

Dr. Dafna H. Rand

---

Dr. Dafna H. Rand is an Adjunct Professor at the Near East South Asia Center for Strategic Studies, National Defense University. Until January 2017, Dr. Rand served as the Deputy Assistant Secretary in the Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights and Labor (DRL) where she was responsible for DRL's work on Near Eastern Affairs and on Security and Human Rights. She previously served as the Deputy Director of Studies and the inaugural Leon E. Panetta Fellow at the Center for a New American Security. Dr. Rand served on the staff of the National Security Council and covered the Middle East and North Africa for the State Department's Policy Planning Staff. Earlier in her career, she served as a professional staff member on the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence and as Senator Frank R. Lautenberg's foreign affairs and defense legislative assistant.

Dr. Rand's academic work has focused on domestic political developments and international security in the Middle East and North Africa, including a book on the changing politics of the region. She received her Ph.D. and M.A. in political science from Columbia University and her A.B. from Harvard University.