

VICTORIA QUINN WILLIAMS
SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT OF PROGRAMS
HELEN KELLER INTERNATIONAL

Dr. Quinn Williams has oversight for all of Helen Keller International programs. She has more than 30 years of experience in Africa, Asia, and Latin America designing and managing complex and large-scale nutrition and maternal child health country and regional programs, including those involving agriculture and nutrition. Dr. Quinn William's areas of expertise include nutrition policy and surveillance, infant and young child feeding, micronutrients and women's nutrition. She received her Bachelors and Masters in nutrition from U.C. Berkeley and Cornell University, respectively, and her Doctorate from Wageningen University in the Netherlands.

From 1982-1991, she served as the Regional Coordinator of Cornell University's collaborative program with UNICEF in Eastern and Southern Africa supporting country initiatives in nutritional surveillance and food and nutrition policy. Thereafter she worked as a consultant for UNICEF, WHO, WFP, the World Bank and the Dutch government on a variety of food and nutrition security issues related to Africa. From 1998 to 2006, Dr. Quinn Williams served as the senior technical manager for infant and young child feeding programs in Bolivia, Ethiopia, Ghana, Madagascar and the Horn of Africa. In 2007, Dr. Quinn Williams was appointed Adjunct Associate Professor at the Friedman School of Nutrition Science and Policy at Tufts University in Boston. She is currently on the Technical Advisory Groups for Tufts' Nutrition CRSP Program, Bread for the World, as well as serves as a member of the International Advisory Panel for GAIN's Access to Nutrition Index study. Dr. Quinn Williams joined Helen Keller International in 2006 and is based in its Washington, D.C. office.
