

Christopher Blanchard is a Specialist in Middle Eastern Affairs at the Congressional Research Service (CRS) where his work emphasizes the roles, responsibilities, and prerogatives of Congress in shaping U.S. foreign policy. He has covered developments in Libya and related U.S. policy issues for Congress since 2005, in addition to work on other countries and issues. He served as an election observer for Libya's first post-Qadhafi elections in Benghazi and Ajdabiya in July 2012. Mr. Blanchard joined CRS as a Presidential Management Fellow and holds degrees from Boston College and Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs.