

Jessica Unger

Jessica Unger is the Emergency Programs Coordinator at the Foundation for Advancement in Conservation (FAIC). In her role, she manages several programs that support emergency preparedness and response efforts among cultural institutions, including the National Heritage Responders and the Alliance for Response initiative. Prior to joining FAIC, Jessica was on staff at Heritage Preservation, serving as Emergency Programs Assistant and Director of External Affairs. She holds a BA in Anthropology from William & Mary and a MA in Public Humanities from Brown University.