

Danielle Heiberg joined Global Water 2020 as the Advocacy Advisor in 2020, bringing extensive experience advocating for global health, WASH, and development issues. Most recently she was the Senior Manager of Policy and Advocacy at Global Health Council (GHC), where she led GHC's domestic and global advocacy strategy. Prior to joining GHC, she was a Senior Program Associate at InterAction, where she was responsible for managing thematic working groups on global health, food security and agriculture, and climate and development. Danielle also managed communications and outreach for NGO Aid Map. Previously, she worked in the Public Policy office of Yahoo and in the Congressional and Public Affairs office of the Institute of Museum and Library Services, an independent federal agency. She also worked on Capitol Hill for Senator Dianne Feinstein (D-CA). Danielle holds a BA in International Relations from Mills College.