

Sheena Chestnut Greitens, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science at the University of Missouri

Dr. Greitens holds a Ph.D from Harvard University; an M.Phil from Oxford University, where she studied as a Marshall Scholar; and a B.A. from Stanford University. Her research focuses on East Asia, the politics of democracy and dictatorship and American national security and foreign policy in Asia. Her work on China and North Korea has appeared in academic journals and edited volumes in English, Chinese, and Korean, and has been covered by major media outlets. Her first book, Dictators and

Their Secret Police, was published last year by Cambridge University Press.