

Paul Goldenberg is the National Director of the Secure Community Network. He was instrumental in the design and development SCN, the first-ever faith-based homeland security information sharing initiative established in 2004. SCN represents the 148 Federations under the umbrella of The Jewish Federations of North America and the 51 organizations of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations within North America. In 2009, DHS Secretary Janet Napolitano recognized SCN as a national model. Mr. Goldenberg also currently acts as a senior advisor to the Rutgers University Faith Based Communities Security Program which is tasked with addressing emerging threats to vulnerable populations in Europe.

On September 11, 2013, Secretary Napolitano appointed Paul Goldenberg to a three-year term as a member of the United States Department of Homeland Security Advisory Council. In 2016, he was again selected to serve a second term by DHS Secretary Jeh Johnson. As a member of the HSAC, Mr. Goldenberg served as vice chair of the DHS Faith-Based Advisory & Communications Committee and in December 2015 was selected by Secretary Johnson to co-chair the DHS National Foreign Fighter Task Force.

Mr. Goldenberg built a distinguished career as a highly decorated criminal justice executive with extensive and broad-based experience in a wide variety of high-profile and politically sensitive government, corporate and NGO environments. He established community policing, hate crimes, and CVE related programs for transnational agencies, many of which were adopted by governments in North America and Europe. Mr. Goldenberg led the nation's first full-time State Attorney General's effort focusing on hate crimes and domestic terrorism. As a highly regarded homeland security expert, he provides strategic counsel on national and global security affairs to international NGO and government agencies. Since 1999, Mr. Goldenberg has been at the forefront of international efforts to combat the rise in international extremism in work with national and transnational governments, the U.S. Congress and senior administration officials.

Mr. Goldenberg has spoken globally on the subject of counter-terrorism, extremism, community conflict and related issues at the U.S. State Department, the House Banking Committee, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Helsinki Commission, England's House of Lords, City of London, the OSCE, the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe, Ukraine Supreme Court, Israeli Knesset, German government, White House Faith-Based Summit, Muslim Affairs Council, U.S. Department of Homeland Security and many other global summit venues.

From 1985 through 1991 Mr. Goldenberg headed a Special Prosecutors Organized Crime Unit responsible for the investigation and prosecution of ethnic terrorism and traditional organized crime.

Throughout the early 1980's, Mr. Goldenberg served as special agent in a long-term undercover capacity as part of the renowned South Florida Organized Crime Strike Force. After a four-year undercover assignment, his accomplishments included 100 felony arrests, the breakup of a major organized crime cartel, and the recovery of millions of dollars in stolen property. For his efforts, Mr. Goldenberg was selected as recipient of one of South Florida's single most distinguished law enforcement award: Officer of the Year.
