

Dr. Scott G. Borgerson is the CEO of CargoMetrics Technologies LLC, a technology-driven investment manager with a global macro and quantitative investment focus.

Dr. Borgerson is also an expert on the Arctic. He has published numerous landmark articles on the subject; he advises national and international leaders on emerging Arctic issues; and he is a co-founder of The Arctic Circle, a global NGO.

Prior to co-founding CargoMetrics, Dr. Borgerson was an International Affairs Fellow and then the Visiting Fellow for Ocean Governance at the Council on Foreign Relations. He also served as a Senior Research Scholar at the School of International and Public Affairs at Columbia University.

A former Coast Guard officer with a decade of military service, he has held positions as a ship navigator, a patrol boat captain, an assistant professor at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, and the founding managing director of the Academy's Institute for Leadership. He earned the Achievement, Commendation, and Meritorious Service Medals as well as numerous unit awards while on active duty.

He has testified before a number of congressional committees, contributed to White House strategic policy making, and his op-eds and articles have appeared in The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, The Atlantic and Foreign Affairs, among other publications and special reports.

Dr. Borgerson earned a B.S. from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy as well as M.A.L.D. and Ph.D. degrees in international relations from the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University. He has earned a U.S. Merchant Marine Officers License and holds a Series 3 Commodities Futures License.

He serves on the boards of The Arctic Circle, the Kostas Homeland Security Institute, Catalyst Maritime and the Institute for Global Maritime Studies. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.