingency Operations military construction for fiscal year 2020. In addition, the conference agreement includes $4,119,813,000 in emergency designated funding required for military construction projects in support of disaster recovery efforts at several military installations.

The agreement includes a $60.0 million increase in the authorization of appropriations for Air Force Planning and Design in support of overseas infrastructure requirements. In addition, the agreement includes an increase of $36.2 million for the Army, $36.2 million for the Navy and Marine Corps, and $36.2 million for the Air Force in support of unspecified military construction projects, with prior notification to the congressional defense committees, that support the European Deterrence Initiative.

As noted earlier in this report, the conferees recommend the transfer of certain military constructions from the Base budget request to the Overseas Contingency Operations title of this Act. Specifically, these projects include:

1. $53.3 million for an Electrical System Upgrade in Bahrain;
2. $77.4 million for a Communications Station at Sigonella, Italy;
3. $24.0 million for an Air Traffic Control Tower at Azraq, Jordan; and
4. $42.0 million for a Munitions Storage Area at Azraq, Jordan.

Finally, the conference agreement does not include an authorization or an authorization of appropriation for a High-Value Detainee Facility at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. The conferees continue to have questions about the need to construct a new permanent detention facility with increased capacity and capabilities. Furthermore, the conferees believe the Department has not adequately assessed alternative options to support current and foreseeable detention requirements.

Authorized Army construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2901)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2901) that would authorize Army military construction projects for fiscal year 2020 for overseas contingency operations. The authorized amounts are listed on an installation-by-installation basis. The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2901). The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Authorized Navy construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2902)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2902) that would authorize Navy military construction projects for fiscal year 2020 for overseas contingency operations. The authorized amounts are listed on an installation-by-installation basis. The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2902). The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Authorized Air Force construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2903)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2903) that would authorize Air Force military construction projects for fiscal year 2020 for overseas contingency operations. The authorized amounts are listed on an installation-by-installation basis. The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2903). The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Authorized Defense Agencies construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2904)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2904) that would authorize Defense Agencies military construction projects for fiscal year 2020 for overseas contingency operations. The authorized amounts are listed on an installation-by-installation basis. The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2904). The conference agreement includes this provision.

Authorization of appropriations (sec. 2905)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2907) that would authorize appropriations for military construction in the overseas contingency operations account for fiscal year 2020. The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 2905).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

SUBTITLE B—EMERGENCY MILITARY CONSTRUCTION

Authorization of emergency Navy construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2911)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3001) that would authorize emergency military construction projects for the Department of the Navy to support recovery of military facilities and infrastructure damaged by natural disasters. The Senate bill contained a similar provision (sec. 2905) that would authorize emergency construction projects for the Department of the Navy, Air Force, Defense-wide Agencies, and Reserve Components. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would authorize Department of Navy emergency construction projects.

Authorization of emergency Air Force construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2912)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3002) that would authorize emergency military construction projects for the Air Force to support recovery of military facilities and infrastructure damaged by natural disasters. The Senate bill contained a similar provision (sec. 2905) that would authorize emergency construction projects for the Department of the Navy, Air Force, Defense-wide Agencies, and Reserve Components. The Senate recedes with an amendment that would authorize Air Force emergency construction projects.

Authorization of emergency Army National Guard construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2913)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2905) that would authorize emergency construction projects for the Department of the Navy, Air Force, Defense Agencies, and Reserve Components. The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3004) that would authorize emergency military construction projects for the Army National Guard and Army Reserve to support recovery of military facilities and infrastructure damaged by natural disasters.

The House recedes with an amendment that would authorize Army National Guard and Army Reserve emergency construction projects.

Authorization of emergency Defense Agencies construction and land acquisition projects (sec. 2914)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3003) that would authorize emergency military construction projects for the Army National Guard and Army Reserve to support recovery of military facilities and infrastructure damaged by natural disasters.

The Senate bill contained a similar provision (sec. 2905) that would authorize emergency construction projects for the Department of the Navy, Air Force, Defense-wide Agencies, and Reserve Components.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would authorize defense agency emergency construction projects.

Authorization of emergency supplemental appropriations for military construction projects (sec. 2915)

The agreement includes a provision that would authorize appropriations for emergency military construction at the levels identified in section 4603 of division D of this Act.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Replenishment of certain military constructions funds

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 2906) that would authorize $3.6 billion in military construction, overseas contingency operations, for the purposes of replenishing funds for previously authorized military construction projects that were repurposed under section 2808 of title 10, United States Code, from the national emergency declared on the southern border under the National Emergencies Act (Public Law 94-412).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

TITLE XXX - MILITARY HOUSING PRIVATIZATION REFORM
Definitions (sec. 3001)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3001) that would provide definitions for specific terms for this title. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would modify certain definitions and provide for a technical change.

SUBTITLE A—ADDITION OF NEW REFORM SUBCHAPTER

Improved accountability and oversight of privatized military housing and protections and responsibilities for tenants of privatized military housing (sec. 3011)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3011) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the secretaries of the military departments, to develop a document to be known as the “Tenant Bill of Rights,” which would include, but not be limited to, minimum rights, such as homes that meet minimum health and environmental standards, the ability to report inadequate living standards to the military chain of command without fear of reprisal, and the ability to enter into a dispute resolution process for purposes of recouping basic allowance for housing.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2811).

The House recedes with an amendment that would include general contract requirements for military housing units, require congressional notification 30 days before changes to the bill of rights are released, and provide for a technical change.

Designation of Chief Housing Officer for privatized military housing (sec. 3012)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3012) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring that the Secretary of Defense designate a Chief Housing Officer, who shall be a presidentially appointed and Senate-confirmed Department of Defense official. The provision would require the Chief Housing Officer to establish and maintain the Office of the Chief Housing Officer, whose purpose would be to conduct oversight of the Military Housing Privatization Initiative (MHPI) by standardizing policies and conducting audits of contracts, agreements, and work order incentive fees.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would make the role of Chief Housing Officer non-delegable; change the scope of responsibility to include oversight of any Department-wide policies related to the MHPI; drop the requirement that the Chief Housing Officer conduct audits of contracts, agreements, and work order incentive fees; and provide for a technical change.

Additional requirements relating to contracts for privatized military housing (sec. 3013)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3044) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring the Secretary of Defense to include certain requirements for any contract with a term of more than 10 years for the purpose of privatized military housing. The provision would require that contracts: allow the Department of Defense to renegotiate the contract at minimum every 5 years, prohibit the continued working under the contract of any employee who has committed work order fraud under the contract, and require the private contractor to pay a tenant's relocation fees and living expenses if a tenant is required to move due to health or environmental hazards.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would remove the 10-year timeframe and requirement that contracts be renegotiated at minimum every 5 years; require that the private management company or private partner reimburse the Department of Defense for the costs of any medical evaluations and treatment provided to a tenant if the landlord is found by the Secretary concerned to have failed to maintain safe and sanitary conditions; require that the Secretary of Defense seek agreement from all property management companies or private partners to participate in the requirements retroactively and submit to the congressional defense committees a list of landlords who decline to participate; and provide for a technical change.

Additional requirements relating to management of privatized military housing (sec. 3014)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3043) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring the Secretary of Defense to ensure that operating agreements for any Department of Defense installation where on-base housing is managed by a private contractor include certain requirements. The provision would also include requirements for the installation commander, the head of each housing management office, and the private contractor.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require the landlord to maintain an electronic work order system that can be accessed by the tenant; prohibit the landlord from imposing a supplemental payment, such an out-of-pocket fee, on a tenant in addition to rent; require that the Secretary of Defense seek agreement from all property management companies or private partners to participate in the requirements retroactively and submit to the congressional defense committees a list of landlords who decline to participate; and provide for a technical change.

Consideration of contractor history in contracts for privatized military housing (sec. 3015)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3014) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring the Secretary of Defense to consider a private contractor's past performance when deciding whether or not to enter into a new contract or renew an existing contract with that contractor.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Additional improvements for management of privatized military housing (sec. 3016)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3019) that would amend chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretary of Defense to establish a database that makes available to the public complaints from tenants related to privatized military housing units, together with the landlord's response to each such complaint.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2820) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretary of Defense to establish a publicly available database of complaints relating to privatized military family housing. This section would also require an annual audit to be performed by the Comptroller General of the United States of a small, medium, and large military installation with privatized military family housing. This section would also amend section 2884 of title 10, United States Code, by directing the Secretary of Defense to provide an annual report on military housing to the defense committees.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would ensure the collected information exclude personally identifiable information and be limited to the installation, management company, and nature of the complaint and provide for a technical change.

Maintenance work order system for privatized military housing (sec. 3017)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3020) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring each private contractor that provides housing under this subchapter to provide the housing management office at each installation access to their maintenance work order system.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Access by tenants of privatized military housing to maintenance work order system (sec. 3018)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3021) that would require that each landlord for a privatized military housing unit have an electronic work order system and provide tenants with access to such system.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Access by tenants to historical maintenance information for privatized military housing (sec. 3019)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3033) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring each private contractor that provides housing under this subchapter to provide prospective tenants with information regarding maintenance conducted at prospective housing units for the previous 10 years.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would change 10 years to 7 years, require any renovations be included in the provided history, and provide for a technical change.

Prohibition on requirement to disclose personally identifiable information in certain requests for maintenance of privatized military housing (sec. 3020)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3034) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by adding a section prohibiting any private contractor who is responsible for military housing from using a maintenance work order call center outside the United States. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would change the prohibition to a prohibition on requiring tenants to disclose personally identifiable information to call centers and provide for a technical change.

Treatment of incentive fees for landlords of privatized military housing for failure to remedy a health or environmental hazard (sec. 3021)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3045) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretary of Defense to withhold incentive fees, which would otherwise be paid to a private contractor under this subchapter, for failure to remedy a health or environmental hazard. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Dispute resolution process for landlord-tenant disputes regarding privatized military housing and requests to withhold payments during dispute resolution process (sec. 3022)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3031) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, to require the Secretary of Defense to implement a formal dispute resolution process on each military installation with privatized military housing units. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would clarify the dispute resolution process, ensure that tenants entering into such a process have access and assistance from a military housing advocate or military legal assistance attorney, and provide for a technical change.

Investigation of reports of reprisals relating to privatized military housing and congressional notification (sec. 3023)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2824) that would require the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Sustainment to investigate all reports of reprisal against a member of the Armed Forces for reporting an issue relating to a housing issue under this subchapter.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

Prohibition on use of nondisclosure agreements in connection with leases of privatized military housing (sec. 3024)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2812) that would amend section 2882 of title 10, United States Code, to prohibit the use of non-disclosure agreements in connection with entering into, continuing, or terminating a lease for a housing unit covered under the Military Housing Privatization Initiative.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

SUBTITLE B—OTHER AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Installation of carbon monoxide detectors in military family housing (sec. 3031)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2821) that would amend section 2821 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring the Secretary concerned to provide for the installation and maintenance of carbon monoxide detectors in each unit of military family housing under their jurisdiction.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Authority to furnish certain services in connection with use of alternative authority for acquisition and improvement of military housing (sec. 3032)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2813) that would amend section 2872a of title 10, United States Code, to add street sweeping and tree trimming and removal to the list of reimbursable services that may be furnished under that section.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Treatment of breach of contract for privatized military housing (sec. 3033)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3015) that would amend subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code, by requiring the Secretary of Defense to withhold any amount owed under the contract as well as to rescind the contract if a material breach is found and not remedied within 90 days.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Modification to requirements for window fall prevention devices in military family housing units (sec. 3034)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3036) that would amend section 2879(c) of title 10, United States Code, by striking "24 inches" and inserting "42 inches".

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2814) that would amend section 2879 of title 10, United States Code, to modify the requirements and applicable standards for window fall prevention devices.

The Senate recedes.

Expansion of direct hire authority for Department of Defense for childcare services providers for Department child development centers to include direct hire authority for installation military housing office personnel (sec. 3035)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3046) that would amend section 559 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2018 (Public Law 115–91) to extend direct hire authority to fill civil service position vacancies at installation military housing offices.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Modification of authority to make payments to lessors of privatized military housing (sec. 3036)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3017) that would amend section 606 of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115–232), by repealing the requirement that the Secretary of Defense pay an additional 5 percent of the calculated Basic Allowance for Housing (BAH) for residents of Military Housing Privatization Initiative (MHPI) projects to MHPI projects. The provision would require the Secretaries of the military departments to provide additional payments to MHPI projects equivalent to 2 percent of the calculated BAH for residents of MHPI projects. The Secretaries of the military departments would be required to use
3 percent of the calculated BAH for MHPI residents to make improvements to the oversight and management of MHPI projects.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require service secretaries to provide additional payments to MHPI projects equivalent to 2.5 percent of the calculated BAH for residents of each MHPI project. Service secretaries would also be required to provide an additional 2.5 percent of the calculated BAH for MHPI residents to MHPI projects that are determined to be underfunded. If the Chief Housing Officer determines no MHPI projects within a particular military department are underfunded, the Secretary of the military department concerned shall use any remaining funds to enhance the quality of life of military families residing in MHPI housing.

Technical correction to definition used to make payments to lessors of privatized military housing (sec. 3037)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3055) that would amend section 606(d) of the John S. McCain National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2019 (Public Law 115-232) to define eligible privatized housing projects as those that were procured, acquired, constructed, or for which any phase or portion of a project was first finalized and signed on or before September 30th, 2014.

The House bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

SUBTITLE C—ONE-TIME REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Report on civilian personnel shortages for appropriate oversight of management of military housing constructed or acquired using alternative authority for acquisition and improvement of military housing (sec. 3041)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2817) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the secretaries of the military departments, to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than September 30, 2020, on the manpower requirements and execution plan to staff military housing offices and headquarters to fill gaps in oversight personnel.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require a breakdown of requirements by function, such as oversight, home inspectors, and maintenance, for additional personnel required.
Plans for creation of councils on privatized military housing (sec. 3042)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3042) that would require the Assistant Secretary for energy, installations, and environment of each military department to establish a military housing council to identify and resolve problems with military housing managed by private contractors.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would instead require each Assistant Secretary concerned to submit a plan for the creation of a privatized military housing council to the congressional defense committees not later than February 1, 2020.

Plan for establishment of Department of Defense jurisdiction over off-base privatized military housing (sec. 3043)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3047) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the secretaries of the military departments, to submit a plan to establish jurisdiction at locations with privatized military housing not located on a military installation to the congressional defense committees not later than 30 days after the enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would change the due date for the plan from 30 days to 180 days.

Inspector General review of Department of Defense oversight of privatized military housing (sec. 3044)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3044) that would require the Inspector General of the Department of Defense to conduct an annual review of the Department’s oversight of privatized military family housing at 15 randomly selected installations and publish the results on a publicly available website.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would change the number of installations to be reviewed from 15 to 3.

Information on legal services provided to members of the Armed Forces harmed by health or environmental hazards at military housing (sec. 3045)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3053) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act to the congressional defense committees on the legal services available to members of the Armed Forces who have been harmed by health and environmental hazards while living in military housing.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 550M).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

SUBTITLE D—DEVELOPMENT OF HOUSING REFORM STANDARDS AND PROCESSES

Uniform code of basic standards for privatized military housing and plan to conduct inspections and assessments (sec. 3051)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3016) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish a uniform code of basic housing standards for safety, comfort, and habitability for privatized military housing. The provision would also require the Secretary to submit to the congressional defense committees, not later than February 1, 2020, this uniform code and a plan for the Department of Defense to contract with home inspectors to conduct inspections and assessments of habitability and structural integrity of each housing unit as specified under subchapter IV of chapter 169 of title 10, United States Code. Finally, the provision would require that said inspections be completed no later than February 1, 2021.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2819).

The House recedes with an amendment that would require that the uniform code of basic housing standards be implemented by February 1, 2021, and meet or exceed requirements informed by a nationally recognized, consensus-based, model property maintenance code.

Tool for assessment of hazards in Department of Defense housing (sec. 3052)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2815) that would require the Secretary of Defense to develop an assessment tool to identify and measure health and safety hazards in Department of Defense housing, to include privatized housing, and provide a report to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Process to identify and address environmental health hazards in Department of Defense housing (sec. 3053)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 2816) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the secretaries of the military departments, to develop a process to identify, record, and resolve environmental health hazards in Department of Defense housing, to include privatized housing, and to provide a report to the Committees on Armed Services of the Senate and the House of Representatives.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Department of Defense policy on lead-based paint testing on military installations (sec. 3054)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3051) that would require the Secretary of Defense to establish a policy under which a qualified individual may access a military installation to conduct lead testing, with all results to be shared with the installation civil engineer, housing management office, and major subordinate command with jurisdiction over the installation. Additionally, the provision would require the Secretary of Defense to annually submit a report, not later than February 1 of each year, to the congressional defense committees.
The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2822).
The Senate recedes with a technical amendment that would amend the annual reporting requirement by including it in the annual housing report.

Standard for minimum credentials for health and environmental inspectors of privatized military housing (sec. 3055)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3018) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on a standard for common credentials to be used throughout the Department of Defense for purposes of health and environmental hazard inspection to include, at a minimum, categories for lead, mold, and radon.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.
Requirements relating to move-in, move-out, and maintenance of privatized military housing (sec. 3056)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3037) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the secretaries of the military departments, to develop a uniform move-out checklist for tenants of privatized military housing. This provision would also require that all maintenance issues and work orders related to health and safety issues at privatized military housing be reported to the commander of the installation at which the housing is located.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would change the deadline from 30 days to 60 days, among other technical and clarifying changes.

Standardized documentation, templates, and forms for privatized military housing (sec. 3057)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3041) that would require the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the secretary of each military department, to develop standard documentation, templates, and forms for privatized military housing. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense to issue guidance within 30 days of the enactment of this Act and to deliver an implementation plan to the congressional defense committees not later than February 1, 2020.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Satisfaction survey for tenants of military housing (sec. 3058)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3052) that would require the Secretary of Defense to ensure that each military department utilizes the same electronic satisfaction survey for all surveys relating to the customer service experience of all military housing residents, those living in both government and privately managed housing units. The committee believes that one standard survey will allow for improved data collection to pinpoint problems and best practices with ease and assist in regaining the trust of military families and servicemembers.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.
Radon testing of privatized military housing (sec. 3061)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3035) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report not later than March 1, 2020, to the congressional defense committees that identifies all Department of Defense installations that should be monitored for levels of radon in excess of that in the Environmental Protection Agency's recommendations. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense to establish testing procedures for all privatized military housing at installations that have been identified as requiring radon monitoring and would include a requirement to complete initial testing for all privatized military housing by June 1, 2020. The provision would also require the Secretary of Defense to certify on an annual basis that radon testing is being conducted for privatized military housing.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would drop the annual testing certification and make technical changes.

Mitigation of risks posed by certain items in military family housing units (sec. 3062)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3054) that would require the Secretary of Defense to allow a resident of a military family housing unit to anchor any furniture, television, or large appliance to the wall of the unit for purposes of preventing such item from tipping over without incurring a penalty or obligation to repair the wall upon vacating the unit. Further, the provision would require the Secretary to ensure that certain freestanding furniture taller than 27 inches be securely anchored in furnished military family housing units under the jurisdiction of the Department of Defense.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Suspension of Resident Energy Conservation Program and related programs for privatized military housing (sec. 3063)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3032) that would suspend the Department of Defense’s Resident Energy Conservation Program (RECP) until the Secretary of Defense can certify that 100 percent of military housing on installations is individually metered and certified by an independent entity through an energy audit. Furthermore, the provision would terminate the RECP if the Secretary of Defense is unable to certify the individual usage 2 years after enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with an amendment that would remove the term of suspension requirement that the military housing be certified by an independent entity through an energy audit.

Department of the Army pilot program to build and monitor use of single family homes (sec. 3064)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3056) that would require the Secretary of the Army to carry out a pilot program to build and monitor the use of not fewer than five single family homes for members of the Army and their families. The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 2823).
The Senate recedes with a technical amendment.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Command oversight of military privatized housing as element of performance evaluations

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3013) that would require each service secretary to ensure that performance evaluations indicate the extent to which the following individuals have or have not exercised effective oversight and leadership of military privatized housing: (1) Commanders of military installations with privatized military housing; (2) Each officer or senior enlisted member whose duties include facilities or housing management at such installations; and (3) Any other officer or enlisted member as specified by the secretary concerned.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.
The conferees agree that commanders of military installations have an important responsibility for ensuring safe, high quality housing for servicemembers and their families living on such installations. The conferees intend to watch closely how commanders and other senior officer and enlisted personnel oversee the housing conditions on their installations, including such conditions in military barracks and dormitories.
DIVISION C—DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY
NATIONAL SECURITY AUTHORIZATIONS AND OTHER AUTHORIZATIONS

TITLE XXXI—DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY NATIONAL SECURITY PROGRAMS

SUBTITLE A—NATIONAL SECURITY PROGRAMS AUTHORIZATIONS

National Nuclear Security Administration (sec. 3101)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3101) that would authorize appropriations for the National Nuclear Security Administration for fiscal year 2020.
The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 3101).
The House recedes.

Defense environmental cleanup (sec. 3102)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3102) that would authorize the appropriation of funds for the Department of Energy’s defense environmental cleanup activities.
The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 3102).
The House recedes.

Other defense activities (sec. 3103)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3103) that would authorize appropriations for other defense activities of the Department of Energy for fiscal year 2020.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 3103).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

Nuclear energy (sec. 3104)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3104) that would authorize appropriations for certain nuclear energy programs of the Department of Energy for fiscal year 2020.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 3104).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

SUBTITLE B—PROGRAM AUTHORIZATIONS, RESTRICTIONS, AND LIMITATIONS

_Personnel matters at National Nuclear Security Administration (sec. 3111)_

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3113) that would remove the cap on the use of excepted service hiring authority pursuant to section 3241 of the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) Act (50 U.S.C. 2441).

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3111) that would raise the cap on the number of full-time equivalent federal employees of the NNSA from 1,690 to 1,890, and modify the reporting requirement contained in section 3241A(f) of the NNSA Act relating to service support contracts of the NNSA.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would also raise the cap on the use of excepted service hiring authority pursuant to section 3241 from 600 to 800 employees.

_Estimation of costs of meeting defense environmental cleanup milestones required by consent orders (sec. 3112)_

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3121) that would require the Secretary of Energy to submit, along with the budget justification materials, a report on the cost of meeting milestones required by a consent order at each defense nuclear facility at which environmental cleanup activities are taking place.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a clarifying amendment.

_Office of Cost Estimating and Program Evaluation (sec. 3113)_

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3112) that would express the sense of Congress regarding the persistent under-staffing of the Office of Cost Estimating and Program Evaluation (CEPE) at the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA). The provision would also require that the Director of CEPE report directly to the Administrator of the NNSA, and require the Administrator to provide a briefing to the congressional defense committees on the plan to ensure the full staffing of the office.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would strike the sense of Congress.

Clarification of certain Stockpile Responsiveness Program objectives (sec. 3114)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3113) that would clarify the objectives of the Stockpile Responsiveness Program as defined in section 4220 of the Atomic Energy Defense Act (50 U.S.C. 2538b).
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Elimination of limitation on availability of funds relating to submission of annual reports on unfunded priorities (sec. 3115)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3117) that would repeal the limitation on funds authorized to be appropriated for travel and transportation within the Federal salaries and expenses account at the National Nuclear Security Administration until the Administrator for Nuclear Security submits a report to the congressional defense committees containing at least one unfunded priority pursuant to section 4719 of the Atomic Energy Defense Act (50 U.S.C. 2756).
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with an amendment that would add a requirement that, if the Administrator determines that there are no unfunded priorities to include in the report, the Administrator, without delegation, shall certify and explain such determination to the congressional defense committees.

Modification to certain requirements relating to plutonium pit production capacity (sec. 3116)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8102) that would express the sense of the Senate that rebuilding plutonium pit production infrastructure of the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) with a capacity of up to 80 pits per year is critical to maintaining the viability of the nuclear stockpile, and any further delay to achieving this capability would be unacceptable. The provision would also amend section 4219 of the Atomic Energy Defense Act (50 U.S.C. 2538a) to repeal the requirement for the NNSA to demonstrate for 90 days by 2029 the capability to produce pits at a rate sufficient to produce 80 pits per year, and replace it with a requirement to produce no fewer than 80 pits per year in 2030.
The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3114) that would express the sense of Congress that the NNSA should prioritize achieving production of 30 plutonium pits per year at Los Alamos National Laboratory, and ensure that efforts to design and construct a second site do not divert resources. The provision would also amend section 4219 of the Atomic Energy Defense Act to repeal the requirement for the 90-day demonstration by 2029.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Annual certification of shipments to Waste Isolation Pilot Plant (sec. 3117)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3115) that would extend the certification of shipments of waste to the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant from a 3-year period to a 10-year period.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Extension and modification of pilot program on unavailability for overhead costs of amounts specified for laboratory-directed research and development (sec. 3118)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3114) that would make permanent the pilot program conducted under section 3119 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328) that temporarily prohibited the use of laboratory-directed research and development to cover general and administrative overhead costs, including for nuclear weapons production facilities.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3124) that would express the sense of Congress that the Secretary of Energy should ensure that the National Nuclear Security Administration’s laboratories, plants, and sites are operated using generally accepted accounting best practices for laboratory-, plant-, or site-directed research and development. The provision would also require the Administrator for Nuclear Security to submit to the congressional defense committees a report assessing the pilot program conducted under section 3119 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017.

The House recedes with an amendment that would extend the pilot program conducted under section 3119 for an additional year, and clarify the deadline for the report required by the same section.
Modification to limitation on availability of funds for acceleration of nuclear weapons dismantlement (sec. 3119)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3116) that would repeal section 3125 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328), including the limitation on the maximum amount of funding available in a fiscal year for nuclear weapons dismantlement and disposition and the limitation on acceleration of dismantlement activities. The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would, instead of repealing section 3125, increase the limitation on dismantlement funding in that section from $56.0 million to $87.0 million.

Implementation of common financial reporting system for nuclear security enterprise (sec. 3120)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8101) that would prohibit obligation or expenditure of more than 90 percent of fiscal year 2020 funds for the National Nuclear Security Administration’s federal salaries and expenses account for travel and transportation until the Administrator for Nuclear Security completes implementation of the common financial reporting system for the nuclear security enterprise as required by section 3113(a) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 (Public Law 114-328).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Limitation relating to reclassification of high-level waste (sec. 3121)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3128) that would provide that none of the funds authorized to be appropriated by this Act, or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2020 for the Department of Energy, may be obligated or expended by the Secretary of Energy to apply the interpretation of high-level radioactive waste described in the “Supplemental Notice Concerning U.S. Department of Energy Interpretation of High-Level Radioactive Waste” (84 Fed. Reg. 26835), or successor notice, with respect to such waste located in the State of Washington.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would eliminate section (b) Rule of Construction.
The conferees note that the inclusion of the provision does not prejudice how to process high-level waste nor does it discourage the use of the Department of Energy’s interpretation of high-level waste in future years or at other locations.

National Laboratory Jobs ACCESS Program (sec. 3122)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3120) that would authorize the Secretary of Energy to establish the Department of Energy National Lab Jobs ACCESS Program.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with certain clarifying amendments.

SUBTITLE C—REPORTS AND OTHER MATTERS

Civil penalties for violations of certain whistleblower protections (sec. 3131)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3127) that would clarify civil penalties for violations of Department of Energy whistleblower protections, especially for employees of contractors or subcontractors of the National Nuclear Security Administration.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes with several technical amendments.

Repeal of assessments of adequacy of budget requests relating to nuclear weapons stockpile (sec. 3132)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3122) that would extend the suspension through fiscal year 2023 of the requirement contained in section 3255 of the National Nuclear Security Administration Act (50 U.S.C. 2455) for the Comptroller General of the United States to review the budget submission of the National Nuclear Security Administration.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with an amendment that would repeal section 3255 and the requirement for Comptroller General review altogether.
The conferees note that, elsewhere in this Act, a similar review requirement originally contained in section 1043 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012 (Public Law 112-81) has been further extended through 2024.

Repeal of requirement for review relating to enhanced procurement authority (sec. 3133)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3123) that would terminate the requirement for the Comptroller General of the United States to review the Secretary of Energy’s enhanced procurement authority after fiscal year 2019.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

The conferees note that the Comptroller General recently completed a report required by the same subsection, entitled “Nuclear Supply Chain: NNSA Should Notify Congress of Its Recommendations to Improve the Enhanced Procurement Authority” (GAO-19-606R). According to the report, the National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA) has not used the enhanced procurement authority since it was authorized in 2013, because of concerns related to the process. The sole recommendation contained in the report is that the Secretary of Energy and the Administrator of the NNSA formally communicate to Congress their suggested changes to the authority in a timely manner; the conferees urge the Secretary and the Administrator to do so in time for consideration in the fiscal year 2021 authorization process.

Improvements to Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program Act of 2000 (sec. 3134)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3126) that would modify the duties of the Office of the Ombudsman of the Department of Labor, and extend the Office through October 28, 2020. The provision would also make certain modifications to the Advisory Board on Toxic Substances and Worker Health.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Replacement of W78 warhead (sec. 3135)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3119) that would require the Administrator for Nuclear Security to conduct an analysis of alternatives with respect to replacing the W78 warhead, including the technical risks and costs for each option to replace the W78. The provision would require the Director for Cost Estimating and Program Evaluation (CEPE) at the National Nuclear Security Administration to review the analysis. The provision would further require the Administrator to submit a report on the W78 replacement, including the analysis of alternatives and the CEPE review, and would prohibit the obligation or expenditure of more than 75 percent of funds for this program until such report is submitted. Finally, the provision would require the Administrator to arrange for the JASON advisory group to conduct a study on the W78 replacement, including an assessment of the risks to certification and the need for planned upgrades to the warhead.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would remove the prohibition on obligation or expenditure of funds, and change the analysis of alternatives to a report describing alternatives previously considered, including any changes since January 15, 2014, to the requirements for the program.

Independent review of capabilities for detection, verification, and monitoring of nuclear weapons and fissile material (sec. 3136)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3121) that would require the Secretary of Energy to enter into a contract with the National Academy of Sciences to conduct an independent review and assessment of a plan for nuclear detection and verification and monitoring of nuclear weapons and fissile material. The provision would require the Secretary to submit the resulting study to the congressional defense committees no later than 270 days from the date of enactment of this Act.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would modify some elements of the study, and modify the required date of submission to 1 year from the date of enactment of this Act.

Assessment of high energy density physics (sec. 3137)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3125) that would require the Administrator for Nuclear Security to enter into an arrangement with the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine to conduct an assessment of the current status of the field of high energy density physics.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Determination of effect of treaty obligations with respect to producing tritium (sec. 3138)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3124) that would require the Secretary of Energy to determine whether the Agreement for Cooperation on the Uses of Atomic Energy for Mutual Defense Purposes, signed at Washington on July 3, 1958, permits obtaining uranium from the United Kingdom to produce tritium for defense purposes using reactor irradiation.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3111) that would make certain technical corrections to the National Nuclear Security Administration Act (50 U.S.C. Ch. 41) and the Atomic Energy Defense Act (50 U.S.C. Ch. 42).

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

National Nuclear Security Administration Personnel System

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3112) that would make permanent the personnel demonstration project carried out by the National Nuclear Security Administration since 2008.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Program for research and development of advanced naval nuclear fuel system based on low-enriched uranium

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3115) that would prohibit the obligation or expenditure of any funds for fiscal year 2020 or thereafter for the National Nuclear Security Administration to conduct research and development for an advanced naval nuclear fuel system based on low-enriched uranium (LEU) unless the Secretary of Defense, Secretary of Energy, and Secretary of the Navy submit certain certifications to the congressional defense committees.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3118) that would require the Administrator for Nuclear Security to establish a program to assess the viability of using LEU in naval nuclear propulsion reactors, including reactors located on aircraft carriers and submarines, that meet the requirements of the Navy. The provision would require this program to include down-blending of high-enriched uranium (HEU) into LEU, manufacturing of candidate fuels, irradiation tests and post-irradiation examination capabilities, and modification or procurement of equipment and infrastructure related to these activities. Finally, the provision would require the Administrator to submit a plan to carry out this program, including the funding requirements associated.
The House amendment also contained a provision (sec. 3122) that would authorize to be appropriated $20.0 million for low-enriched uranium research and development within the defense nuclear nonproliferation account.

The conference agreement does not include any of these provisions.

Availability of amounts for denuclearization of Democratic People’s Republic of North Korea

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3123) that would increase by $10.0 million the funding authorized for defense nuclear nonproliferation to develop and prepare to implement a monitoring and verification program for the phased denuclearization of the Democratic People’s Republic of North Korea.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Funding for inertial confinement fusion ignition and high yield program

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3125) that would increase by $5.0 million the funding authorized for the inertial confinement fusion ignition and high yield program, facility operations and target production.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

TITLE XXXII—DEFENSE NUCLEAR FACILITIES SAFETY BOARD

Authorization (sec. 3201)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3201) that would authorize funding for the Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board at $29.5 million, consistent with the budget request.

The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 3201).

The conference agreement includes this provision.

Improvements to Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board (sec. 3202)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3202) that would establish an Executive Director for Operations at the Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board. It would also authorize the Chairman of the Board to organize the staff as he considers appropriate to accomplish the mission, and repeal a prohibition contained in section 311 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2286) on the Chairman’s withholding of information relating to management of the Board from the other Board members.

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3202) that would also establish an Executive Director for Operations and specify that employee’s role within the Board staff structure. The provision would require the Board staff to consist of the equivalent of between 110 and 130 full-time employees. The provision would also clarify that the mission of the Board includes provision of recommendations covering adequate protection of employee health and safety at defense nuclear facilities. The provision would also require the Secretary of Energy to provide to the Board prompt and unfettered access to facilities within its purview, regardless of hazard or risk category of such facilities. Finally, the provision would limit the ability of the Secretary of Energy to deny information to Board staff, while clarifying that the Board may not publicly disclose any information that is otherwise protected from disclosure by law.

The Senate recedes with amendments that would retain the Senate bill’s authorization for the Chairman to organize the staff as he considers appropriate, and the repeal of the prohibition on withholding information. The amendments would also require that the Board employ no fewer than the equivalent of 100 full-time employees in fiscal year 2020, and clarify the Board’s purview of defense nuclear facilities. Finally, the amendments would require the Secretary of Energy to provide written notification of any denial of a written request for access made by the Board; require the Board to provide biannual reports to Congress enumerating requests for access that were denied by the Secretary in the preceding 6 months; and require the Secretary to provide biannual reports to Congress identifying each request denied by the Secretary in the same period, including the reason for such denials.

Membership of Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board (sec. 3203)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3203, as modified by sec. 8202) that would require the National Academy of Sciences to maintain a list of qualified individuals for consideration for nomination to fill vacancies on the Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board. The provision would also prohibit Board members from serving on expired terms, and prohibit Board members from being nominated for two consecutive terms, unless the member was confirmed by the Senate more than 2 years into the member’s first term; such changes would take effect on April 1, 2020. Finally, the provision would include measures to encourage the President to promptly submit nominations to fill vacant seats.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with amendments that would prohibit Board members from serving on expired terms, unless the departure of a member would result in the loss of a quorum for the Board. The amendments would also modify the date of effect from April 1, 2020, to 1 year from the date of enactment of this Act.

TITLE XXXIV—NAVAL PETROLEUM RESERVES

Authorization of Appropriations (sec. 3401)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3401) that would authorize funds for the purpose of carrying out activities under chapter 869 of title 10, United States Code, relating to the naval petroleum reserves.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

TITLE XXXV—MARITIME MATTERS

SUBTITLE A—MARITIME ADMINISTRATION

Authorization of the Maritime Administration (sec. 3501)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8511) that would authorize appropriations for certain aspects of the Maritime Administration for fiscal year 2020.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 3501).

The House recedes with an amendment that would reduce the amount of appropriations authorized for the Port and Intermodal Improvement Program from $600.0 million to $500.0 million for fiscal year 2020. The amendment would also make changes to the determination made by the Secretary of Transportation as it relates to funds being used for fully automated cargo handling equipment.

Reauthorization of Maritime Security Program (sec. 3502)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3502) that would authorize the Maritime Security Program until 2035. It would authorize a stipend of $5.3 million for fiscal years 2022-2025, $5.8 million for fiscal years 2026-2028, $6.3 million for fiscal years 2029-2031, and $6.8 million for fiscal years 2032-2035 for each of the 60 vessels in the Maritime Security Program.

The Senate bill contained a similar provision (sec. 8512).

The Senate recedes.

Maritime technical assistance program (sec. 3503)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8522) that would clarify that the Maritime Administrator shall act on behalf of the Secretary of Transportation for the Maritime Technical Assistance Program. The provision would also broaden the scope of the existing program to include research on propeller cavitation, U.S. maritime environmental performance to meet international standards and guidelines, and improve the efficiency and competitiveness of domestic maritime industries.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Appointment of candidates attending sponsored preparatory school (sec. 3504)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8514) that would allow the Secretary of Transportation to appoint no more than 40 qualified cadets per year who have successfully met the terms and conditions of sponsorship at a sponsored preparatory school during the previous academic year to the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

General support program (sec. 3505)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8516) that would require the Secretary of Transportation to designate State Maritime Academies as Centers of Excellence.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with an amendment that would designate the State Maritime Academies as American Maritime Centers of Excellence.

Improvements to the maritime guaranteed loan program (sec. 3506)

The Senate amendment contained a provision (sec. 8525) that would modify the Maritime Guaranteed Loan Program in certain ways.

The House bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would add a requirement for a 45-day public comment period for stakeholder input in the federal register prior to issuing guidance for expedited consideration of applications for maritime guaranteed loans.

Requirement for small shipyard grantees (sec. 3507)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8523) that would prohibit funds from being obligated for the Maritime Administration's Small Shipyard Grant Program unless the articles, materials, and supplies purchased with grant funds have been mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States, subject to certain exceptions.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Salvage recoveries of cargoes (sec. 3508)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8518) that would authorize a Federal entity to transfer funds to the Secretary of Transportation when the Secretary has provided for the use of Department of Transportation vessels, services, or goods to a Federal, State, or local entity in support of the salvage of federally owned cargoes.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would allow the Secretary of Transportation to enter into reimbursable agreements for the reimbursement of funds for legal services related to the salvaging of federal cargoes.

Salvage recoveries for subrogated ownership of vessels and cargoes (sec. 3509)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8519) that would authorize the Secretary of Transportation to enter into marine salvage agreements for the recoveries, sale, and disposal of sunken or damaged vessels or property owned or insured by the Maritime Administration or its predecessor agencies.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would allocate 50 percent of the proceeds from recoveries to Maritime Academies for maintenance, repair, and modernization and 50 percent of the proceeds to maritime heritage grants.

Maritime Occupational Safety and Health Advisory Committee (sec. 3510)

The House bill contained a provision (sec. 3503) that would amend section 7 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 by establishing a Maritime Occupational Safety and Health Advisory Committee to advise the Secretary of Labor on issuing standards for the maritime industry.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes.

Military to mariner (sec. 3511)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8517) that would provide military to mariner transition assistance.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 3504).

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Department of Transportation Inspector General Report (sec. 3512)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8513) that would require the Department of Transportation Office of Inspector General to conduct an audit and submit a report to Congress on the Maritime Administration’s actions to address certain recommendations promulgated by the National Academy of Public Administration in a report entitled "Maritime Administration: Defining its Mission, Aligning its Programs, and Meeting its Objectives."

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Independent study on the United States Merchant Marine Academy (sec. 3513)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8515) that would require the Maritime Administrator to enter into an agreement with the National Academy of Public Administration to produce a study on the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Port operations, research, and technology (sec. 3514)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8520) that would amend section 50302 of title 46, United States Code. This provision would establish a competitive grant program for port and intermodal projects.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would clarify certain requirements associated with eligible projects, reduce the grant request amount for eligible projects covered under the small project set aside, clarify the definition of a port eligible for funding, and make technical changes.

Additionally, the amendment would amend section 533 of the Coast Guard Authorization Act of 2015 (Public Law 114–120) to allow the Coast Guard to complete certain remedial actions required by section 120(h) of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (Public Law 96–510).

Assessment and report on strategic seaports (sec. 3515)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8521) that would require the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on port facilities used for military purposes at designated strategic ports.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Technical corrections (sec. 3516)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8526) that would direct the Director of the Office of Personnel Management to identify key skills and competencies necessary to maintain a balance of expertise in merchant marine seagoing service and strategic sealift military service for certain positions within the Office of the Commandant of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy. This section would also clarify that criteria for participation in the Sea Year program applies to both domestic and international vessels.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with a technical amendment.
United States Merchant Marine Academy sexual assault prevention and response program (sec. 3517)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8527) that would ensure the recommendations of the Inspector General of the Department of Transportation’s report on the effectiveness of the Sexual Assault Prevention and Response Program at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy are implemented within 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Report on vessels for emerging offshore energy infrastructure (sec. 3518)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8528) that would require the Secretary of Transportation, Secretary of Energy, Secretary of the Interior, and the heads of other relevant agencies to submit a report on the need to install, operate, and maintain emergency offshore energy infrastructure in vessels.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would require the report to be completed by the Comptroller General of the United States and specify that vessels considered in this report be documented under chapter 121 of title 46, United States Code, and operated under U.S. coastwise laws.

Report on United States flagged fuel tanker vessel capacity (sec. 3519)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3511) that would authorize a tanker security fleet program.

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would require a report on U.S.-flagged fuel tanker vessel capacity.

SUBTITLE B—CABLE SECURITY FLEET

Establishment of cable security fleet (sec. 3521)

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 3521) that would authorize a cable security fleet program.
The Senate bill contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

SUBTITLE C—MARITIME SAFE ACT

Short titles (sec. 3531)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8531) that would name a subtitle, "The Maritime Security and Fisheries Enforcement (Maritime SAFE) Act."
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Definitions (sec. 3532)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8532) that would define several terms.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Purposes (sec. 3533)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8533) that would establish that the purposes of a subtitle are to support a whole-of-government approach to combating illegal, unregulated, and unreported fishing.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Statement of policy (sec. 3534)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8534) that would establish the policy of the United States to take immediate action against illegal, unregulated, and unreported fishing through diplomatic, military, development, and economic tools.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

PART I—PROGRAMS TO COMBAT IUU FISHING AND INCREASE MARITIME SECURITY

Coordination with international organizations (sec. 3541)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8541) that would direct the Departments of State and Commerce to coordinate with Regional Fisheries Management Organizations, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, and other relevant international organizations to enhance regional responses to illegal, unregulated, and unreported fishing and related illegal activity.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Engagement of diplomatic missions of the United States (sec. 3542)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8542) that would direct each chief of mission to a relevant country in the priority region to convene a working group of stakeholders to examine illegal, unregulated, and unreported (IUU) fishing in the region and to designate a counter-IUU Fishing Coordinator from among existing mission personnel, if the Secretary of State determines such action is appropriate.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Assistance by Federal agencies to improve law enforcement within priority regions and priority flag states (sec. 3543)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8543) that would direct the Departments of State and Commerce to evaluate opportunities to provide assistance in improving countries’ abilities to interdict individuals and vessels engaged in illegal, unregulated, and unreported (IUU) fishing, secure and inspect their ports, investigate and prosecute IUU fishing cases, and securely share information related to maritime enforcement and port security.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Expansion of existing mechanisms to combat IUU fishing (sec. 3544)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8544) that would direct relevant agencies to assess opportunities to combat illegal, unregulated, and unreported (IUU) fishing through the use or expansion of certain mechanisms.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with an amendment that would direct the Director of National Intelligence to develop an enterprise approach to appropriately share information on IUU fishing and other connected transnational organized illegal activity occurring in priority regions and elsewhere.

Improvement of transparency and traceability programs (sec. 3545)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8545) that would direct relevant agencies to work with priority flag states and countries in priority regions to increase knowledge about U.S. transparency and traceability standards for imports of seafood and seafood products. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with an amendment that would remove support for seafood traceability standards in foreign countries.

Technology programs (sec. 3546)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8546) that would direct relevant agencies to pursue programs to expand the role of technology in combating illegal, unregulated, and unreported fishing. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Savings clause (sec. 3547)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8547) that would specify that no part of certain sections of this Act shall impose any obligation on the Department of Defense. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with a technical amendment.

PART II—ESTABLISHMENT OF INTERAGENCY WORKING GROUP ON IUU FISHING

Interagency working group on IUU Fishing (sec. 3551)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8551) that would establish a working group to produce an interagency response on illegal, unregulated, and unreported fishing. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Strategic plan (sec. 3552)
The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8552) that would require the illegal, unregulated, and unreported (IUU) working group to submit to Congress a five-year integrated strategic plan on combating the issues of IUU fishing.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Reports (sec. 3553)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8553) that would require the working group on illegal, unregulated, and unreported fishing to submit a report to specified committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Gulf of Mexico IUU Fishing Subworking Group (sec. 3554)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8554) that would authorize the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, Coast Guard, and the Department of State to establish a sub-working group to address illegal, unregulated, and unreported fishing specifically in the Gulf of Mexico.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

PART III—COMBATING HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN CONNECTION WITH THE CATCHING AND PROCESSING OF SEAFOOD PRODUCTS

Finding (sec. 3561)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8561) that would provide Congress’s findings regarding the issue of human trafficking on the importation of certain seafood products into the United States.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes.

Adding the Secretary of Commerce to the Interagency Task Force to Monitor and Combat Trafficking (sec. 3562)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8562) that would amend Section 105(b) of the Victims of Trafficking and Violence Protection Act of 2000 to include the Secretary of Commerce in section 7103(b) of title 22, United States Code. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

Human trafficking in the seafood supply chain report (sec. 3563)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8563) that would require the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration to submit a report to Congress detailing the existence of human trafficking in the supply chain of the importation of seafood products to the United States. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

PART IV—AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS

Authorization of appropriations (sec. 3571)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8571) that would require funding for certain programs be derived from the amounts appropriated to relevant agencies. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

Accounting of funds (sec. 3572)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8572) that would require each agency receiving or allocating funds to carry out the activities under this subtitle to submit a report to Congress providing an accounting of all funds made available under this subtitle. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

Maritime Administration

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 3501) that would authorize certain aspects of the Maritime Administration. The Senate bill also contained a provision (sec. 8500) that would strike section 3501. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes.
Short title

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8501) that would allow the Maritime Administration title to be cited as the "Maritime Authorization and Enhancement Act of 2019."
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

Improvement of National Oceanographic Partnership Program

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 8524) that would provide for certain improvements to the National Ocean Partnership Program.
The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The Senate recedes.

DIVISION D—FUNDING TABLES

Authorization of amounts in funding tables (sec. 4001)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 4001) that would provide for the allocation of funds among programs, projects, and activities in accordance with the tables in division D of this Act, subject to reprogramming guidance in accordance with established procedures. Consistent with the previously expressed views of the committee, the provision would also require that decisions by an agency head to commit, obligate, or expend funds to a specific entity on the basis of such funding tables be based on authorized, transparent, statutory criteria, or merit-based selection procedures in accordance with the requirements of sections 2304(k) and 2374 of title 10, United States Code, and other applicable provisions of law.
The House amendment contained an identical provision (sec. 4001).
The conference agreement includes this provision.

DIVISION E—INTELLIGENCE
AUTHORIZATIONS FOR FISCAL YEARS
2018, 2019, AND 2020

Intelligence authorizations for fiscal years 2018, 2019, and 2020 (secs. 5001-6747)

The Senate bill contained Division F that included the Intelligence Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020 and Division G that included the Intelligence Authorization Act for fiscal years 2018 and 2019.

The House amendment contained no similar provisions.

The House recedes with an amendment that would make various modifications to such provisions.

DIVISION F—OTHER MATTERS

TITLE LXXI—SANCTIONS WITH RESPECT TO NORTH KOREA

Sanctions with respect to North Korea and Financial Industry Guidance to Halt Trafficking Act (secs. 7101-7155)

The Senate bill contained multiple provisions (sections 6901, 6911-6913, 6921-6925, 6931-6935, 6941-6946, 6951-6954, 6961-6966) that would strengthen United States sanctions on North Korea, impose oversight measures concerning sanctions on North Korea, and strengthen the Department of Treasury’s role in combating human trafficking, among other measures.

The House amendment contained multiple similar provisions (sections 1099Z-1-1099Z-8).

The House recedes with an amendment that would provide for significant enhancement of economic sanctions on North Korea and foreign persons involved with North Korea, including new secondary banking sanctions and broadening primary trade-based sanctions provided for in the North Korea Sanctions and Policy Enhancement Act of 2016 (Public Law 114-122), hereafter referred to as NKSPEA. In addition, it would provide for increased congressional oversight in response to North Korea’s aggressive nuclear and ballistic missile testing, sanctions evasion, and global compliance failures weakening enforcement of United Nations Security Council (UNSC) resolutions. The amendment would also provide for significant guidance to the financial industry on strengthening measures to combat human trafficking.

More specifically, the amendment would impose such “secondary banking sanctions” as asset blocking and restrictions on correspondent accounts, and any other penalty authorized by the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (Public Law 95-223), hereafter referred to as IEEPA, against foreign financial institutions that provide financial services to certain sanctioned persons. Furthermore, the amendment would prohibit transactions with the same types of certain sanctioned persons by persons owned or controlled by U.S. financial institutions, and provides for civil IEEPA penalty authority against both the person owned or controlled and as appropriate its parent U.S. financial institution.

The amendment would also expand on the list of designation requirements for mandatory sanctions provided in NKSPEA, by adding as mandatory: any person that engages in the import or export, including of related services or technology, of coal, textiles, seafood, iron, or iron ore; and in crude oil or refined petroleum products above UNSC-set limits. The amendment would also require the imposition of sanctions with respect to any person who engages in, or otherwise facilitates: a transfer of North Korean government funds or property, contributing to a material violation of a UNSC resolution; the exportation of workers from North Korea; the sale or transfer of vessels to North Korea, or their registration, chartering or insurance; bribery of a North Korean official; or the significant misappropriation of public funds.

The amendment would also provide for enhanced guidance to the financial industry to combat human trafficking by: elevating human trafficking as an enumerated function of the U.S. Treasury Office of Terrorism and Financial Intelligence and requiring increased coordination and reporting related to human trafficking; strengthening the role that anti-money laundering and other tools play in combating human trafficking by requiring the U.S. Inter-Agency Task Force to Monitor and Combat Trafficking to provide certain policy recommendations to federal regulators and to Congress; and underscoring the sense of Congress that adequate funding be provided for public outreach and critical federal efforts to combat human trafficking at home and abroad.

TITLE LXXII—SANCTIONS WITH RESPECT TO FOREIGN TRAFFICKERS OF ILLICIT SYNTHETIC OPIOIDS
Sanctions with respect to foreign traffickers of illicit synthetic opioids (secs. 7201-7235)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6801-6837) that would strengthen United States sanctions against foreign synthetic opioid traffickers, financial institutions, and others that assist such entities. It would also establish a Commission on Combating Synthetic Opioid Trafficking to report on how to combat more effectively the flow of synthetic opioids from China, Mexico, and elsewhere, among other measures.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 1701-1736).

The House recedes with a clarifying amendment.

TITLE LXXIII—PFAS

Definition of Administrator (sec. 7302)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6701) that would define the term “Administrator” for this title.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes.

Drinking Water (secs. 7311-7312)

The Senate bill contained a series of provisions (sec. 6721-6724) that would require the Administrator of the Environmental Protection agency to promulgate a national primary drinking water regulation for, require monitoring of, and establish drinking water state revolving funds for perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would eliminate the requirement to establish a national primary drinking water standard and the accompanying enforcement provision and makes various other technical modifications.

PFAS Release Disclosure (secs. 7321)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6711) that would include Perfluorooctanoic acid, Perfluorooctane sulfonic acid and their associated salts in the toxics release inventory.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.
The House recedes with a technical amendment.

USGS Performance Standard (secs. 7331-7335)

The Senate bill contained provisions (sec. 6731-6736) that would direct the director of the United States Geological Survey to establish a performance standard for the detection of highly fluorinated compounds, to conduct nationwide sampling, and to use the data to inform and enhance assessments of exposure. The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 330G). The House recedes with multiple technical amendments.

Emerging Contaminants (secs. 7341-7342)

The Senate bill contained provisions (sec. 6741-6742) that would require the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency to review the Federal efforts of research, development, and response to emerging contaminants. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The House recedes with a technical amendment.

Toxic Substances Control Act and Other Matters (secs. 7351-7362)

The Senate bill contained provisions (sec. 6751-6754) that would direct the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency to take final action on the proposed rule entitled “Long-Chain Perfluoroalkyl Carboxylate and Perfluoroalkyl Sulfonate Chemical Substances; Significant New Use Rule,” to publish interim disposal guidance, to conduct research and development efforts focused on perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances. The House amendment contained no similar provisions. The House recedes with multiple technical amendments.

TITLE LXXIV—CAESAR SYRIA CIVILIAN PROTECTION ACT OF 2019

Caesar Syria Civilian Protection Act of 2019 (secs. 7401-7438)

The conference agreement includes a provision known as the Caesar Syria Civilian Protection Act of 2019 that would sanction foreign persons who knowingly provide significant financial, material, or technological support to, or knowingly engage in a significant transaction with the Government of Syria, or military contractors, mercenaries, or paramilitary forces that knowingly operate in a military capacity inside Syria for or on behalf of the Government of Syria, the Government of the Russian Federation, or the Government of Iran. The provision would also require the Secretary of the Treasury to determine whether reasonable grounds exist for concluding that the Central Bank of Syria is a financial institution of primary money laundering concern and, if so, impose relevant sanctions on the Central Bank of Syria. The provision would also authorize the Secretary of State to provide support to entities conducting criminal investigations, supporting prosecutions, or collecting evidence against those who have committed war crimes or crimes against humanity in Syria. Lastly, the provision would require the President to produce various strategies, assessments, and briefings related to the provision of humanitarian assistance and the protection of civilians.

TITLE LXXV—PROTECTING EUROPE'S ENERGY SECURITY

Protecting Europe's Energy Security (secs. 7501-7503)

The conference agreement includes a provision that would express the sense of Congress concerning United States relations with the European Union and Germany and impose sanctions with respect to provision of certain vessels for the construction of the Nord Stream 2 and TurkStream pipeline projects.

TITLE LXXVI—OTHER MATTERS

SUBTITLE A—FEDERAL EMPLOYEE PAID LEAVE ACT

Federal Employee Paid Leave Act (secs. 7601-7606)

The House amendment contained several provisions (sec. 1121 through 1126) that would provide 12 weeks of paid leave to the Federal workforce for reasons covered by the Family and Medical Leave Act of 1993 (Public Law 115-232).

The Senate bill contained no similar provision.

The Senate recedes with an amendment that would provide 12 weeks of paid leave to Federal employees in connection with the birth or placement of a child to an eligible employee.

SUBTITLE B—OTHER MATTERS
Liberian refugee immigration fairness (sec. 7611)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6013) that would require, not later than December 31, 2019, the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State, to submit a report on the impact of Liberian nationals on the national security, foreign policy, and economic, and humanitarian interests of the United States, and a justification for adjustment of status of qualifying Liberians to that of lawful permanent residents.

The House amendment contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with an amendment that would provide for the adjustment of the status of certain nationals of Liberia to that of lawful permanent residents.

Pensacola Dam and Reservoir, Grand River, Oklahoma (sec. 7612)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6021) that would clarify the respective jurisdictions of the Army Corps of Engineers and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) at the Grand Lake O’ the Cherokees, Oklahoma.

The House bill contained no similar provision.

The House recedes with technical amendments and an amendment that would require the Army Corps of Engineers to conduct a study of the resiliency of upstream infrastructure and lands.

Limitation on certain rolling stock procurements; cybersecurity certification for rail rolling stock and operations (sec. 7613)

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6015) that would amend section 5323 of title 49, United States Code, to prevent the use of Federal transit dollars to procure rolling stock from certain manufacturers and an associated annual process for certifying compliance, with an exception for preexisting contracts for rail rolling stock. This provision also would require that any transit service operator of rail rolling stock develop and execute a cybersecurity risk reduction plan in accordance with certain standards and would include arrangements for third-party testing of certain components.

The House amendment contained a similar provision (sec. 896) that would apply overall, only to rail rolling stock.

The House recedes with amendments that would add exceptions to implementation including a grace period of two years from enactment, for certain rolling stock, and other technical amendments.
LEGISLATIVE PROVISIONS NOT ADOPTED

PFAS designation, effluent limitations, and pretreatment standards

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 330A) that would require the Administrator of the Environmental protection agency to include per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances to the toxic pollutant list in the Federal Water Pollution Control Act. The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

Designation as hazardous substances

The House amendment contained a provision (sec. 330O) that would require the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency to designate all per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances as hazardous substances under section 102(a) of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (42 U.S.C. 9602(a)). The Senate bill contained no similar provision. The House recedes.

Utilizing significant emissions with innovative technologies

The Senate bill contained a provision (sec. 6001) that would require the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency to conduct direct air capture research. The House amendment contained no similar provision. The Senate recedes.
