

Spaska Gatzinska is the Associate Director for Eurasia at the National Endowment for Democracy, where she oversees programs in Central Asia and the broader Eurasia region. She previously worked on overseeing programs in the Balkan region at NED and the National Democratic Institute. She holds a Bachelor's Degree in History and Political Science from Mount Holyoke College and studied Public International Law at the Tufts Fletcher School's Master of Arts in Law and Diplomacy program.