

Michael Stern specializes in legal issues affecting Congress and the legislative process, including congressional ethics, elections, investigations, lobbying and constitutional reform. He also teaches congressional oversight as an adjunct professor at the George Washington University Graduate School of Political Management. He served as Senior Counsel to the U.S. House of Representatives from 1996 to 2004. He later served as Deputy Staff Director for Investigations for the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs and Special Counsel to the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence. He has co-chaired the D.C. Bar's Administrative Law and Agency Practice Section and served on the ABA Task Force on Lobbying Reform and the Virginia Freedom of Information Advisory Council. Prior to his time on the Hill he was in private law practice at the firm of Shaw, Pittman, Potts & Trowbridge. He blogs about congressional legal issues at www.pointoforder.com.